Sandwich, Mass. 1838

Rev. William Liveridge was the first pastor. He came to this country from England October 10, 1838 and preached about two years in Dover, N.H. In 1835 he went to the Plymouth Colony, and when the Sandwich church was organized he was chosen pastor.
 He was dismissed in 1845.

In 1853 he is mentioned as one of the original purchasers of Oyster Bay, Long Island, and five years after, at the gathering of the church in Huntington, L.I., he was chosen its pastor.

In 1670 he was elected first pastor of the church in Newton, L.I., where he continued till his death in 1692. He must have been an old man, having been in this country 59 years, and was a minister in England.

He is said to have been a very useful man, being well acquainted with public business and distinguished for industry and enterprise.

Rev. John Smith was educated in England and was settled at Sandwich in 1650. He was dismissed in 1688.

He was living in 1694, but when or where he died I have not been able to ascertain. It is probable that he resided at some time on Long Island and also in New Jersey. There is some notice of him in Vol. 3 of Massachusetts Historical Collections, but that account must be incorrect in respect to its dates.

Rev. Roland Cotton, son of Rev. John Cotton of Plymouth, graduated at Harvard in 1685. He was baptized at Dorchester before his father was settled at Plymouth. His name in the Dorchester records is spelled Roleon. He was ordained November 23, 1694 and continued in the ministry here till he died, March 18, 1722, in the 55th. year of his age.

He married Elizabeth Saltonstall, widow of Rev. John Denison of Ipswich.

Rev. Benjamin Fessenden of Cambridge graduated at Harvard in 1718 and was ordained September 17, 1722.

He continued in office till he died, August 8, 1746, aged 44 years.

Rev. Abraham Williams of Marlboro graduated at Harvard in 1744 and was ordained June 14, 1749. He continued in office till he died, in August, 1784, aged 58 years. He preached the Election sermon in 1762.

He married Anna Buckminster of Framingham, sister of Rev. Joseph Buckminster of Rutland. His daughter Sarah married Rev. Timothy Fuller of Princeton.

Rev. Jonathan Burr of Bridgewater graduated at Harvard in 1784, was ordained April 18, 1787 and continued in office till 1811, when he was dismissed on account of existing difficulties.

Mr. Burr was at first an Arminian, but afterwards became decidedly Calvinistic and preached accordingly. This gave offence to a portion of the people. He was ejected from the meeting house and went, with a large portion of the people and a majority of the church, to a hall. Several councils were called and the case came before the Supreme Court, which decided that those holding the old meeting house were the first church and that to them belonged the funds. Those who went off, or were shut out, built a new house and Mr. Burr was their minister till 1817, when he was dismissed at his own request. After the change in his doctrinal views he was a faithful preacher and his labors were greatly blest. Having been a soldier in the Revolutionary War, he received a pension from government. He died August 2, 1842, aged 86 years.

The church of which Mr. Burr was pastor was not reorganized and, though the Supreme Court decided that they were not the first church, they nevertheless regard themselves as having a claim to that honor and still date their organization back to 1638.

pastor and died much lamented, at the age of 44 years.

NOTE. A second church was organized in Sandwich in 1734, composed of persons that seceded from the first on account of difference of opinion in regard to requiring a narrative of religious experience from those who offered themselves for admission to the church. It had one pastor and was merged in the parent church in 1749.

Rev. Francis Worcester, son of Francis Worcester of Bradford and a lineal descendant of William of Salisbury, was not a graduate of any college. He was ordained in 1735 and dismissed in 1745, when he removed to Hollis, N.H. and did the work of an evangelist.

He was a revival preacher and labored with Whitefield. He was a good man and filled up his days with usefulness. He died October 14, 1783, aged 85 years. He was the father of Rev. Noah Worcester of Thornton and grandfather of Rev. Samuel Worcester, D.D. of Salem.

Sanford, Me. July 19, 1786

Rev. Moses Sweat was not a graduate of any college. He was ordained the day the church was organized and received the honorary degree of A.M. from Harvard in 1790. He continued in office till he died, August 31, 1822, aged about 60 years.

Rev. Christopher Marsh of Haverhill, N.H. graduated at Dartmouth in 1820 and was ordained May 2, 1823. He was dismissed in December, 1827, and was pastor of the church in Biddeford from May, 1828 to October, 1831. He was agent of the American Sunday School Union a few years and then pastor of the church in West Roxbury, Mass. from 1837 to 1850. He returned to Sanford in 1857, and labored with great success till that insidious disease, consumption, laid him aside. He died July 1, 1859, aged 64 years, having filled up his days with usefulness.

Rev. Elisha Bacon of Freeport, Me., graduated at Bowdoin in 1825 and was ordained pastor of this church May 6, 1829 and was dismissed September 11, 1834. He was pastor of the church in Eliot from January 2, 1836 till 1839 when, being dismissed, he removed to Centerville, a parish in Barnstable, Massachusetts, and preached as stated supply for many years, till he was obliged by reason of a diseased throat to relinquish preaching. He then opened a boarding school, which was prosperous to the end of his life. He died suddenly in consequence of the affection of his throat, January 18, 1863.

Sanford, Me. South Church July 19, 1786

Sangerville, Me. August 28, 1828

Saugus, Mass. December 5, 1739

This was a parish of Lynn till 1815.

Rev. Edward Cheever, son of Thomas Cheever of Lynn and grandson of Ezekiel Cheever, the schoolmaster, graduated at Harvard in 1737 and was ordained December 5 the same year. He resigned his charge in 1747 and was settled in Eastham in 1751, where he died August 17, 1794, aged 77 years.

Rev. Joseph Roby was a native of Boston, graduated at Harvard in 1742, and was ordained at Saugus in August, 1752. He was a pious and venerable man and highly esteemed for his social and domestic virtues. He was a good scholar and on terms of intimacy with the most learned ministers of his day, who used to meet for conversations on theology, philosophy and literature. He was particularly fond of astronomy and some of the abstruse sciences. He published two fast sermons. He died January 31, 1803, aged 79.

Saxton's River, Vermont

Rev. Samuel A. Benton of Waterford, Vt., born May 3, 1807, spent two years in Amherst College and graduated at Middlebury in 1836. He taught an academy at Randolph two years and at the same time studied theology under the direction of Rev. James Buckham of Chelsea. He was ordained pastor of this church January 15, 1840 and was dismissed in 1842. He went to Michigan soon after and labored in Bruce and Armada thirteen years. He preached eight years in Anamosa, Iowa, and was chaplain in the army through most of the war. He was a man of much native ability; a ready and powerful speaker.

He married (1) Sarah M. Nutting of Randolph; (2) Eliza A. Nutting, her sister; and (3) Miranda Duxtater of Madison, Iowa.

Rev. William Frothingham of Cambridge graduated at Harvard in 1799 and was ordained September 26, 1804. He was dismissed May 7, 1817 and installed at Belfast, Me. July 21, 1819, where he died June 24, 1852, aged 77 years.

When the church at Belfast gave him a call, it was with the belief that he was orthodox; the mistake was discovered before the council met, the majority of which were inclined to proceed. The church withdrew and he was settled as minister of the society.

Rev. Joseph Emerson 1821-25 (See Beverly)

Saybrook, Ct. April, 1834

It was a parish of Old Saybrook and was called Deep River.

Rev. Darius Mead 1835-37

Rev. Zabdiel R. Ely of Lyme graduated at Yale in 1833, studied theology at New Haven, was ordained in 1837 and dismissed in May, 1839. He died in November of the same year.

Scarborough, Me. June 26, 1728

Rev. William Thompson, son of Rev. Edward Thompson of Marshfield, Mass., graduated at Harvard in 1718 and was ordained May 26, 1728. He married Anna Hubbard, by whom he had three children. John, one of his sons, was minister of Standish. He died February 13, 1759, aged about 62 years. His salary was 120 pounds.

Rev. Thomas Pierce of Newbury, Mass. graduated at Nassau Hall in 1759 and was ordained in 1762. He continued in office till he died, January 26, 1775, aged 37 years. He was in favor of Presbyterianism and the church became Presbyterian. After his death the church again became Congregational.

Rev. Thomas Lancaster of Rowley, Mass. graduated at Harvard in 1764 and was ordained in 1775. He continued in office till he died, January 27, 1831, aged 89 years.

Scarborough, Me. Second Church October, 1744

(Now extinct)

Rev. Richard Elvins was a baker in Salem, Mass. and was converted under the preaching of Whitefield. He was a man of good understanding, and of ardent piety. He preached without notes and was an acceptable and useful preacher. He published one sermon. He was ordained in November, 1744 and died August 12, 1776.

Rev. Benjamin Chadwick graduated at Harvard in 1770 and was ordained December, 1776. He was dismissed in May, 1795 on account of feeble health, his mind being somewhat impaired. He recovered after a few years so that he preached occasionally. He died in November, 1819, aged about 72 years.

Rev. Nathan Tilton of East Kingston, Mass. graduated at Harvard in 1796 and was ordained December 10, 1800. He resigned in 1827 and died in 1851, aged 79 years.

Rev. Moses Sawyer 1828-30 (See Henniker)

Scituate, Mass. January 18, 1635

For a notice of the organization of this church see Holmes' Annals, Vol. I, p.228.

Rev. John Lothrop * 1635-39 (See Barnstable)

Rev. Charles Chauncey was born in Hertfordshire, England, in 1589 and came to this country in May, 1638. He graduated at Cambridge, where he was for a time a teacher of Greek. He was well skilled in languages and could speak Hebrew. After leaving the university he preached at Marston and Ware with considerable success. For not observing the Book of Sports he was prohibited from preaching afternoons, which time he spent in catechizing the children, but the Bishop said that was as bad as preaching. He was brought before the High Commission and signed a recantation. Soon after he confessed that in so doing he had sinned and through life greatly deplored having done it. He assisted Mr. Reyner at Plymouth about three years and was ordained at Scituate in 1641, where he continued till 1654, when he resolved to return to England, having received an invitation to settle at Ware. He was, however, prevailed upon to accept the presidency of Harvard and continued there till he died, February 19,

* Or Lathrop

His ministry at Scituate was a scene of constant agitation owing, it is said, in a great measure to his own ardent temper and impatience of opposition. There were three parties in the church; one held to infant sprinkling, one to adult immersion only, and another, to which Mr. Chauncey belonged, to the immersion of infants and adults. He was so set in his way that several children were carried to Boston for baptism. Another practice of his which offended many was the administering the Lord's Supper in the evening and on every Lord's Day. When he became president of the college, he made an agreement with the Overseers to be quiet respecting the mode of baptism. He was a studious man and subject to all the nervous sensibilities peculiar to hard students. He was a strong man and regarded it as an indignity that his powers were not able to keep down all opposition. He looked upon those who opposed him as his personal enemies. His wife died January 4, 1668. They had eight children.

Rev. Henry Dunster graduated at Cambridge in 1630, arrived in Boston in 1640, and was at once chosen president of Harvard College. He was esteemed for his learning, piety and skill in government. He was peculiarly eminent in Hebrew learning. The version of the Psalms printed in 1640 and prepared by Rev. Messrs. Weld, Elliot and Mather was committed to him to be "refined and improved"; his edition was used in the churches many years. In the controversy about baptism he sided with those who were opposed to infant baptism. He was mild and tolerant, yet all efforts to reclaim him proving unavailing he was induced to resign his situation October 24, 1654 and Mr. Chauncey took his place.

Mr. Dunster was invited to Scituate and was ordained pastor of the church Mr. Chauncey had left the same year. He died August 27, 1659, aged about 55 years. He was embalmed and removed to Cambridge and honorably interred. He died in such harmony of feeling towards the Overseers of the College that he bequeathed to them legacies. He was twice married and had five children.

Rev. Nicholas Baker was one of the first settlers of Hingham; he owned land there and in Hull and was employed in agriculture for several years. He was a deputy to the General Court in 1636 and again in 1638. After the death of Mr. Dunster he was invited to preach at Scituate and was ordained in 1660. Mather says,- "Though he had but a private education, yet, being a pious and zealous man, he was so good a logician that he could offer to God a reasonable service, so good an arithmetician that he could wisely number his days, and so good an orator that he persuaded himself to be a good Christian." He left no memorable name at Scituate for great powers or great success in the ministry, yet there are memorials of his peaceful and godly influence. He brought about a reconciliation between the two churches, which had held no communion with each other. Mr. Baker's church returned to the practice of infant sprinkling from which they had been drawn away by Mr. Chauncey.

Mr. Baker died of gravel, "that horror of mankind and reproach of medicine", August 22, 1678, aged 68 years. He was twice married and left several children.

Rev. Jeremiah Cushing was born at Hingham July 3, 1654 and was the son of Daniel Cushing. He graduated at Harvard in 1676 and studied theology with Mr. Norton of Hingham. He was invited to settle in Haverhill, but declined. He began to preach in Scituate in February, 1691 and was ordained May 27 of that year. His salary was 60 pounds. His ministry was short; he died after a lingering illness of several months March 22, 1705, in the 51st. year of his age. He was married in 1685 to Hannah Loring of Hingham, by whom he had four children.

Rev. Nathaniel Pitcher of Dorchester graduated at Harvard in 1703 and studied theology with Rev. Mr. Danforth in his native town. He preached first at Scituate during the illness of Mr. Cushing. He was ordained the fourth Wednesday of September, 1707. His ministry was short; he died September 27, 1723, in the 38th. year of his age. He left a wife and four children.

He is said to have been a man of agreeable manners, a preacher of more than ordinary talents, and remarkable for promoting peace and union among his people.

Rev. Shearjashub Bourn of Sandwich graduated at Harvard in 1720 and was ordained December, 1724. He married (1) Abigail, a daughter of Rev. Rowland Cotton, by whom he had five children; (2) Sarah Brooks of Medford and had one son; (3) Deborah Barker and had one son; (4) Joanna Stevens of Roxbury.

In 1755 his health was impaired by a paralytic attack. He had been from the beginning a man of feeble constitution and suffered much from depression of spirits, by which his usefulness was diminished. His health continuing to decline, he finally asked a dismissal and retired August 6, 1761 from his labors. He removed to Roxbury, where he died August 14, 1768, aged 68 years. The Society gave him a hundred pounds and the use of the parsonage one year and a half after his dismissal.

Rev. Ebenezer Grosvenor of Pomfret, Ct. graduated at Yale College in 1759. He was ordained at Scituate in April, 1763 and married a daughter of the Rev. Mr. Clark of Danvers.

His ministry was not very quiet; he was a moderate Calvinist, more so than many of his parishioners. They called him an Arminian. His wife, it is said, was much more troubled with the faultfinding of the people than he was and induced him to retire. He was dismissed in April, 1780. He was much beloved by many of his people. He was a very good looking man, of middle stature, of commanding presence and of singular benignity of countenance.

He was installed in Harvard in 1782 and died May 28, 1788, aged 49 years.

Rev. Ebenezer Dawes of Bridgewater graduated at Harvard in 1785 and was ordained in November, 1787. He continued in office till he died, September 29, 1791, aged 35 years.

Rev. Nehemiah Thomas of Marshfield graduated at Harvard in 1789 and was ordained in November, 1792. He continued in office till he died, August 10, 1831, aged 66 years. His successor was a Unitarian.

Scituate, Mass. Trinitarian Church Nov. 1826

organization of the first church, January 18, 1635.

Rev. Paul Jewett of Rowley, graduated at Brown University in 1802 and was pastor of the church in Lebanon, Me. from 1814 to 1819, of the church in Fair Haven from 1820 to 1822, and of this church from November, 1826 to July, 1833. He was pastor of the church in North Falmouth a short time. He died in Salem in 1841, aged 61 years.

Rev. Luke A. Spofford 1855-56 (See Chilmark)

Scotland, Ct. October 22, 1735

Rev. Ebenezer Devotion, son of Rev. E. Devotion of Suffield, graduated at Yale in 1732, made a profession of religion in 1734, and was ordained the day the church was organized. He continued in office till he died, July 16, 1771, in the 58th. year of his age.

He was a man of energy and had much influence. He was strongly conservative in religious matters,- opposed the ultra proceedings of those engaged in the Great Awakening, which produced a division of his church. He published five sermons. He married Martha Lothrop of Norwich and had one son and five daughters.

Rev. James Cogswell 1772-1804 (See Canterbury)

Rev. Cornelius Adams of Canterbury graduated at Yale in 1803 and was ordained December 5, 1805. He died of consumption November 28, 1806, aged 30 years. He published one sermon, preached the Sabbath after he was ordained. He married Miss Mary M. Clarke.

Rev. Elijah G. Welles of New Hartford graduated at Williams College in 1805, studied theology with Dr. Perkins of West Hartford, and was ordained January 20, 1808. He seems to have been a man of fine talents, an eloquent and orthodox preacher. There was dissatisfaction among his people and he was dismissed May 2, 1810. He was an eccentric man and sank into obscurity for many years. In the latter part of his life he lived in Boston and died at the hospital on Deer Island, May 11, 1855, aged 72 years. He married Lucy, a sister of Rev. Dr. Griffin of Williams College, and had three children.

Rev. Jesse Fisher of Princeton graduated at Harvard in 1803, studied theology with Dr. Lathrop of West Springfield, Mass., and was ordained pastor of this church May 22, 1811. He continued in office till he died, September 29, 1836, aged 59 years. He married (1) Rebecca Dana; and (2) Laura Payne of Canterbury. He had seven children.

He was a man of sound judgment and had a warm heart.

Rev. Otis C. Whiton 1837-41

Scotland, Ct. Brunswick Church 1746

Rev. John Palmer of Scotland, not a graduate, was its only pastor. He was ordained May 17, 1749 and died August 15, 1813.

Seabrook, N.H. November, 1764

The church was Presbyterian; it became Congregational in 1799.

Rev. Samuel Perley of Ipswich, Mass. graduated at Harvard in 1763 and was ordained January 31, 1765. He was dismissed May 27, 1775 and installed at Moultenboro' October 8, 1778. There was a strong opposition to his settlement by those who paid three-fourths of the salary. He continued only one year and was installed at Groton in the latter part of 1779. He was dismissed again in 1784 and installed a few months after at Gray, Me. He closed his labors there in 1791. Whether he was settled again I do not know; he died November 28, 1831, aged 29 years.

Rev. Elias Hull of Tolland, Ct., not a graduate of any college, was ordained February 16, 1799 and continued in office till he died, February 28, 1822, aged 44 years.

This church has become extinct.

Seabrook and Hampton Falls July 12, 1857

Rev. Sereno T. Abbot of Andover, Mass. graduated at Amherst in 1833 and at Andover in 1836, and was ordained the day the church was organized. He continued his labors amidst many discouragements till he died, March 28, 1855, aged 50 years. He was a faithful and successful laborer in the vineyard of the Lord.

Searsport, Maine. October 4, 1815

This was in the town of Prospect.

Rev. Christopher J. Lawton of Hardwick, Mass. was not a graduate of any college. He was ordained pastor of this church October 4, 1815 and was dismissed March 15, 1824. He was not again settled, though he labored as a missionary in the destitute parishes of Maine. He died at Passadumkeag May 21, 1854, in the 76th. year of his age. He was a good man and useful.

Searsport, Me. Second Church Sept. 19, 1855

Sebec, Me. October 15, 1833

Sedgwick, Me. July 8, 1793

Rev. Daniel Merrill of Danvers, Mass. graduated at Dartmouth in 1789 and was ordained in September, 1793. He became a Baptist in 1805 and, with 80 members of his church the same day, was immersed and reordained pastor of a Baptist church. He published a series of seven sermons on Baptism which went through ten editions; he also published several single sermons and some controversial series of letters. He died in 1833, aged about 65 years.

The church was quite small; the members that remained lived in that part of the town that is now Brooksville and are the Sedgwick Church in that town. (See Brooksville)

Sedgwick Village October 28, 1847

Seekonk, Mass. May, 1644

This was the Indian name of a tract of country which in 1645 was called Rehoboth. From this several towns have been made. Seekonk was set off from it in 1812. Prior to its becoming a town it was called the First Church in Rehoboth.

This town was settled by people from Weymouth in the early part of 1644. As the first settlers included among them the minister and a majority of the Weymouth church, it probably had no separate organization. The first minister was

Rev. Samuel Newman 1644-1663 (See Weymouth)

Rev. Noah Newman was the son of the preceding. He was not a graduate of Harvard. It is most likely he was educated at home, as his father was a distinguished scholar. He was ordained in March, 1666 and continued there till he died, April 16, 1678. He married Joanna, a daughter of Rev. Henry Flint of Braintree (now Quincy), by whom he had three children, Henry, Samuel and Sybil.

"Not a stone tells where he lies".

His age at his death was probably about 40 years.

Rev. Samuel Angier 1679-1693 (See Watertown)

Rev. Thomas Greenwood of Plymouth graduated at Harvard in 1690, was ordained in October, 1693, and continued here till his death, September 8, 1720, aged 50 years. He had six children, four daughters and two sons, one of whom died young. Mrs. Greenwood died at Weymouth in 1735; her maiden name was Elizabeth Wiswell.*

Rev. John Greenwood, son of the preceding, graduated at Harvard in 1717 and was ordained in 1721. In 1757 he was obliged to resign on account of poor health. He relinquished his salary, the parish agreeing to pay him twenty pounds annually. He died December

1, 1766, in the 70th. year of his age. He had 14 children, most of whom died young.

Rev. John Carnes of Boston graduated at Harvard in 1742 and was pastor of the church in Stoneham from 1746 to 1757. He was installed at this place April 18, 1759 and dismissed June 28, 1763. There was a minority of the society opposed to his settlement and, though they united in calling a counsel to install him, they remained disaffected. A council was called to examine the case and advise in reference to it. That council justified Mr. Carnes and would not dismiss him. His opposers applied to the Legislature and obtained a committee to examine their grievances. Mr. Carnes finally resigned. He removed to Boston, was chaplain in the army of the Revolution, and then removed to Lynn, where he died October 10, 1802, aged 78 years.

He married Mary Lewis of Lynn, by whom he had several children.

Rev. Ephraim Hyde of Pomfret, Ct. graduated at Yale in 1758 and was ordained May 14, 1766. He married Mary, daughter of Rev. John Angier of East Bridgewater, by whom he had five children. He died October 11, 1783, aged 45 years. He was much beloved and was a useful minister.

Rev. John Ellis 1785-96 (See Franklin)

Rev. John Hill of Lewistown, Del. was installed September 22, 1802. He was for several years a traveling Methodist preacher. In 1795 he dissolved his connection with the Methodists and taught school in Warren, R.I. He continued to teach after his installation. He died in 1816, in the 57th. year of his age. He married Miss Roby Bowen of Coventry, R.I.

Rev. Philip Curtis of Roxbury graduated at Harvard in 1738 and was ordained January 13, 1743. He continued in office till he died, November 22, 1797, aged 80 years.

Rev. Jonathan Whitaker, son of Rev. J. Whitaker of Salem, graduated at Harvard in 1797 and was ordained February 27, 1799. He studied theology at Cambridge. He was dismissed March 21, 1816 and left the society in an unpleasant state. He was pastor a short time of the Unitarian church in New Bedford. He then went to Virginia and North Carolina; he spent some time at Raleigh teaching and preaching; from 1831 to '35 he was at Ogdensburgh and Henrietta, N.Y., where he died November 19, 1835, aged 64 years. He married Mary Kimball of Bradford.

Rev. Peter Pratt of Lebanon graduated at Yale in 1736, & was ordained in April, 1740. He was dismissed October 13, 1747 for intemperance. He died in 1776 probably, though the Yale Triennial says, in 1780, aged 63 years. He married Mrs. Mary Metcalf of Lebanon, where he spent most of his life.

Rev. John Searle of Simsbury graduated at Yale in 1745, and was ordained pastor of this church in August, 1749, and resigned on account of ill health in June, 1854. Having regained his health, he was installed at Stoneham, Mass. January 17, 1758, and was dismissed April 24, 1776. After this he was pastor of the church in Royalton, Vt., where he died in 1787, aged 70 years.

He was the first man that ascended to the top of Saddle Mountain in Massachusetts. He married Hephzibah Duncan of Stoughton, Mass. and had four children.

Rev. Cotton M. Smith of Suffield graduated at Yale in 1751 and was ordained August 23, 1755. He continued in office till he died, November 27, 1806, aged 76 years. He married Widow Temperance Gale, a daughter of Rev. William Worthington of Saybrook, by whom he had six children; his only son that lived to adult age became a Governor of the state. He studied theology with Rev. Mr. Woodbridge of Hatfield, Mass., and was of the Calvinistic School, a man of influence and of talent. As his name implies, Cotton Mather Smith, he was connected with the Cottons and Mathers of Massachusetts, and descended from the Rev. Henry Smith, the first minister of Wethersfield.

He published three sermons.

Rev. David L. Perry, son of Rev. David Perry of Harwinton, graduated at Williams College in 1798 and was ordained June 6, 1806. He continued in office till he died of apoplexy, October 25, 1835, aged 58 years.

His form was manly, his countenance fair and his manners affable. He had an easy flow of words, a ready and well furnished mind, and was an acceptable and useful preacher.

Rev. Mason Grosvenor 1830-39

Rev. Grove L. Brownell of Canaan graduated at Vermont University in 1813 and was pastor of this church from May, 1840 to August, 1848. He continued to reside in the place till he died, April 10, 1855, aged 65 years. He was pastor of the church in North Woodbury from 1817 to 1840.

graduated at Yale in 1724. He was ordained at the time the church was organized. He is said to have been orthodox in his belief, and plain, judicious and instructive in his public discourse. He belonged to the school of Stoddard in regard to the admission of members and was opposed to the views of Edwards. In process of time there grew up an unhappy division in the church in reference to this matter. It appears from the private diary of a clergyman who was well acquainted with the condition of the church that Mr. Hubbard's friends, being the majority, passed a vote of censure upon the minority, and then called a council of those whom they supposed would be friendly to Mr. Hubbard, to settle difficulties. The council convened October 17, 1764, but finding that in reality they were an ex parte council refused to proceed. Another council was called December 13 of the same year, by which Mr. Hubbard was dismissed. He died soon after, July 6, 1765, in the 62nd. year of his age. The church remained destitute of a pastor seven years.

Rev. John Keep was ordained June 10, 1772. He was a native of Long Meadow and graduated at Yale in 1769. He studied theology with Dr. Williams of his native place and continued here till his death, September 3, 1785, aged 35 years.

Mr. Keep was a man of talent, improved by education and sanctified by grace. He was eminent as a divine, a preacher, a friend and Christian. He was one of the candidates for the professorship of Divinity in Yale College at the time Dr. Dana* was elected. He married Miss Robbins, sister of Rev. A. Robbins of Norfolk, Conn.

Rev. Ephraim Judson of Woodbury, Ct. graduated at Yale in 1763, studied theology with Dr. Bellamy and was pastor of a church in Norwich, Ct. from 1774 to 1780, and at Taunton, Mass. from 1780 to 1789. He was installed at Sheffield (in) May, 1791 and continued here till his death, February 23, 1813, in the 77th. year of his age.

He was an able, sound & faithful preacher, published several sermons and instructed many theological students. The inscription on his tombstone declares that "he was esteemed a learned divine, an acute logician, and an evangelical preacher. He was mild, courteous and hospitable. By his numerous friends, he was deemed a wise counselor, an active peace-maker and a sincere Christian." Rev. Adoniram Judson, the missionary, was his nephew.

Mr. Judson at the commencement of his sermons spoke slow, though with great solemnity; as he proceeded he became animated and seldom failed to produce a deep impression. In the history of Norwich, Ct. he is represented as an extempore, colloquial preacher and is charged with removing often and as having become rich by the "settlements" he received. He married Chloe Ellis of Somers, by whom he had one son.

Rev. James Bradford of Rowley graduated at Dartmouth in 1811, studied theology with Rev. M. Bradford of Francestown, N.H., was ordained October 13, 1813 and dismissed May 6, 1852. He continued to reside in the place till he died, December, 1858, aged 72 years.

He married Miss Margaret Flint of Reading, by whom he had seven children. He was a useful minister. The sermon preached at his funeral has been published. He published a sermon preached at the close of the twenty-fifth year of his ministry.

Rev. Robert Hubbard of Middletown, Ct. graduated at Yale in 1769, studied theology with Rev. Enoch Huntington in his native place, and was ordained October 20, 1773.

He was a man of exemplary piety, a strict observer of the Sabbath, affable, courteous and a faithful minister. He married Miss Lucy Hubbard, by whom he had three children; his son Robert was a minister and died at Canisteo, N. Y. Mr. Hubbard died of pulmonary consumption at Middletown, November 2, 1788, aged 45 years; his widow married again and was insane many years.

Rev. Jesse Townsend of Andover, Ct. graduated at Yale in 1790, studied theology with Dr. Lockwood in his native place, was ordained March 21, 1792 and dismissed April 12, 1797. He preached after his dismissal in New York, in Illinois and in Missouri. He died at Palmyra, N. Y., July 14, 1838, aged 72 years.

He was an industrious man, an affectionate and faithful pastor. He was Old School in his theology and clear in the statement of his views. He was a man of sincere and heartfelt piety. He published an abridgement of Milner's Church History. He left three children.

Rev. Theophilus Packard was born in North Bridgewater, but removed at an early age with his father to Cummington. He graduated at Dartmouth in 1796, studied theology with Dr. Burton of Thetford, Vt. and was ordained February 20, 1799. He ceased to perform official duties in 1842. He resided several years with his daughter in South Deerfield, but died at Shelburne September 17, 1855, aged 86 years.

He received the degree of D.D. from Dartmouth in 1824, was a trustee of Williams and afterwards of Amherst College. He published several sermons and instructed more than thirty young men in theology. He married Mary Tirrell of Abington, by whom he had eight children, one of whom, Theophilus, is a minister.

Shelburne Falls, Mass. March 6, 1850

Rev. George F. Bronson 1851-53

Rev. Wilbur F. Loomis of Manchester, Ct. graduated at Wesleyan University at Middletown, Ct. in 1851 and at Andover in 1855. He was ordained pastor of this church April 15, 1856. In the autumn of 1863 his parish gave him leave of absence for six months to go out as agent of the Sanitary Commission. He went with his wife to Tennessee to Gen. Grant's army, and died of congestion of the lungs at Nashville, Tennessee, January 8, 1864.

He had no children. He was a man from whom much was anticipated in future years.

Sherburne, Mass. March 26, 1685

Rev. Daniel Gookin, eldest son of Major General Daniel Gookin, graduated at Harvard in 1669 and was ordained the day the church was gathered. In Elliot's letters to Boyle, after saying his father had dedicated his son Daniel to the service of Christ, he adds,-
"He is a pious & learned young man, about 33 years old, hath been 8 years a fellow of the College; he has taught and trained up two classes of our young scholars to their commencement. He is a man whose abilities are above exception, though not above envy. His father advised him to Sherburne, whose meeting house is about three miles from Natick, where he lectures once a month." He afforded Mr. Elliot much assistance in instructing the Indians. He commenced preaching at Sherburne as early as 1681. He continued there till his death, January 8, 1718, aged 68 years.

His first wife was Elizabeth Quincy, by whom he had four children; his second was Bethiah Collicot, by whom he had three children.

Rev. Daniel Baker, a native of Dedham, graduated at Harvard in 1706, and was ordained colleague with Mr. Gookin in 1712. He was twice married and died May 14, 1731, aged 45 years. The following notice of him appeared in the Boston News Letter the week succeeding his death: "He was a gentleman of bright natural parts, much improved by acquired knowledge, very pathetical in prayer, orthodox and powerful in preaching, tender of his flock and congregation, having always the cause of God and religion much at heart.

His church increased greatly under his ministry. He was exercised with much affliction under which his patience was very signal; he was affable and pleasant in conversation."

In the last years of his life he suffered much from ill health and was interrupted in his labors. Some days before his death he lost the power of speech. His death was much lamented. He published two sermons preached on days set apart to pray for the outpouring of the Spirit upon the young.

Rev. Samuel Porter, a native of Hadley, graduated at Harvard in 1730; was ordained October 23, 1734. Two of his sermons were printed, one preached at the ordination of Rev. W. Phipps of Douglas, and another at the Artillery election. In Prince's Christian History mention is made of a revival of religion in his parish about 1742 and of the pastor as "faithful and lively." This attestation implies that he sympathized with the religious interest that pervaded the country, though he seems not to have signed the Attestation that was signed by the friends of the revival generally. He died September 16, 1758, in the 49th. year of his age.

Rev. Samuel Locke was born in Lancaster and graduated at Harvard in 1755. He was ordained November 7, 1759. He resigned February 2, 1770 to accept the presidency of Harvard College. He resigned the presidency in 1773 and returned to Sherburne, where he died suddenly in January, 1778, aged 45 years. The degree of D.D. was conferred upon him. He had a high reputation as a scholar and was a popular preacher, but while president he committed an act of great immorality according to the Christian code, which gave a deep wound to the reputation of the college and overwhelmed his particular friends with grief and mortification.

Rev. Elijah Brown of Waltham graduated at Harvard in 1765 and was ordained November 28, 1770. He continued in office till he died, October 24, 1816, aged 73 years.

Rev. Shearjashub Townsend of Barrington, R. I. graduated at Brown in 1814 and was ordained

July 2, 1817. In July, 1829 he was obliged by reason of ill health to ask a dismissal. He relinquished his salary but his pastoral relation was not dissolved. In the autumn of that year he went south to enjoy the benefit of a milder climate. He died at Milledgeville, Ga. July 20, 1832, aged 37 years.

In 1830 the church dissolved its connection with the society, because it refused to support an orthodox minister.

Rev. Oliver D. Cooke of North Branford graduated at Yale in 1786, was pastor of this church from May, 1792 to November, 1793, died in 1833.

Rev. Maltby Gelston of Southampton, L. I. graduated at Yale in 1791. He studied theology with Rev. J. Edwards, D.D. of New Haven and was ordained pastor of this church

April 26, 1797. He continued in office till he died. December 15, 1856, aged 90 years. His salary was 100 pounds and a few cords of wood. His father gave him a farm, so that by tilling his land and a small salary he was able to support his family and do good to all men as he had opportunity. He was sound in faith, exemplary in his life and much respected by all who knew (him).

He married a daughter of Rev. Joel Bordell of Kent, by whom he had several children. He educated two of his sons for the ministry. He had a colleague about 14 years before he died.

Shirley, Mass. June 23, 1762.

Rev. Phinehas Whitney of Weston, graduated at Harvard in 1759 and was ordained the day the church was organized. His salary was 66-2/3 pounds. justed to the satisfaction of both parties.

He was a patron of science and literature and a trustee of Groton Academy. In his religious sentiments he was liberal and his standing among clergymen respectable. Some of his occasional discourses were printed. He was a prudent manager of his income, educated his children, and left them a small patrimony. In 1812, being enfeebled by a paralytic shock, he applied for a colleague. He died December 13, 1819, in the 80th. year of his age.

Shirley, Mass. Orthodox Church Feb'y 3, 1828

Rev. Samuel H. Tolman of Dorchester graduated at Dartmouth in 1806 and studied medicine, the profession of his father. He afterwards became pious, studied theology with Rev. John M. Whiton, D.D. of Antrim, N.H., and was ordained colleague with Mr. Whitney October 25, 1815. He was dismissed October 25, 1818. He was pastor of the church in Dunstable from June, 1822 to January, 1829 and at South Merrimac, N.H. from January, 1831 to 1836. He was pastor of the church at Atkinson, N.H. from 1837 to 1839. He preached after this as a missionary in Vermont and Maine. He died at Atkinson, N.H. April 2, 1856, aged 75 years. His death was occasioned by a fall.

He was sound in doctrine and a serious Christian. He was a useful minister.

Shoreham, Vermont March, 1794

A church was organized in 1792 on the Half-Way Covenant principle. It was reorganized in 1794.

Rev. Evans Beardsley studied theology with Dr. Burton of Thetford, was ordained December 26, 1805 and dismissed in May, 1809. He settled afterwards in Oneida County, New York, and died at Springfield, N.Y. in 1831. He was sound in faith, but a dry, metaphysical preacher.

Shrewsbury, Mass. December 4, 1723

Rev. Job Cushing graduated at Harvard in 1717 and was ordained the day the church was organized. He continued in the ministry here nearly 37 years and died suddenly of apoplexy, August 6, 1760, in the 67th. year of his age.

During his ministry a new parish was formed in the North part of the town, which afterwards became the town of Boylston. He was a useful and respectable minister. They gave him 60 pounds settlement and 60 pounds salary, which was increased to 80 pounds. His wife was a daughter of Rev. Mr. Prentice of Lancaster; he educated two sons for the ministry, Dr. Cushing of Ashburnham and Dr. Cushing of Waltham.

Rev. Joseph Sumner of Pomfret, Ct. graduated at Yale in 1759 and was ordained June 23, 1762. He continued in the ministry till his death, December 9, 1824, aged 85 years. The degree of D. D. was conferred upon him by Harvard in 1814, and about the same time by Columbia College, S.C.

He was a peaceable man, remarkable for his affability, good sense and dignified deportment. His salary was small, but by prudence and economy he was able to bring up a numerous family, and left at his death a handsome property, mostly in real estate.

Rev. Samuel B. Ingersoll of Beverly graduated at Yale in 1817; was ordained June 14, 1820. He preached the next Sabbath for the last time; his health was precarious at the time of his settlement. The next week he was more unwell, went to Beverly and there languished till he died, November 14, 1820, aged 35. See an obituary notice in Christian Spectator of 1821, page 57. He married a Miss Whittlesey of New Haven.

Rev. Abraham Hill of Cambridge graduated at Harvard in 1737 and was ordained the day the church was organized. He was dismissed February 27, 1778, in consequence of being politically opposed to the War of the Revolution. He was not allowed to preach for two years previous to his dismissal. He was a rank Tory and very active. It was thought unsafe to allow him full liberty and the town, it is said, passed a vote forbidding him to leave his own house. After he was dismissed he removed to Oxford, where he died June 8, 1788, aged 71 years. He left a widow and two children. His daughter married Rev. Ebenezer Sparhawk of Templeton. He preached occasionally while at Oxford, but was never resettled in the ministry. The church in this place remained without a pastor 38 years.

Simsbury, Connecticut June, 1682

Rev. Dudley Woodbridge, son of Rev.

John Woodbridge of Wethersfield, graduated at Harvard in 1694 and was ordained November 10, 1697. He continued in office till he died, August 3, 1710, aged about 37.

He married Dorothy Lamb of Roxbury, Mass. He was a man very much beloved.

Rev. Timothy Woodbridge, son of Rev. T.

Woodbridge of Hartford, graduated at Yale in 1706 and was ordained April 10, 1712. He continued in office till he died, August 28, 1742, aged 59 years.

He married the widow of his predecessor, by whom he had several children. He was a man of talents, education and piety, but was extensively engaged in worldly avocations. Rev. Timothy Woodbridge of Hatfield, Mass. was his son.

Rev. Gideon Mills 1744-54(See Canton)

Rev. Benajah Root 1757-72(See Rutland)

Rev. Samuel Stebbins graduated at Dartmouth in 1775 and was ordained December 10, 1777. He ceased to perform pastoral duties in November, 1806, but retained his pastoral relation till he died, February 20, 1821, in the 70th. year of his age.

He married Ursula Griswold of Windsor and had no children. His salary was 100 pounds and his estate, at his decease, was estimated at $25,000. He expended his powers of body and mind in the accumulation of wealth.

Rev. Allen McLean of Vernon graduated at Yale in 1805 and was ordained pastor of this church in August, 1809; and continued in office till he died, March 19, 1861, aged 80 years. He lost his eyesight entirely about ten years previous to his death. He had a colleague in 1850. In 1859 he preached his semi-centennial. It was read by his son, Rev. Charles B. McLean of Collinsville.

He was a devout man, that felt a tender concern for the spiritual welfare of his people.

He was humble, kind hearted and faithful.

He was twice married.

Slatersville, R. I. September 8, 1816

A village in Smithfield.

Rev. Caleb B. Elliot of Millbury, Mass. graduated at Amherst in 1826, was ordained September 9, 1835, and at the end of two years resigned on account of ill health. He died in 1846, aged 44 years.

Rev. Amos Lefavoure* 1837-38

Rev. Timothy A. Taylor of Hawley graduated at Amherst in 1835 and at Andover in 1838. He was ordained January 23, 1839 and continued in office till he died suddenly of pleurisy, March 2, 1858, aged 48 years.

He was a good preacher, a man of earnest and devoted piety and a useful and beloved pastor. He published a memoir of his brother, Rev. O. A. Taylor, and two or three volumes of a devotional character. A little book entitled "The Solace, a Gift to those who are Bereaved", was published a day or two before he died, and

Rev. Samuel Allis of Hatfield, Mass. graduated at Harvard in 1724, studied theology with Rev. Mr. Stoddard of Northampton, Mass., and was ordained the day the church was organized. He was dismissed in 1747, but continued to reside in the place till he died, December 18, 1796, in the 92nd. year of his age. He preached occasionally till within a few years of his death.

Rev. Freegrace Leavitt of Suffield graduated at Yale in 1745 and was ordained July 6, 1748. He continued in office till he died, October 9, 1761, in the 43rd. year of his age.

He was much esteemed in his life and his death was much lamented.

Two years after his settlement a few members withdrew from the church and began another meeting which continues to the present time, though not a Congregational church. After Mr. Leavitt's death the church fell into a state of contention, was divided in 1769 and united again in 1773. They were without a settled pastor thirteen years.

Rev. Charles Backus of Franklin graduated at Yale in 1769, studied theology with Dr. Hart of Preston, and was ordained August 10, 1774. He received the degree of D.D. from Williams College in 1801. He was elected Professor of Divinity at Dartmouth and at Yale, but declined both. He instructed about fifty young men in theology. He was a good scholar, clear and evangelical in his views, an exemplary Christian and a useful minister. His memory is blessed. He died December 30, 1803, in the 55th. year of his age. He published a small volume on Regeneration and several single sermons. He married Miss Hill of Cambridge, Mass., by whom he had one son, who died in college.

Rev. William L. Strong of Salisbury graduated at Yale in 1802 and was ordained in 1807. He resigned in 1830 and was installed at Reading the same year, was dismissed in 1839, and removed to Fayetteville, N. Y., where he died of dysentery August 31, 1859, aged 76 years. He married Miss Deming of Wethersfield and had eleven children; all were professors of religion and two of them ministers. He was a man of ability and of true piety.

Somersworth, N.H. 1730

Rev. James Pike of Newbury, Mass. graduated at Harvard in 1725, taught school in Berwick and was ordained October 28, 1730. He preached his last sermon October 31, 1790 and died March 19, 1792, aged 89 years. He was Calvinistic in doctrine and published one sermon; he was a faithful minister and lived in harmony with his people. Nicholas Pike, the author of a New and Complete System of Arithmetic, was his son.

Rev. Pearson Thurston of Sterling, Mass. graduated at Dartmouth in 1787 and was ordained February 1, 1792. He was dismissed November 16, 1812. In the month of February prior to his dismissal the house in which he resided was burned, and with it the church records, the communion vessels and a social library.

He was a Hopkinsian in doctrine. He removed to Leominster, where he died August 15, 1819, aged 56 years. He was the pastor of the First Church in St. Johnsbury, Vt. from 1815 to 1817.

Southborough, Mass. October 21, 1730

Rev. Nathan Stone of Hardwick graduated at Harvard in 1726 and was ordained the day the church was organized. He continued in office till he died, May 31, 1781, aged 74 years.

He was a prudent, judicious and faithful minister and had the confidence and affection of the church and society. Rev. Mr. Stone of Dennis was his son.

Rev. Samuel Sumner, son of Rev. Dr. Sumner of Shrewsbury, graduated at Dartmouth in 1786, was Preceptor of Leicester Academy three years and ordained June 1, 1791. He was dismissed December 1, 1797. He removed to St. Albans, Vt., then to Bakersfield and subsequently to Troy, Vt., where he died in November, 1837, aged 72 years. He embraced Unitarian views and did not preach for several years prior to his death.

He married Widow Anna Williams of Southborough, who died in 1835.

Rev. Jereboam Parker of Southborough graduated at Harvard in 1797 and was ordained October 9, 1799. He was dismissed in December, 1832.

He embraced Unitarian views and an orthodox church was organized in consequence of it in the early part of 1831. He continued to reside in the place after his dismissal and died in 1850, aged 81 years.

Southbridge, Mass. September 16, 1801

This town was incorporated in 1814.

Rev. Jason Park of Canterbury, Ct. was not a graduate of any college. He was ordained December 18, 1816 and dismissed December 18, 1832. He sustained the character of a judicious and faithful pastor and during his ministry 110 were added to the church. He removed to Michigan, preaching occasionally as his health permitted, and died at Berry, May 11, 1849, aged 70 years.

Southbury, Connecticut January 17, 1733

This was a parish of Woodbury till 1786.

Rev. John Graham of Scotland was educated a physician and afterwards studied theology. He came to this country about 1720 and is said to have spent some time in Exeter, N.H. He was ordained at Stafford May 25, 1723 and continued there till 1732. He was ordained here in January, 1733 and continued in office till he died, December 11, 1774, aged 81 years. He ceased to preach, on account of ill health, about eight years before he died.

He was a man of medium size, an intelligent and earnest preacher, and exemplary in his deportment. He married Abigail, a daughter of Dr. Chauncey of Boston, by whom he had nine children; three of his sons, John, Chauncey, and Richard Crouch, were ministers.

Rev. Benjamin Wildman of Danbury graduated at Yale in 1758 and was ordained colleague pastor October 22, 1766. He was an humble and pious man, but full of wit and humor. His sharp afflictions did not eradicate this constitutional tendency. He often spoke of himself as a wild man by nature. He died August 2, 1812, aged 76 years.

He was a man of noble bearing in stature, mind and manners; warm hearted and easy of access.

Rev. Elijah Wood of Canaan, N. Y. graduated at Williams College in 1812, was ordained in 1813 and died in June, 1815, aged 31 years.

Rev. Daniel A. Clark 1816-19(See Amherst)

South Britain, Connecticut 1769

Rev. Jehu Minor of Woodbury graduated at Yale in 1767 and was ordained in 1769; he received a settlement of 200 pounds and his salary was 70 pounds. He was dismissed in 1790.

He devoted a considerable part of his time to farming and, though a good man and an acceptable preacher, it diminished his usefulness.

Rev. Matthias Cazier graduated at Princeton in 1785, was pastor of the church in Prescott, Mass. a few years and of this church from 1799 to 1804. He preached as stated supply in Naugatuck.

Rev. Bennet Tyler 1809-22(See Portland)

Rev. Noah Smith of Hanover, New Hampshire graduated at Dartmouth in 1818 and at Andover in 1821. He was pastor of this church from October 9, 1822 till he died, October 10, 1830, aged 36 years. He was a good man and a workman that need not be ashamed. His widow died at the house of her son, Rev. E.P. Smith of Pepperell, Mass. in 1858.

Rev. Oliver B. Butterfield of Montrose, Pa., was three years a member of Yale College and graduated at the theological seminary in 1836. He was ordained June 28, 1837. He continued in office till he died in 1849, aged about 45 years. He was an effective preacher and an affectionate and faithful pastor.

South Danvers, Mass. September 23, 1713

Rev. Benjamin Prescott of Concord graduated at Harvard in 1709 and was ordained September 23, 1713. He married a daughter of John Higginson of Salem. He was a man of talent and an excellent pastor. He was dismissed November 16, 1756, and died May 28, 1777, in the 90th. year of his age.

In 1768 he published a pamphlet on the difficulties between the Colonies and the Mother Country. In consequence of the depreciation of currency there was considerable difficulty between him and the people, which led to his dismissal.

Rev. Nathan Holt of Andover graduated at Harvard in 1757. He was ordained January 3, 1759. His salary was 80 pounds and afterwards raised to 100 pounds. He died August 2, 1792, aged 68 years. He married Sarah Abbot, of Andover.

Rev. Samuel Mead of Rochester graduated at Brown in 1788, studied theology with Mr. Judson of Taunton and was ordained January 8, 1794. He was dismissed in January, 1803 and settled at Amesbury June 6, 1804. He became insane and ceased to preach about 1818. He died at Cambridge, where he was under medical treatment, March 28, 1818, aged 54 years.

Rev. Samuel Walker of Haverhill graduated at Dartmouth in 1802 and was ordained August 14, 1805. He continued in office till he died, July 7, 1826, aged 48 years. He studied with Mr. French of Andover and Dr. Spring of of Newburyport.

Rev. George Cowles of New Hartford, Ct. graduated at Yale in 1821, at Andover in 1824, and was ordained September 12, 1827. In consequence of a pulmonary disease he resigned in 1836.

In October, 1837, he and his wife, who was a daughter of John Adams, once principal of Phillips Academy at Andover, sailed from New York in the steam packet "Home", for Charleston, S.C., where he was intending to spend the winter. On the 7th. of October the packet was wrecked off Cape Hatteras and more than eighty persons perished. Among them were Mr. Cowles and his wife. When last seen they were sitting side by side and he was heard to say that "whosoever trusts in Jesus is safe on sea or land." His age was 39 years.

South Hadley, Mass. October 3, 1733

Rev. Grindal Rawson, son of Rev. G. Rawson of Mendon. He graduated at Harvard in 1728 and was ordained the day the church was organized. He was dismissed in 1741 in consequence of great dissatisfaction among the people. September 18, 1745 he was installed first pastor of the church at Hadlyme, Connecticut, and continued there till his death, March 29, 1777, in the 70th. year of his age.

There was a remarkable revival of religion among the people at South Hadley in the spring of 1735. It is said of Mr. Rawson that "he was remarkable for pleasantry in conversation and had an uncommon talent in reconciling parties at variance." It seems, however, that he failed when he was one of the parties. He married a daughter of Dr. Chauncey of the First Church in Boston.

Rev. John Woodbridge, son of Rev. John Woodbridge of West Springfield, graduated at Yale in 1726 and was installed April 21, 1742. During his ministry the people were very much divided in regard to the location of a meeting-house. In 1750 they voted to build, but it took them thirteen years to fix upon the place where it should stand. It was finally agreed to determine the location by lot. They were dissatisfied with the result and called a council of ministers to say whether they were bound by the lot. They decided that they were.

Mr. Woodbridge was a prudent and blameless pastor and a sound evangelical preacher. He coincided with Edwards so nearly in his views that he was selected by him to be a member of the council that dismissed him, in case either of the others should fail. He died September 10, 1783, aged 80 years. He preached in Windsor, Ct. from 1729 to 1740. He married (1) Miss Ruggles of New Jersey, by whom he had two sons; and (2) Miss Clark of Belcher-town, by whom he had five children.

Rev. Joel Hayes graduated at Yale in 1773 and was ordained October 23, 1782. His ministry was harmonious till near its close. He was a man of kind feelings and distinguished in his pulpit performances for great plainness of speech. He was a firm believer in the doctrines of grace and did not hesitate to preach them boldly. He died July 29, 1827, aged 74 years.

Rev. Artemas Boies of Blandford graduated at Williams College in 1816 and was ordained pastor of a church in Wilmington, N.C. in 1819. He left there in 1823, was installed at South Hadley February 24, 1824 and dismissed November 18, 1834, to become pastor of Pine St. Church in Boston, where he was installed December 10 of the same year. He was dismissed November 9, 1840 and installed pastor of the Second Church in New London March 10, 1841, where he died of a fever, September 25, 1844, aged 52 years. His only son is a licensed preacher of the Gospel, and his only surviving daughter by his first wife married Rev. J. L. Dickinson of Plainville, Ct.

He married (1) Abigail Ely of Longmeadow; and (2) Susan Lemon* of Keene, N.H.

* In the notice of Mr. Boies in the book of Williams College Alumni this name is given as Susan "Lamson".

Rev. Joseph D. Condit, son of Rev. Aaron Condit of Hanover, N.J., graduated at Nassau Hall in 1826 and was settled in East Hampton, L. I. He was installed pastor of the church in South Hadley July 8, 1835 and died September 19, 1847, aged 43 years. He was a good preacher and an excellent pastor.

Southampton, Mass. June 8, 1743

Rev. Jonathan Judd, son of William Judd of Waterbury, Ct., was born October 4, 1719 and graduated at Yale in 1741. He was ordained the day the church was gathered; the sermon was preached by Rev. Mr. Edwards of Northampton.

He married Miss Silence Sheldon of Suffield, Ct. for his first wife, by whom he had seven children. She died in 1783 and he married the widow of Rev. Adonijah Bidwell of Tyringham. Mr. Judd was regarded by his people during the whole of his ministry with the most profound veneration. His form was venerable and his mode of dress imposing. He never degraded his profession by anything unseemly. His talents were not brilliant but highly respectable. He was opposed to Edwards in regard to the Half-Way Covenant. He was in the council that dismissed Edwards and voted for it. He died July 28, 1803, in the 84th. year of his age.

Rev. Vinson Gould 1801-32(See Bernardston)

Rev. Morris E. White of Ashfield graduated at Dartmouth in 1828 and at Andover in 1831. He was ordained June 20, 1832 and dismissed December 22, 1852, in consequence of a complication of difficulties, some of which grew out of the dismissal of his predecessor. Mr. White's health became impaired and in 1860 he, with his wife, who had abundant means of her own, went to Europe. He died at Genoa, October 15, 1861, of ossification of the heart, aged 58 years. A very pleasing change came over him before he died.

South Hampton, N. H. February 22, 1743

Rev. William Parsons of Salisbury, Mass., brother of Rev. Samuel Parsons of Rye, graduated at Harvard in 1735 and was ordained in 1743. He was dismissed October 6, 1762, and removed to Gilmanton with the first settlers of that town. He preached there several years and taught school, though he was not installed.

He married Sarah Burnham of Durham, by whom he had six children. He died January 31, 1796, aged 80 years.

Rev. Nathaniel Noyes of Newburyport graduated at Nassau Hall in 1759 and was ordained February 23, 1763. He was dismissed December 8, 1801, removed to Newbury and preached in that vicinity till he died, December, 1810, aged 75 years.

The last member of this church died in 1827.

Rev. Jeremiah Curtiss graduated at Yale in 1724 and was ordained in November, 1728, being in the 23rd. year of his age. He was dismissed in 1754, but continued to reside in the place till he died, March 21, 1795, in the 89th. year of his age.

Integrity, meekness and humility were conspicuous traits in his character.

Rev. Benjamin Chapman of Saybrook graduated at Nassau Hall in 1754 and was ordained March 17, 1756. He was dismissed September 28, 1774. He died at Southington, June 22, 1786, aged 61 years.

He married Abigail Riggs of Derby, by whom he had eight children.

Rev. William Robinson of Lebanon graduated at Yale in 1773 and was ordained in 1780. His pastoral relation was dissolved in 1821 in consequence of bodily infirmity. He died August 15, 1825, aged 71 years that very day.

He was a good man and highly esteemed by all who knew him. He married (1) Naomi Wolcott of Windsor, who died of smallpox two years after; (2) Sophia Mosely of Westfield, Mass.; (3) Anna Mills of Simsbury; and (4) Elizabeth Norton of Farmington; by the last he had six children, one of whom was Rev. Edward Robinson, D.D., professor in the Union Theological Seminary, who died in January, 1863, in the 69th. year of his age.

Rev. David L. Ogden was born in Hartford October 6, 1792. His parents subsequently removed to New Haven. He graduated at Yale in 1814, spent two years at Andover and one with Prof. Fitch at New Haven. He was ordained pastor of this church October 31, 1821.

He had wonderful skill in preaching the Gospel so as to make men feel they must repent. He was a clear, faithful and earnest preacher. He resigned his pastoral charge in 1836; was installed in Whitesboro', N.Y. in December, 1836, where he remained about 12 years. He then was at Marlboro, Mass. from 1848 to 1850, when he removed to New Haven, where he remained till he died, October 31, 1863, aged 71 years. He was a corporate member of the American Board and a trustee of Hamilton College. He was a useful and respected minister.

He married Sarah A. Judson of Stratford, Ct. and had five children.

South Reading, Mass. Nov. 5, 1645

This was a parish of Reading till 1812.

Rev. Henry Green, the first pastor, had been a minister in England. He was at Watertown in 1643 and was invited to go to Martha's Vineyard, but declined. He was an inhabitant of Reading when the church was gathered. He was ordained the day the church was organized and is called by Winthrop "a young man of good abilities and very humble behavior."

He died according to one record in May, but according to another October 11, 1648. He was probably about 40 years old.

Rev. Samuel Haugh was son of Mr. Atherton Haugh of Boston, who came to this country September 4, 1633. This son was a member of the first class in Harvard College, but for some reason did not graduate. While a member of the college he petitioned the General Court, complaining of the treatment he received as a boarder in the family of Mr. Eaton, the teacher.

He was ordained March 25, 1650 and was studious to promote the truth. While at Boston attending a synod, he was taken sick and died March 30, 1662. He may have been 40 years old. He married Sarah, daughter of Zechariah Symmes, and had six children.

Rev. John Brock was born in England in 1620, came to this country in 1637, graduated at Harvard College in 1646 and after residing there two years longer commenced preaching, first at Rowley and then at the Isle of Shoals. He went to the latter place in 1650 and continued till 1662. He was a good man, a laborious minister, preaching not only on the Sabbath, but gave frequent lectures during the week. While at the islands he persuaded the people to agree to spend one day in each month in public worship, in addition to the Sabbath. On one of these days the fishermen came to him with the request to put off the religious services, as it was fair and they had had no good weather for fishing. He endeavored to persuade them to abide by their agreement, but they persisted in their purpose to fish. He finally said to them,- "If you will neglect your duty to God, catch fish if you can." The thirty men who fished all day caught only four; the five who attended meeting went out towards night and caught 500.

Mr. Brock was a man of prayer; one who knew him said "he dwelt as near heaven as any man upon earth." He was full of faith and of the Holy Ghost. Many remarkable stories are told by Mather of the answers he received to his prayers.

He was ordained at South Reading November 13, 1662 and continued till his death, June 18, 1688, aged 68 years. Sewall says he was buried on the 19th. between two and three o'clock; he was a worthy, good minister, generally lamented. He was laborious in catechizing the youth. He married the widow of his predecessor.

Rev. Jonathan Pierpont was born in Roxbury and graduated at Harvard in 1685. He was ordained June 26, 1689 and continued here till his death, June 2, 1709, in the 44th. year of his age.

He was accustomed to preach a monthly lecture. He was a man of great worth and when he died there was a great lamentation. He was buried June 6th.

Rev. Richard Brown of Newbury graduated at Harvard in 1697 and was ordained June 25, 1702.

He died October 20, 1732, in the 58th. year of his age.

He married Martha Whipple and had several children, one of whom, Martha, was the wife of Rev. S. Wigglesworth.

Rev. William Hobby of Boston, graduated at Harvard in 1725 and was ordained September 5, 1733. He was distinguished for his piety and for his zealous advocacy of evangelical truth. He wrote an able vindication of Whitefield which was published in 1745. He published several sermons and after his death a letter was found in his study addressed to his people, which was published and entitled "Advice from the Grave". He died June 18, 1765, in the 58th. year of his age.

Rev. Caleb Prentice of Cambridge graduated at Harvard in 1765 and was ordained October 25, 1769. He was librarian of Harvard College one year previous to his ordination. He published several sermons. He died Feb'y 7, 1803, in the 57th. year of his age.

Rev. Reuben Emerson of Ashby, Mass. graduated at Dartmouth in 1798, studied theology with Rev. Mr. Page* of Hancock, N.H. and Mr. Farrar of Ipswich, and was pastor of the church in West Westminster, Vt. from 1800 to 1804. He was installed pastor of this church October 17, 1804 and continued in office till he died, March 11, 1860, aged 89 years.

South Scituate, Mass. February 2, 1642

This was the Second Church in Scituate till 1849. The organization of this church grew out of a controversy with Mr. Chauncy,* *(Or Chauncey) pastor of the First Church, on the subject of infant baptism. It was composed of those in favor of the doctrine.

Rev. William Wetherell* was a native of England and officiated in the ministry there. He came to this country in 1634; there is a tradition that his mother was a daughter of John Rogers, the martyr.

He taught school three years after his arrival in Charlestown and Cambridge. From * Spelled also "Paige".

*=In the History of Scituate the name is spelled "Witherell" instead of "Wetherell".

1638 to 1644 he was at Duxbury and September 2, 1645 he was ordained pastor of this new church. His ordination was delayed on account of the opposition of Mr. Chauncey and the ministry, but it was done at last, agreeable to the advice of ministers in the Bay, in the face of opposition. He became a paralytic about 1674 and died April 9, 1684, aged about 84 years.

He baptized 608 children; some were brought to him from neighboring towns, probably because many of the ministers were opposed to infant sprinkling. Before he died the two churches had become harmonious, through the influence, as has been said, of Mr. Baker.*

It is said that a Mr. Bryant once entered the church some time after the services had commenced, when Mr. Wetherell thus addressed him: "Neighbor Bryant, it is to your reproach that you disturb the services by coming late, living as you do within a mile; here is Goody Barstow, who has milked 7 cows, and though living five miles off was here in season."

* Rev. Nicholas Baker. See Scituate.

He had eight children; the inventory of his estate amounted to 165 pounds and his library was valued at 13 shillings.

Rev. Thomas Mighill was a native of Rowley and graduated at Harvard in 1663. He began to preach in Scituate in 1680; he was ordained October 15, 1684. His ministry here was short; he died August 26, 1689, in the 50th. year of his age. His salary was 60 pounds per annum.

Rev. Deodate Lawson was ordained in November, 1694. It is supposed he was the son of Christopher Lawson of Boston, but as there is no notice of his having graduated at Harvard, some have thought he was born and educated in England. He kept no records and after two or three years went away and returned no more. In November, 1698, the society voted that inasmuch as he had left his field of labor and had given them no account of his reasons for doing so, they would proceed to procure another minister.

Rev. Nathaniel Eells was a native of Hingham and graduated at Harvard in 1699. He was ordained June 14, 1704.

In his stature he was rather above mediocrity, with a broad chest, remarkably erect and somewhat corpulent. He was dark complexioned, dignified and commanding in his appearance, and had great influence among his people. He rode about the parish on horseback, calling at the doors, inquiring after the health of the family and sometimes handing them his pipe to be lighted. He was a man of sound judgment and a leader among the clergy at ecclesiastical councils. He was not a great preacher. He was a moderate Calvinist, verging towards Arminianism. He took a determined stand against Whitfield's influence and kept his people from the New Lights. He fitted some young men for college, among others President Clapp of Yale College. He died August 25, 1750, aged 72 years.

He married Hannah North of Hingham and had nine children.

Rev. Jonathan Dorby(or Derby)was a native of Boston and graduated at Harvard in 1747. He was ordained November 13, 1751.

He went to Hingham to exchange with Mr. Gay, was taken sick and died April 22, 1754, in the 28th. year of his age. His death was deeply lamented. He had won the affections of the people by his graceful manners and kindness.

Rev. David Barnes, son of Daniel Barnes of Marlboro, was born March 24, 1731 and graduated at Harvard in 1752. He preached at Quincy in 1753 and declined two calls from that people. He was ordained at Scituate November 27, 1754. During the Revolutionary War his salary failed almost entirely and he was obliged to live upon the patrimony received by his wife. When the people became prosperous again, he was grieved that they did not remunerate him, in part at least, for his losses during that period.

He was always an acceptable preacher, but near the meridian of life he came forward with new power and became quite a popular preacher. The degree of D.D. was conferred upon him in 1788. He was never robust, was obliged to labor in the field or walk or run in the open air to preserve his health. He was afflicted with the asthma and in consequence of a feverish state of the system was abstemious in his diet. During the last ten years of his life he was quite deaf.

In doctrine he was an Arminian. He preached on a great variety of subjects and on many that seemed not to be very evangelical, as on "The East Wind", on "Making Salt", on "Bees", &c. His acquaintance with books was not very extensive, but he was a man of genius who always thought out something that interested his people. During the latter part of his ministry, some of his people became dissatisfied with his doctrinal views. He died April 26, 1811, aged 80 years. His successor was a Unitarian.

Southwick, Mass. August 17, 1773

Rev. Abel Forward of Simsbury, Ct. graduated at Yale in 1768 and was ordained October 27, 1773. He was a faithful minister and a good man. He died January 15, 1786, aged 38 years.

Rev. Isaac Clinton graduated at Yale in 1786 and was ordained January 30, 1788. He was a man of talent. He published a work on Baptism that went through two editions. He had the faculty of getting rich with a small salary. In 1803 most of his family died of dysentery in the short space of one week. He was dismissed December 2, 1807, and removed to Lowville, N.Y., was principal of an academy and supplied destitute churches on the Sabbath. He died March 18, 1841, aged 82 years.

Rev. Dudley D. Rossiter 1816-1817

Rev. Calvin Foote 1820-1830

Rev. Elbridge G. Howe 1831-1832

Rev. Thomas Fletcher of New Ipswich, N.H. was not a graduate of any college. He was preceptor of an academy at Kinderhook, N.Y., studied with Dr. Livingston, preached at North East, N.Y. and at New Marlboro', and was installed at Southwick February 7, 1838. He was dismissed on account of ill health October 21, 1845 and died December 4, 1846, aged 58 years.

He was a man of good sense and a useful minister. He published two sermons.

South Windsor, Ct. 1690

Rev. Timothy Edwards of Hartford graduated at Harvard in 1691. As a mark of distinguished ability the degree of A.M. was conferred upon him the same day he received the degree of A.B. He was ordained pastor of this church in May, 1694 and continued in office till he died, January 27, 1758, aged 89 years.

He married Esther, a daughter of Rev. Solomon Stoddard of Northampton, Mass., by whom he had one son, the celebrated Jonathan Edwards, and 10 daughters, the average height of whom was six feet. Hence he was said to have had sixty feet of daughters.

In 1711 he was chaplain of the Connecticut troops that went to Canada. Mr. Edwards fitted for college with Mr. Glover of Springfield. He fitted his own son and each of his daughters for college. He preached extemporaneously, without using in the pulpit a skeleton of his sermon, till he was seventy years old. He is not known ever to have written out but one sermon, and that was an Election sermon published in 1732. His son often preached in his pulpit and the people used to say, "the father was more learned and animated, but the son was the deeper preacher."

Rev. Joseph Perry of Sherburne, Mass. graduated at Harvard in 1752 and was ordained colleague with Mr. Edwards June 11, 1755. He died in 1783, aged 50 years. He published three sermons.

Rev. David McClure of Boston graduated at Yale in 1769 and was ordained pastor of the church in North Hampton, N.H. August 30, 1776. He was dismissed August 30, 1785 and installed pastor of this church the same year. He continued in office till he died, June 25, 1820, aged 72 years. He received the degree of D.D. from Dartmouth.

He married (1) Hannah, daughter of Rev. Dr. Pomeroy of Hebron, by whom he had five daughters; and (2) Mrs. Betsey Martin of Providence, R.I. He published a number of sermons and addresses, besides a volume.*

Rev. Thomas Robbins, son of Rev. Ammi Robbins of Norfolk, graduated at Yale and Williams in 1796. He was pastor of this church from 1809 to 1827, of the church in Stratford one year, 1830-31, and was installed at Mattapoisett, Mass. October 16, 1832. He continued there ten years. He was from that time till his death librarian of the Connecticut

Historical Society at Hartford. He collected by economy in his other expenses, as he was a bachelor, a large library which he gave to the Historical Society, from which he received a salary for services as long as he lived.

He dressed in the style in which ministers dressed when he was young. He was a devoted antiquarian and a good and useful minister. He died at Colebrook, September 13, 1856, aged 79 years.

Rev. Samuel W. Whelpley, son of Rev. Samuel Whelpley, author of the Triangle, was not a graduate of any college. He was first pastor of a church in Plattsburgh, N.Y., and of this church from 1828 to 1830. He afterwards taught school in Providence and died about 1850. He was probably born in Stockbridge, Mass., where his father resided many years.

Rev. Bennet Tyler, 1835-52(See Portland)

Spencer, Mass. May 17, 1744

Rev. Joshua Eaton of Waltham graduated at Harvard in 1735 and studied and practiced law a few years. He acquired considerable celebrity as a lawyer, but on becoming a Christian he turned his attention to the study of theology and was ordained November 7, 1744. He was an humble and faithful pastor. Seven of his sermons were published after his death, prefaced by a sketch of his life by Dr. Fobes. He died April 2, 1772, aged 58 years.

He married Sarah Elliot of Windsor, Ct. and had seven children.

Rev. Joseph Pope of Brooklyn, Ct. graduated at Harvard in 1770 and was ordained October 20, 1773. He was a very respectable and useful minister. In 1818 he was seized with paralysis, which obliged him to relinquish his official duties. He died March 8, 1826, aged 79 years. He married Anne Hammond of Newton and had four children. She died in July, 1859, aged 105 years.

Rev. Stephen Crosby of Thompson, Ct., after being a member of Brown University three years, graduated at Union in 1814. He studied theology with Rev. Andrew Yates, D.D. of Schenectady, N.Y. and, after laboring a few months as a home missionary in western New York, was ordained pastor of this church June 8, 1818. He was dismissed May 31, 1825 and was installed at East Granby, Ct. November 22, 1826. He was dismissed in January, 1832 and was then pastor of the Presbyterian church in Penn Yan, N.Y. from 1832 to 1836. He then preached at Norwich, Ct. from 1837 to 1838 with the expectation of being installed, but his health failed and he died there of consumption, June 5, 1838 aged 48 years.

He was a man whose mind was well cultivated and well balanced, a good man and much esteemed. He married Miss Julia Cowles of Farmington, Ct., by whom he had three children.

Rev. Levi Packard of North Bridge-water graduated at Brown University in 1821, studied theology with Dr. Ide of Medway, and was settled pastor of this church June 14, 1826. He was dismissed in 1853, installed at Woonsocket, R.I. in 1854, resigned in 1856, and died at Stafford Springs, Ct. January 11, 1857, aged 64 years.

Springfield, Mass. 1637

Rev. George Moxon was the first pastor; he came to this country in 1637, having been a minister in England. He returned to England in 1632. The tradition is that he was among the ejected ministers in 1662 and that he died soon after, in great obscurity, as a common servant. He was a man of respectable talents and preached the doctrines of the Reformation. His salary was at first 45 pounds. Three children were born to him in Springfield.

Rev. Pelatiah Glover of Dorchester was educated at Harvard, though he did not graduate with his class; he was ordained June 18, 1661. He continued in office till he died, March 29, 1692, aged 55 years. His salary was 80 pounds and the use of the ministerial lands. He married Miss Hannah Parsons of Northampton.

Rev. Daniel Brewer of Roxbury, graduated at Harvard in 1687 and was ordained May 16, 1694. He continued in office till he died, November 5, 1733, aged 66 years.

He married Miss Catherine Chauncey of Hatfield, by whom he had eight children, the descendants of whom are still living in Springfield and are among the most respectable people.

Rev. Robert Breck, son of Rev. Robert Breck of Marlboro', graduated at Harvard in 1730 and was ordained January 26, 1736. His call and settlement was the occasion of a warm controversy and contention. The ministers in the county and a part of the church opposed him on account of his Arminian tendencies. After the council had assembled he was arrested by a civil officer and carried to Connecticut to be tried for an alleged offense. He was a man of great prudence and lived down the opposition.

He married (1) Eunice, the daughter of his predecessor; and (2) the widow of Rev. Edward Dorr of Hartford, Ct. He died of consumption April 23, 1784, aged 71 years.

Rev. Bezaleel Howard of Bridgewater graduated at Harvard in 1781 and was ordained April 27, 1785. In 1803 in consequence of ill health he was obliged to retire from the active duties of the ministry. He was not dismissed till a successor was ordained. He received the degree of D.D. from Harvard. He died in December, 1836, aged 83.

He was Arminian in doctrine and after his dismissal attended the Unitarian church.

Rev. Samuel Osgood of Fryeburg, Me. graduated at Dartmouth in 1805, having been a member of college two years. He studied law and nearly completed his course, when he abandoned (it) and studied theology. He commenced the study with Dr. Harris of Dorchester and completed his course with Prof. Samuel Stanhope Smith at Princeton, N.J. It was under his instruction that his theological views became clear and settled. He was ordained January 25, 1809; Dr. Harris preached the sermon.

He was a man of more than ordinary ability, had an uncommon share of executive talent and more taste for business than for severe and continued study. He nobly sustained himself in the Unitarian conflict in his parish from 1812 to 1819, when his opponents withdrew. He published a sermon in 1849, preached at the fortieth anniversary of his settlement. He relinquished his pastoral duties in 1854 and had a colleague. His health began to fail soon after. He died December 8, 1867, aged 78 years and 10 months.

Rev. Samuel W. Strong, son of Rev.

William Strong, formerly of Somers, Ct.,
graduated at Yale in 1843, studied theology
at New Haven, and was ordained March 27, 1850. His health failed and he resigned in 1852. He studied law and commenced practice in Reading, Pa., where he died of typhoid fever April 16, 1856, aged 34 years.

He married Miss Abiah Root of Ag-awam, by whom he had one child. He was a young man of talent and beloved by all that knew him.

Stafford, Ct. Second Church (West) Oct. 31, 1764.

Rev. Isaac Foster was not a graduate of any college. He was ordained the day the church was organized and was deposed from the ministry January 16, 1787 for embracing the doctrine of universal salvation. He lived in the place till he died, March 24, 1807, in the 85th. year of his age. He had four sons that were ministers; John, Dan, Isaac and Emerson.

After Mr. Foster was deposed the church was without a pastor many years.

Rev. Calvin Ingalls of Pomfret was not a graduate of any college. He was pastor of this church from December, 1796 to March, 1803. He was afterwards in the employ of the Connecticut Missionary Society in Vermont and New York. He returned to Stafford about 1820 and was chosen a deacon of the church. He died in this place in September, 1830, aged 70 years.

He married a daughter of Rev. Ezra Horton of Union. (Ct.)

Wethersfield and was engaged in agricultural pursuits. He removed to Stamford and is supposed to have been ordained in 1641. He remained about four years when, becoming displeased with the government of the Colony, he went to Long Island and began the town of Hampstead, where he remained till his death in 1663.

Mather says: "He was a little man but had a great soul, his well accomplished mind in his lesser body was an Iliad in a nut shell. He was blind with one eye, but was not the least among the seers of Israel."

Rev. John Bishop left England before he had completed his studies and finished them in this country. The church of Stamford sent two of their members in search of a minister; they traveled on foot to Boston and Mr. Bishop returned with them, on foot, and carried his great Bible under his arm, which is still preserved among his descendants. He was settled in 1644 and preached here till he died in 1694.

Rev. John Davenport, grandson of the first minister of New Haven, succeeded Mr. Bishop. He graduated at Harvard (in) 1687 and was ordained in 1694. The original languages in which the Scriptures were written were almost as familiar as his mother tongue. He read in his family either the Greek or Hebrew Bible. He was a faithful minister, devout and exemplary; he was bold in reproving sin and pungent in his addresses to the conscience. He continued in office till he died, February 5, 1731, in the 62nd. year of his age.

He married (1) Widow Martha Sellick (Gould), by whom he had four children, one of whom, Sarah, was the wife of Rev. Eleazer Wheelock; and (2) Widow Elizabeth Maltby (Morris), by whom he had two sons.

Rev. Ebenezer Wright graduated at Yale in 1724 and was pastor of this church from May, 1732 till he died, in May, 1746. He married Hannah Allyn and his daughter Hannah was the wife of Rev. Ebenezer Kellogg of Vernon.

Rev. Noah Wells of Colchester graduated at Yale in 1741, taught school in Hartford, was tutor in college one year, and was ordained December 31, 1746.

He published on the subject of Presbyterian ordination a large pamphlet of 200 pages against Episcopacy, besides other controversial pamphlets. He received the degree of D.D. from Nassau Hall and was a trustee of Yale College.

He married Miss Abigail Woolsey of Oyster Bay, Long Island, by whom he had 13 children. He died December 31, 1776, aged 58 years. His wife died in 1811.

Rev. John L. Avery, 1782-1791

Rev. Daniel Smith graduated at Yale in 1791, studied theology with Rev. C. M. Smith of Sharon, was ordained June 13, 1793, and continued in office till he died in 1846, aged 78 years. Rev. John Mellen of Hopkinton graduated at Harvard in 1741 and was ordained the day the church was organized. He was a man of more than ordinary talent and in 1760 was said to stand at the head of the clergy in that county. Many of the ministers in that part of the state were Arminian in doctrine, while the churches were more thoroughly Calvinistic. Mr. Rogers of Leominster was dismissed because the church was decidedly opposed to the doctrines he preached. In 1770 complaints were made against Mr. Mellen for errors in doctrine and mal-administration. He was exonerated by a council from the charges brought against him; an ex parte council was called, but it did nothing. It was manifest to the people that the clergy, being all in the same condemnation, were determined to sustain each other, and therefore they took the matter into their own hands and in November, 1778 declared the pastoral relation between them and Mr. Mellen dissolved. He continued to preach to a few adherents for a time at his own house.

In 1784 he was installed at Hanover in Plymouth County. In 1805 by reason of age and infirmity he requested to be relieved and removed to Reading, where he died at the house of his son-in-law July 4, 1807, aged 85 years.

In 1765 he published a volume of doctrinal sermons and at sundry times eleven occasional sermons. He was a man of talent and made an impression upon the age in which he lived.

Rev. Reuben Holcomb of Simsbury, Ct. graduated at Yale in 1774 and was ordained June 2, 1779. He was dismissed June 14, 1814, but continued to reside in the place till he died, October 18, 1826, aged 74 years.

He was a man of respectable talents, sound judgment and during his ministry the church and society was harmonious and prosperous.

Rev. John Sergeant of Newark, N.J.
graduated at Yale in 1729, studied theology while a tutor in the college, and was ordained at Deerfield August 31, 1735 pastor of this church. Rev. Mr. Appleton of Cam-and other state officials were present. He continued in office till he died, July 27, 1849, aged 39 years. His disease was a nervous fever.

He married Abigail Williams, by whom he had three children. His son John was pastor of the Indian church at New Stockbridge. His widow married Gen. Joseph Dwight.
He was a good man, devoted to his work and highly esteemed by all that knew him.

Rev. Stephen West of Tolland, Ct.

graduated at Yale in 1755, studied theology with Rev. Mr. Woodbridge of Hatfield, and was ordained June 13, 1759. He was an Arminian in theology, but in a discussion with Dr. Samuel Hopkins, then at Great Barrington, he was led to embrace the Calvinistic system. It was his belief that he knew nothing of experimental piety prior to this change in his theological views. He was a man of rare talent, a close reasoner, a man of great method, a devoted and useful minister. He received the degree of D.D. from Dartmouth in 1792. He used only a brief of a sermon in the pulpit and as an expounder of the Scriptures had few equals.

He married (1) Miss Elizabeth, daughter of Col. Ephraim Williams; (2) Miss Eleanor Dewey of Sheffield. He published a work on Moral Agency, one on the Atonement, besides twelve or fifteen sermons. He was dismissed at his own preached in Southbridge, Carver and Lynnfield Center as stated supply.

He was an earnest and devoted minister, having some marked peculiarities. He published several sermons and two volumes of original and selected matter. He was appointed Hospital Chaplain in the army, and died at Morehead City, N.C., November 18, 1864, aged 44 years.

He married Harriet L. Wheeler of Concord.

Stonington, Ct. June 9, 1674

Rev. James Noyes, son of Rev. James Noyes of Newbury, Mass., graduated at Harvard in 1659 and began to preach here in 1664. He was not ordained till Sept. 1674. He continued in office till he died, December 30, 1719, in the 80th. year of his age. The fact that he continued to preach to the same people more than fifty years is a strong testimonial in his favor. He married Dorothy Stanton.

After his death the town was divided into two parishes, North and South.

Rev. Ebenezer Rossiter, son of Josiah Rossiter, was the 17th. child and graduated at Yale in 1718. He was ordained December 19, 1722 and was dismissed in 1730. He died October 11, 1762, aged 63 years.

He married Hannah, daughter of Rev. Ebenezer White of Long Island and had eight children.

Rev. Nathaniel Eells, son of Rev. Nathaniel Eells of Scituate, Mass., graduated at Harvard in 1728 and was ordained July 14, 1733. He continued in office till he died in 1786, aged 76 years. He published an Election sermon in 1748.

Rev. Hezekiah N. Woodruff of Farmington graduated at Yale in 1784, and was pastor of this church from 1789 to 1803. He afterwards preached in Scipio, Aurora and Manlius, N.Y., and died at Oneida Village August 11, 1833, aged 71 years. He published two ordination sermons.

Rev. Ira Hart graduated at Yale in 1777 and was pastor of the church in Middlebury, Ct. from 1798 to 1809. He was installed pastor of this church December 6, 1810 and continued in office till he died, October 29, 1829, aged 59 years. Stoughton, Mass. August 10, 1744

Rev. Jedediah Adams of Roxbury graduated at Harvard in 1733 and was ordained February 19, 1746. He continued in office till he died, February 25, 1799, aged 88 years.

Rev. Edward Richmond of Middleborough graduated at Brown in 1789 and was ordained colleague pastor December 5, 1792. He received the degree of D.D. from Brown in 1815, resigned his charge January 15, 1817, was installed pastor of a Unitarian church in Dorchester Village June 25 of the same year, resigned in 1833, and resided several years in Braintree. He died in Boston April 10, 1842, aged 75 years. He received the degree of D.D. from Brown.

Rev. Ebenezer Gay 1818-1822

Rev. Calvin Park of Northbridge graduated at Brown in 1797 and received the degree of D.D. in 1818. He studied theology with Dr. Austin of Worcester, was seven years professor of languages in Brown University, and fourteen years professor of moral philosophy and metaphysics. He resigned in 1825. He was ordained as an evangelist by the Mendon Association in 1815 and installed pastor at Stoughton December 13, 1826. He resigned in 1840, but continued to reside in the place till he died, January 5, 1847, in the 73rd. year of his age.

He married Abigail Ware of Wrentham, by whom he had three sons,- Rev. Harrison G., Prof. Edward A. of Andover, and Rev. Calvin E. of West Boxford. Dr. Park was a faithful teacher, a conscientious, pious and devout man, a good scholar and a sound divine.

Rev. Henry Eddy 1840-45

Rev. Albert Perry of New Ipswich,

N.H. was not a graduate of any college, though he received an education at the academy in his native place that was nearly equivalent. He graduated at Andover in 1850, was ordained pastor of this church January 8, 1851, and was dismissed April 13, 1856 in consequence of ill health. Consumption fastened upon him and he returned to his father's house, where he remained till he died, June 17, 1862, aged 41 years. He was a good scholar and a good minister.

Stowe, Vermont November 21, 1818

Stowe, Mass. 1703?

It is very uncertain when the church was organized in this town. In the American Quarterly Register it is said to have been in 1699, but the second pastor of the church (see Mass. Hist. Coll. 10, p.83) says the first pastor received a call May 13, 1700, and he thinks the organization of the church and his ordination did not take place till three or four years after. According to this statement it was not organized earlier than 1703.

In 1686 Mr. William Woodrop, supposed by some to be Woodroff, began to preach here. Arrangements were then made for organizing a church and ordaining him their pastor. He was from Scotland; came to this country in 1674, leaving his wife in Scotland. It seems that after accepting a call to settle he received intelligence from his wife that she could not come to him and he must return to her.

It was a question among the good people of Stowe whether it was right for him to violate his engagement to them on the ground that his wife had prior claim. They asked advice of some magistrates and ministers, who agreed that he was under prior obligation to his wife. He accordingly sailed for Scotland July 12, 1687.

Rev. John Eveleth, son of Sylvester Eveleth of Gloucester, graduated at Harvard in 1689 and began to preach at Manchester the same year. He appears to have left there in 1695 and went to Stowe. He received a call in 1700, but was not ordained till about 1703. He was dismissed in December, 1717. It is said he was settled again at Arundel, Me., now Kennebunkport, but that cannot be, for the church was not organized there till 1730. He probably preached there and at Biddeford until about 1729. He died at Kittery, Me., August 1, 1734, aged 65 years.

He married Mary Bowman of Cambridge and had one child.

Rev. John Gardner, a native of Charlestown, graduated at Harvard in 1715 and was ordained November 26, 1718. His salary was 70 pounds. The church at his settlement consisted of fifteen male members and about the same number of females. He continued here till his death, January 10, 1775, in the 80th. year of his age. He educated three sons at Harvard; Francis was minister of Leominster and Henry State Treasurer.

Rev. Jonathan Newell of Needham graduated at Harvard (in) 1770, was ordained October 11, 1774, and continued here till his death, October 4, 1830, in the 81st. year of his age. He published two sermons; one a century after the settlement of the town, and the other half a century after his ordination.

This church became Unitarian after his decease.

Strafford, Vermont 1820

(Strafford, Vt. 1820)

This church had no settled pastor for several years but, like many others in this state, had stated supplies.

The first settled pastor was

Rev. Adonijah H. Cutter, who graduated at Bangor in 1839 and was ordained pastor here June 2, 1841. He remained pastor several years and was installed at Hanover Centre*in November, 1850. He was dismissed in 1857 and preached as stated supply at Nelson, N.H., where he died July 17, 1860.

Stratford, Ct. 1640

Rev. Adam Blackman was a minister in England prior to his coming to America. He preached a short time in Scituate, Mass. and afterward in Guilford in this state. He was pastor of this church from its organization till 1665, when he died.

Mather says,- "Notwithstanding his name, he was purer than snow and whiter than milk". Mr. Hooker of Hartford so admired his preaching that he said he should prefer to live and die under his ministry than that of any other man. He had five children; one of his sons was minister of Malden, Mass.

Rev. Israel Chauncey, son of President Chauncey of Harvard College, graduated at Harvard in 1661 and was ordained pastor of this church in 1665. He continued in office till he died, March 14, 1703, aged 58 years. He was distinguished as a physician as well as (a) divine. He left two sons.

During the ministry of Mr. Chauncey Mr. Zechariah Walker preached in the place and organized a second church. He was ordained May 5, 1670 and continued till 1678, when he removed to Woodbury, and his church with him, and commenced a settlement there. (See Woodbury)

Rev. Timothy Cutler of Charlestown, Mass. graduated at Harvard in 1701 and was ordained January 11, 1709. In 1719 he was chosen president of Yale College; in 1722 he became an Episcopalian, resigned and went to England for ordination. He received the degree of D.D. from Oxford, was settled over Christ church in Boston, Mass., where he remained till he died, August 17, 1765, aged 82 years. He was a man of strong powers of mind, but haughty and overbearing in his manners. He spoke Latin fluently and was a good Arabic scholar.

Rev. Hezekiah Gold graduated at Harvard in 1719 and was pastor of this church from 1722 to 1752. He died in 1761, aged about 63 years. He was the seventh son of Nathan Gold of Fairfield.

Rev. Israhiah Wetmore graduated at Yale in 1748 and was pastor of this church from 1753 to 1780, and of Trumbull from 1783 till he died in 1798, aged 69 years.

Rev. Joseph Adams of Newbury graduated at Harvard in 1742. He was ordained, or as one writer says installed, June 24, 1756 and died February 24, 1785, aged 66 years. He preached here some years prior to his ordination, before the death of Mr. Rust.

He was a Calvinist and a New Light. In the latter part of his life Mr. Adams admitted that he had said things in public and private that had a tendency to injure the influence of ministers and to divide churches. He confessed his fault and was at peace with his brethren. He was unable to preach for some time previous to his death on account of bodily infirmity and mental imbecility. He married Widow Mary Greenleaf of Newburyport.

Rev. James Miltimore of London-derry graduated at Dartmouth in 1774 and was ordained pastor of this church February 11, 1786. He was dismissed October 16, 1806 and was pastor of the Belleville Church in Newburyport, Mass. from April, 1808 till he died, March 23, 1836, aged 83 years. graduated at Harvard in 1730 and was ordained the day the church was organized. His salary, if it had been paid in silver, would have been only $96. a year. His settlement was $160.; but he had 50 cords of wood annually and owned 500 acres of land.

He is said to have been "a pastor after God's heart, sound in faith, a good preacher, endued with excellent ministerial gifts and very exemplary in his life as well as social and benevolent in his deportment." He died on Lord's Day, September 2, 1859, in the 47th. year of his age.

In 1747 fifteen persons, who were then called "New Lights", separated from the church and supported a meeting among themselves. They continued to be taxed according to the laws of the state, which occasioned an unhappy and prolonged controversy. Most of the separates finally became Baptists and a part of them, not being willing to give up infant baptism and be close communionists, returned to the parent church.

Rev. Joshua Paine of Pomfret, Ct., did not graduate at any college. He was ordained June 17, 1761. He received a settlement of 200 pounds and an annual salary of 66 pounds.

He is represented as "a man of highly respectable talents, an impressive speaker, much esteemed by his people and one who left behind him a salutary and lasting influence." He died December 28, 1799, in the 65th. year of his age. Two of his sons graduated at Harvard; Joshua was settled at Charlestown in 1787 and died the next year; and John studied law and settled in his native town.

Rev. Otis Lane of Mansfield graduated at Harvard in 1798 and was ordained July 9, 1801. He was dismissed February 24, 1819. After being in the employ of the Domestic Missionary Society for a time, he was pastor of the church in Voluntown, Ct. from October, 1828 to September, 1834 when, his health failing, he resigned, moved to Southbridge, and resided with his son till he died, May 6, 1842, aged 72 years. He was an evangelical preacher, and a good man, esteemed for his piety and correct Christian deportment.

He married (1) Abigail P. Clapp of Mansfield; (2) Elizabeth, the daughter of his predecessor, and had five children.

Rev. Joseph S. Clarke of Plymouth graduated at Amherst in 1827, at Andover in 1831, and was ordained pastor of this church December 21 of the last named year. He resigned in 1840 to accept the secretaryship of the Massachusetts Missionary Society, which office he held till 1857, when failing health compelled him to cease from so arduous labors. After that he devoted what strength he had to the Congregational Library Association.

He resided at West Newton, but died at Plymouth, where he was born, of bilious colic, August 17, 1861, aged 60 years. He was buried at West Newton. He received the degree of D.D. from Amherst College and was one of its trustees.

He was a man of talent, useful, laborious, and beloved by all that knew him. He published a history of the Congregational churches of Massachusetts.

Sudbury, Mass. August 16, 1640

Rev. Edmund Brown was ordained on the day the church was organized. He came to this country in 1637, having been a minister in England. He continued here till his death. He was taken sick in March and died June 22, 1677. He is called by Johnson "a godly and able minister of the Word".

His salary at first was 40 pounds, one half in money and half in produce. He preached the Artillery Election sermon in 1666 and was one of the 17 ministers that signed the Testimony against the proceedings of the First Church in Boston in regard to the settlement of Mr. Davenport.

Rev. James Sherman was son of Rev. John Sherman of Watertown. He was not a graduate and where he was educated is not known. He began to preach at Sudbury in 1677 and is supposed to have been ordained in the early part of 1679. He was dismissed, says one account, in 1705; another says he was in that year deposed from the pastoral office. I think, however, "deposed" is here used (as) synonymous with "dismissed", for he preached occasionally in the neighboring towns. He supplied the pulpit in Dracut for a time, receiving fifteen shillings a Sabbath. June 17, 1717 they voted to discharge him and provide a young minister. He continued to reside in Sudbury till his death, March

Rev. Israel Loring, a native of Hull, graduated at Harvard in 1701 and was ordained November 20, 1706. The meeting house was on the east side of the river, but the majority of the people resided on the west side. In 1722 the town was divided into two parishes, and the church was also divided. They permitted Mr. Loring to take the charge of which he pleased. He preferred the West Church and removed to that side of the river. He continued here till his death, March 9, 1772, in the 90th. year of his age.

He continued his public ministrations to the last and would have preached the Sabbath prior to his death if he had not had a clerical visitor on that day. He was a venerable man, able, faithful and useful. He preached the Election and Convention sermons, appointments for which showed in those days the estimation in which a man was held. He published ten sermons.

He married Mary Hayman of Charlestown, by whom he had seven children.

Rev. Jacob Bigelow was born in Waltham, graduated at Harvard in 1766 and was ordained November 11, 1772. He died September 6, 1816, aged 74, having been unable to do much for some time on account of ill health. He was father of Dr. Bigelow, Professor of Materia Medica at Harvard University.

Rev. Timothy Hilliard of Kensington, N.H. graduated at Harvard in 1809, studied theology at Cambridge, and was ordained June 1, 1814. He was dismissed September 26, 1815, studied medicine and, having practiced for a time, turned his attention to teaching. He died in 1847.

Rev. Rufus Hurlburt of Southampton graduated at Harvard in 1813 and was ordained February 26, 1817. He possessed an unusual share of natural amiableness and was greatly beloved. In the latter part of his life he became more decidedly evangelical. He died May 11, 1839, aged 52 years, leaving a widow and six children.

Sudbury, Vermont 1795

Rev. Silas Parsons of Northampton, Mass. was not a graduate of any college; he studied theology with Rev. Joseph Field of Charlemont, Mass., and was pastor of this church from January, 1806 to 1816. He removed to the state of New York and died at Niagara in 1839, aged 78 years.

Rev. Mason Knapen 1819-1830(See Orwell)

Rev. John Thompson of Johnstown graduated at Middlebury in 1826 and at Princeton in 1828. He was a missionary among the Cherokee Indians in Georgia from 1828 to 1832, a Home Missionary in Ohio from 1832 to 1834, and pastor of this church from January 1833^{*} to February, 1837, of a church in Granville, N.Y. from 1837 to 1840, and of the church in Winchester, N.H. from 1840 till he died, April 3, 1846, aged 47 years.

Suffield, Ct. March 20, 1694

Rev. Benjamin Ruggles of Roxbury, Mass. graduated at Harvard in 1693 and was ordained April 26, 1698. He continued in office till he died, September 5, 1708, aged 54 years. He died at Roxbury while there on a visit.

He married Mercy, daughter of Rev. John Woodbridge of Wethersfield and had seven children.

Rev. Ebenezer Devotion of Brookline, Mass. graduated at Harvard in 1707 and was ordained June 28, 1710. He married Naomi, a daughter of Rev. Edward Taylor of Westfield, Mass. He continued in office till he died, April 11, 1741, aged 57 years. His son Ebenezer was minister of a church in Windham.

Rev. Ebenezer Gay of Dedham, Mass. graduated at Harvard in 1737, studied theology with his uncle, Dr. Gay of Hingham, and was ordained in January, 1742. He continued in office till he died, March 7, 1796, in the 78th. year of his age.

He married Mary Cushing of Scituate, Mass., by whom he had four children. He received the degree of D.D. from Harvard in 1792. His funeral sermon by Dr. Lathrop of West Springfield was published. He was a man of strong mind and superior learning, of unshaken fortitude and inflexible integrity. He was an able minister and faithful in the performance of his duties. His manuscript sermons are the neatest I have ever seen. The chirography is excellent; there are no erasures and seldom is a word interlined.

Rev. Ebenezer Gay, son of the preceding, graduated at Yale in 1787 and was tutor in the college some years. He was ordained colleague with his father March 6, 1793 and was sole pastor after his death. He continued in office till he died, January 1st., 1837, aged 71 years. He was relieved from the performance of pastoral duties in 1826 and ceased to receive any salary, though he retained his pastoral relation till he died.

Suffield, Ct. West Suffield September, 1746

Rev. John Graham, son of Rev.

John Graham of Southbury, Ct., was born in Exeter, N.H., graduated at Yale in 1740 and was ordained at the time the church was organized. Rev. Jonathan Edwards of Northampton was one of the ordaining council. His salary was 50 pounds a year and his settlement 150. He continued in office till he died, April 22, 1796, in the 74th. year of his age.

He married (1) Mary Sheldon of Suffield, by whom he had ten children; and (2) Widow Smith, daughter of Isaac King, by whom he had seven children.

The whole seventeen were living at the time of his decease. The youngest was the late Sylvester Graham, Lecturer on Dietetics.

Mr. Graham's father was born and educated in Scotland. At the time of his settlement in this parish he found education in a low state. He selected 14 active young men from the families of his parishioners and instructed them gratuitously till they were qualified for business. One of them became his bitter enemy, but the others were his firm friends.

Rev. Daniel Waldo of Scotland graduated at Yale in 1788, was licensed in 1789, and ordained pastor of this church in May, 1792; and was dismissed in December, 1809. He preached a while at Lisbon and spent some time in New York and Pennsylvania in the em-

Congregational Missionary Society, and was pastor of the church in Exeter Parish in Lebanon from September, 1823 to September, 1834. He was then more than 70 years old and took up his residence in Central New York, preaching occasionally as he had opportunity.

He was remarkable for his smartness and for his mental and physical vigor. It was this that secured for him an election to the chaplaincy of the Congress of the United States in 1850, when he was 88 years old. While at Washington his friends ascertained that he had been a Revolutionary soldier, was entitled to an annual pension and to back pay for a number of years. At the close of the session he found himself in possession of about $6,000., including salary and all. In this way his remaining days were made comfortable. He preached several times after he was 100 years old. He died at Syracuse, N.Y.

July 30, 1864, aged 102 years lacking one month.

Rev. Joseph Mix of New Haven was not a graduate of any college. He became pious after he was settled in business and studied theology with Dr. Yates of East Hartford. He was ordained in 1815 and dismissed in 1830. He removed to Westfield, Mass. and resided there till he died of dropsy, August 4, 1833, aged 68 years. He was a good man and respected by his people.

Mr. Mix was thrice married; (1) to Mary Hubbel of Wilton, by whom he had one child; (2) Mary Phipps of New Haven, by whom he had one child; and (3) Hannah Keep of Longmeadow, who died at Westfield in 1863, aged 80 years.

Sullivan, N.H. October 17, 1791

Rev. William Muzzy of Lexington,

Mass. graduated at Harvard in 1793 and was ordained February 7, 1798. They gave him $500. to build a house, a salary of 65 pounds to be increased to 75 pounds.

He was dismissed May 22, 1827 and removed to his native place, where he died April 16, 1835, aged 63 years.

Sunderland, Vermont February 28, 1785

There were two churches organized here. There was a lot of land belonging to the town which was to be the property of the first minister that should be settled in the town. There was a strife to see which would ordain its minister first. Both were ordained the same day, Dr. Lee over the North Church and Mr. Sherwin over the South. The Court decided that Mr.

Sherwin was ordained two minutes before
Dr. Lee.

Sunderland, Mass. January 1, 1718

Rev. Joseph Willard of Saybrook, Ct., whose ancestors resided in Lancaster, graduated at Yale in 1714 and was ordained the day the church was organized. He was dismissed in 1721 and was invited to settle in Rutland. He accepted the invitation and was to have been installed in the autumn of 1723, but August 14 he was attacked by some Indians, while out in the field, and killed. He mortally wounded one of the Indians and would have conquered a second, but another party came to the rescue of their companion, and he was slain, being 31 years old. He was a man of great personal bravery. He married Susan Lynde and had one son.

1. The first step is to identify the problem or question that needs to be answered. This involves understanding the context and the specific requirements of the task.

Rev. William Rand 1724-45(See Kingston)

Rev. Joseph Ashley of Westfield graduated at Yale in 1730 and was settled at Winchester, N.H. November 12, 1736. He was dismissed in 1745 in consequence of Indian troubles. He was installed over this church in 1747 and continued here till he died, February 8, 1797, in the 88th. year of his age. On account of some difficulties between himself and the people, he ceased to perform pastoral duties in December, 1784, but retained his relation to the church till he died.

He married Anna Dewey of Westfield, by whom he had five children. He was a man of sound judgment, of exemplary life, a firm believer in the doctrines of grace, respected by the people and esteemed by his brethren in the ministry.

Rev. Asa Lyon of Pomfret, Ct. graduated at Dartmouth in 1790, studied theology with Dr. Backus of Somers, Ct., and was ordained October 24, 1792. He was dismissed in 1794 and went to Vermont. He preached at South Hero, in 1795 gathered a church there, and was installed its pastor December 21, 1802. He continued his labors till prevented by sickness in 1840 and died April 4, 1841, aged 77 years.

He married Esther, daughter of Rev. Abel Newell of Charlotte, Vt., by whom he had six children. He published a few sermons, besides several orations and addresses. He was in some respects a remarkable man. He held many civil offices, was for many years a member of the state legislature, was nine years judge of the county court, one of the Governor's Council, and a member of Congress.

He was a highly esteemed minister and Calvinistic in doctrine. In the pulpit he was solemn and prayed as if none stood between him and God. In his last will and testament he directed that his body should be put into a pine coffin, painted black, without any ornaments, or anything to indicate his name or age, and that no monument be erected over his grave.

Rev. David H. Williston, son of Rev. Noah Williston of Orange, Ct., and brother of Rev. Payson Williston of East Hampton, graduated at Yale in 1787, studied theology with Rev. Mr. Storrs of Longmeadow, and was ordained at Tunbridge, Vt. June 26, 1793. He was dismissed in 1802 and installed here July 8, 1804, and again dismissed July 17, 1806. He returned to Tunbridge and resided there till he died, October 29, 1845, aged 77 years. He preached as a missionary in Vermont and Maine. His piety and devotion to the cause of Christ were unquestionable. He was somewhat eccentric. His wife and children died several years before him. He lived in a large house alone and was unwilling to have any one with him.

Rev. James Taylor of Westfield graduated at Williams in 1804, studied theology with Rev. John Taylor of Deerfield and was ordained July 22, 1807. He married a daughter of Rev. John Taylor, by whom he had a large family of children. He died while in office of typhus fever, October 11, 1831, aged 43 years. His wife died on the 16th. of the same disease.

He possessed a sound, active mind, had great decision of character and was strictly evangelical. He was of medium height and rather corpulent. He was active in his efforts to found and build up Amherst College and was one of its trustees.

Rev. Henry B. Holmes 1833-35

Rev. Solomon B. Ingram of Amherst graduated at Amherst in 1831, studied theology in part at Andover and was ordained December 28, 1836. He died June 2, 1840, aged 33 years.

He was a very useful minister, fond of study, and fed his flock with knowledge. He was not a showy preacher, but a man whose influence was good.

Rev. Austin Carey of North Bridgewater, graduated at Amherst in 1837 and at East Windsor, Ct. in 1840. He was ordained November 11 of the last named year and labored with great fidelity and success till he died, November 27, 1849, aged 40 years. He was a very spiritually minded man, winning in his manners, firm in friendship and frank and generous. In doctrine he was uncorrupt and his sermons were fitted to awaken men and call their attention to the subject of religion. He died of typhus fever brought upon him by watching long over a sick wife. She recovered, but he died. His dying struggles were severe, but his soul was full of peace. His widow has since married Rev. Matthew Kingman of Bethel, Vt.

Surry, New Hampshire June 12, 1769

Rev. David Darling of Wrentham, Mass., graduated at Yale in 1779 and was ordained January 18, 1781. He was dismissed December 30, 1783, "difficulties having arisen on account of a marriage." He removed to Keene and died there much respected in 1835, aged 82 years.

Rev. Perley Howe of Marlborough, Mass. graduated at Dartmouth in 1790 and was ordained September 16, 1795. He was dismissed in 1837, having departed from the faith of the original church, at which time the church was reorganized with an orthodox confession of faith. He died in November, 1840, aged 78 years.

Sutton, Mass. 1720

Rev. John McKinstry 1720-28(See Ellington)

Rev. David Hall of Yarmouth

graduated at Harvard in 1724 and was ordained October 15, 1729. His mother was a daughter of Rev. John Miller, the first minister of Yarmouth. He received the degree of D.D. from Dartmouth in 1777. He married Elizabeth Prescott of Concord, by whom he had twelve children. Deborah, his youngest daughter, was the wife of Rev. Daniel Grosvenor of Grafton.

He was an eminently spiritual man and devoted to the work of winning souls to Christ. Soon after his settlement there was a powerful revival among his people. His influence was felt very extensively in the great revival in Whitfield's day. He was an intimate friend of Rev. Jonathan Edwards and was on the council that dismissed him. He was a powerful and pungent preacher. He died May 8, 1789, in the 85th. year of his age. He published two sermons.

Rev. Edmund Mills of Kent, Ct., brother of Rev. Samuel J. Mills of Torrington, Ct., graduated at Yale in 1775 and, after preaching in various places, was ordained over this church June 23, 1790, and continued here till he died, November 7, 1825, aged 73 years. At his settlement here he had to encounter the spirit of infidelity, but was greatly blessed in his labors. He was an uncommon man and secured the respect of all who knew him. He was a man of talent, taste, kindness and devoted piety.

He married Mrs. Abigail M. Packard, widow of Rev. Winslow Packard of Wilmington, Vt., by whom he had five children.

Swampscott, (Mass.) July 15, 1846

It was a church in Lynn till 1853.

Swanville, Maine June 1, 1826

Swansey, N.H. November 4, 1741

Rev. Timothy Harrington, 1741-48(See Lancaster)

Rev. Ezra Carpenter of Rehoboth, Mass. graduated at Harvard in 1720 and was pastor of the church in Hull, Mass. from 1725 to 1750. The churches of Swansey and Keene united with their congregations, and Mr. Carpenter was installed pastor of the two October 4, 1753. In 1760 the union was dissolved and he remained pastor of the Swansey church until 1769. Rev. Dr. Gay of Hingham (Mass.) preached at his installation. He died at Walpole, August 26, 1785, aged 86 years.

Rev. Edward Goddard of Shrewsbury, Mass. graduated at Harvard in 1764 and was ordained September 27, 1769. The people were remarkably united; there were no Christians of any other denomination in the place. They were distinguished for their correct deportment.

Mr. Goddard was dismissed July 5, 1798, but resided in the place till he died, October 13, 1811, aged 66. He married Lois Howe of Shrewsbury, Mass. and had seven children.

Rev. Clark Brown 1810-15(See Brimfield)

Rev. Joshua Chandler 1819-22

Rev. Ebenezer Coleman 1827-34(See Tiverton)

Sweden, Maine November 4, 1817

Rev. Eaton Mason graduated at Waterville College in 1830 and was ordained pastor of this church September 30, 1835. He was dismissed in 1844, preached at Dixfield a few months and died in 1845, aged about 38 years.

Rev. John P. Foster of Holden, Mass., graduated at Amherst in 1834 and at Andover in 1838. He spent some time as a Home Missionary at the West, returned and was settled here in 1848. In March, 1851, overcome by disease, which commenced its ravages while at the West, he relinquished his pastoral charge and died at Oxford, Mass., April 27, 1851, aged 44 years. He was a good man and a useful minister.

He married Mary A. Hurd of Oxford, Mass. and left two daughters.

Tamworth, N.H. September 12, 1792

Rev. Samuel Hidden of Rowley, Mass. graduated at Dartmouth in 1791. There was at first a strong prejudice against a college-learned man. The church was composed of Congregationalists, and of Calvinistic and Free Will Baptists. His salary was 33 pounds, to be increased to 50 pounds. In 1806 it was $200. He was ordained the day the church was organized, in the open air, a rock being used for a pulpit. In 1800 there was a great revival in this and neighboring towns; the number of conversions was 300. Mr. Hidden continued in office till he died, February 13, 1837, aged 77 years.

He was a meek, humble, pious man, a lover of learning and a promoter of it. He led the choir for many years.

Rev. William L. Buffett of Greenwich, Ct. graduated at Yale in 1819 and at Andover in 1823. He was settled first in Atwater, Ohio, and installed over this church July 17, 1837. He was dismissed April 22, 1842 and returned to Ohio. He died at Perrysville, Ind., August 29, 1856, aged 57 years.

He married Widow Mary M. Pratt (Latimer) of Hartford, Ct. A good man.

Taunton, Mass. 1638

Rev. William Hooke was born in Hampshire County, England, entered Oxford in 1616 and took his master's degree in 1623. He took orders in the Episcopal Church and preached at Axmouth several years. He became obnoxious to the ruling powers in consequence of his non-conformity and came to America probably in 1637. He was chosen pastor of the church at the time of its organization; he resigned his charge in 1640 and became pastor of the church in New Haven, Ct. He was a brother-in-law of Gen. Whalley, one of the regicide judges. His wife was a relation of Oliver Cromwell.

He was a man of considerable eminence. He was, however, a man of humble pretensions. According to custom he preached his own ordination sermon at New Haven, from Judges 7:10,- "Go thou with Phurah thy servant", the main idea of which was that a little help in a great work was better than none. Being associated as he was with the great Davenport, it was but little comparatively that he could do.

The Congregational interest in England seeming likely to triumph, he felt himself drawn towards his native land and in 1656 returned to England. He there became Cromwell's domestic chaplain and was for a time associated with the celebrated John Howe. He died March 21, 1678, aged 77 years, and was buried in the cemetery of Bunhill Fields. Several of his sermons were printed.

Rev. Nicholas Street was a native of England. Dr. Bacon says he was settled in 1638 as colleague with Mr. Hooke; but the American Quarterly Register, on the authority of one who had examined the records, says he was settled in 1641. About this time Cotton Mather says the fondness of the people in the Plymouth Colony for "the preachments of the brethren", as were called the exhortations of laymen, greatly discouraged the ministers. Almost all the ministers left the colony "apprehending themselves to be driven away by the insupportable neglect and contempt with which the people treated them." Mr. Street being a particular friend of Mr. Hooke, when he returned to England he advised the church at New Haven to procure the services of Mr. Street. They did not, however, give him a formal call.

Mr. Street resigned his charge at Taunton, removed to New Haven and was finally ordained there September 26, 1659. He continued to preach there till his death, April 22, 1674. He is represented as having been "a pious, judicious, modest man." He was no inferior preacher or he would not have been thought worthy to succeed Hooke and be associated with Davenport.

He married (1) Miss Pool, a sister of Elizabeth, who made the first purchase of land in Taunton; and (2) the widow of Governor Newman. His son Samuel was minister of Wallingford, Ct.

Rev. George Shove is said to have been born in Dorchester. He was not educated at any college. He was ordained pastor of the church in Taunton November 19, 1665 and continued here till his death, April 21, 1687. His son Seth was pastor of the church in Danbury, Ct.

Rev. Samuel Danforth was son of the Rev. Mr. Danforth of Roxbury, born December 18, 1666, and graduated at Harvard College in 1683. He was a learned and eminent minister. He became pastor of the church in Taunton in 1688 and continued here till his death, November 14, 1727, in the 61st. year of his age. In 1705 there was a great reformation among his people, an account of which may be found in Prince's Christian History, 1743, p. 108-111.

He married a daughter of Rev. James Allen of Boston. He published two or three sermons.

Rev. Thomas Clap of Scituate graduated at Harvard in 1725, was ordained in 1729 and dismissed in 1738, on account of the difficulty he found in obtaining from the people his stipulated salary. He was rich and probably the people thought he could support himself as easily as they could do it. He removed to Scituate and was Colonel of the militia, Justice of the Peace and a judge in the county court. He died May 31, 1774, in the 69th. year of his age, having for seven years been afflicted with the paralysis. He was a fleshy man and of fine personal appearance.

Rev. Josiah Crocker, son (of) Josiah Crocker of Barnstable, was born in Yarmouth and graduated at Harvard in 1738. He was ordained May 9, 1742, dismissed November 1, 1765 and resided in Taunton till he died, August 28, 1774, aged 55 years. The Quarterly Register says 52 years. He was a friend of Whitefield and invited him to preach in his pulpit, which offended many of the people. His dismissal was the result of that disaffection. He was a persuasive preacher. Few men had such power of persuasion as he had. A woman once traveled on foot all the way from Plymouth, carrying a child in her arms, such was her interest in hearing him preach. In her fatigue she encouraged herself by saying to her child, "Crocker is ahead."

Rev. Caleb Barnum, son of Thomas

Barnum of Woodbury, Ct., graduated at Nassau Hall in 1757 and was ordained pastor of the Second Church in Wrentham, now Franklin, June 4, 1760. Difficulties arose which led him to resign March 6, 1768. He was installed at Taunton February 2, 1769. When the Revolutionary War commenced he was full of zeal in the cause of independence, addressed his people on the subject, and was himself appointed to a chaplaincy. He went with the army from Boston to New York, from thence to Montreal and back to Ticonderoga. He was attacked with a bilious fever, started for home and on reaching Pittsfield was unable to go farther. He died there August 23, 1776, aged 39 years.

His wife was a daughter of Rev. Caleb Rice of Sturbridge, by whom he had eight children, the youngest of whom, Polly, married Rev. Peter Nourse of Ellsworth, Me.

He was a man of noble and impressive aspect, uniting the paternal mildness of the clergyman with the polish of a gentleman. He was a sincere Christian. His dismissal from Franklin is said to have resulted from a difficulty between two members of the church about some cranberries; he offered to pay the injured one the amount of damages claimed if he would drop the matter, and this was regarded as proof that he was in favor of him that had done wrong.

Rev. Elias Jones came from Halifax, Nova Scotia, had no documents showing his ministerial standing and could not get them on account of the war then in progress but, being invited to settle, was ordained October 22, 1777. He was a young man of prepossessing manners and had fine pulpit talents. He soon fell into errors and moral delinquences, was obliged to ask a dismissal and left the place in 1778. It is not known what became of him.

Rev. Ephraim Judson 1780-89(See Sheffield)

After the dismissal of Mr. Judson

the church withdrew from its connection with the town and connected itself with a new society.

Rev. Samuel W. Colburn was ordained August 30, 1809. He was a native of Lebanon, N.H. and graduated at Dartmouth in 1808. He was dismissed December 9, 1812 and installed joint pastor of the Third Church in Abington October 13, 1813 and dismissed January 5, 1830. After this he preached as stated supply in West Attleborough and Little Compton, R.I. He was three years at Sandwich and one in Newark, N.J. He was for some time an agent of the American Doctrinal Tract and Book Society. The tracts Nos. 9 and 16 were from his pen. He published several occasional sermons.

He married Ruth Cogswell of Boscawen, N.H., by whom he had three children, all daughters.

He died suddenly at New York, at the house of one of his daughters, December 19, 1854, aged 73 years.

Rev. Alvan Cobb, son of Timothy Cobb of Carver, graduated at Brown University in 1813. He studied theology with Rev. Otis Thompson of Rehoboth, was ordained April 19, 1815, and continued to preach till May, 1860, when a colleague was settled. He died April 2, 1861, aged 73 years.

He married (1) Mary, daughter of Hon. Elijah Ingraham of Pawtucket; (2) Miss Abiah F. Homer of Boston. He had two sons by the first wife. He published six sermons. He was a Hopkinsian Calvinist and instructed students in theology. He read and thought much and was a sound, though not an eloquent preacher.

The first Sabbath School in Bristol County was organized in his parish in 1816. He was one of the founders of the Doctrinal Tract Society, now the Congregational Board of Publication.

Taunton, Mass. Second Church

In 1792 the First Parish or the town attempted to settle Mr. John Foster without the agency of the church. It was this that induced the church to withdraw. A few members, however, being in favor of Mr. Foster, remained and were the nucleus of this church. I do not know whether they were regularly organized as a church or not.

Rev. John Foster, son of Rev. Isaac Foster of West Stafford, Ct., was not a graduate of any college. He was pastor of the church in Paxton from 1785 to 1789 and was installed at Taunton June 15, 1792. He had a remarkable voice, distinguished for its deep and solemn tones, which were sometimes almost terrific, and yet his solemnity was feigned; his general deportment was light and frivolous. His imprudent and extravagant language produced dissatisfaction and he was dismissed in 1799. He removed to Stonington, Ct. (and) engaged in teaching, preaching occasionally. He became a Universalist, went to New York and belonged to an infidel club, spent a little time in different places, and is supposed to have died in New York since 1832.

Rev. John Pipon of Boston graduated at Harvard in 1792. He had been a carpenter. He was a wit and possessed of much quaint talent. He was social, kind hearted and enjoyed exceedingly all festive occasions. He was a good scholar and once delivered the Phi Beta Kappa oration. About that time he was in Boston and saw the sign "Restorator", "which", said he, "means Rest Orator, and so I will walk in". He was never married because, he said, his "salary would not carry double." He was ordained January, 1800 and died January, 1821, aged 60 years. He died suddenly, of angina pectoris.

Taunton, Mass. Trinitarian Church Aug. 17, 1821

Rev. Chester Isham of West Hartford, Ct. graduated at Yale in 1820, studied theology at Andover, and was ordained February 18, 1824. His health failed during that year; he spent the winter at the South, returned April 19, 1825 and died the next day at Boston, in the 28th. year of his age. His wife, with her infant child, arrived in Boston before he expired. His end was peace. See a Memoir and a sermon written by him in Vol. 7 of Christian Spectator.

Taunton, Mass. Winslow Church Jan'y 12, 1837

Taunton, Mass. East Church June 16, 1853

Temple, Maine, September 19, 1805

Rev. David Smith, 1810-19(See Meredith Village)

Temple, N.H. October 2, 1771

Rev. Samuel Webster, son of

Rev. Samuel Webster of Salisbury, Mass., graduated at Harvard in 1762 and was ordained October 2, 1771. He took an active part in the Revolutionary struggle, was a member of the Committee of Safety and chaplain to one of the New Hampshire regiments. He died August 4, 1777, aged 34 years.

Rev. Noah Miles of Westminster, Mass. graduated at Dartmouth in 1780 and was ordained October 2, 1782. He continued in office till he died, November 20, 1831, aged 80 years.

He was eccentric in his modes of expression and illustration, but respected for his probity, decision and consistency.

Rev. Leonard Jewett of Hollis graduated at Dartmouth in 1810 and at Andover in 1814. He preached at Hinsdale, Mass. and Chester, N.H. and received a call from each place, but in consequence of a hemorrhage of the lungs he was obliged to relinquish preaching. He went a sea voyage to Russia, by which he was so much benefited that he began to preach as stated supply, and was finally installed pastor of this church in March, 1833; he continued in office till 1844, when his health again failed. He died in Hollis, February 16, 1862, aged 74.

He married Miss Sally, daughter of Dr. Ebenezer Rockwood of Wilton. He was a true man and did what he could.

Templeton, Mass. December 10, 1755

Rev. Daniel Pond graduated at Harvard in 1745 and was ordained the day the church was organized. He was dismissed August 2, 1759.

Rev. Ebenezer Sparhawk of Brighton graduated at Harvard in 1756

and was ordained November 18, 1761.

He continued in office till he died,

November 25, 1805, aged 68 years.

He secured and retained the confidence and affection of his people.

Rev. Charles Wellington of

Waltham graduated at Harvard in 1802

and was ordained February 25, 1807.

When there came to be a division between the orthodox and Unitarians, he went with the Unitarians. The orthodox portion of the church did not withdraw from him till 1832. He continued in office till he died,

August 3, 1861, aged 81 years.

He married (1) Anna Smith of Boston; and (2) Adelaide Russell of Templeton. He had three sons and seven daughters. He received the degree of D.D. from Harvard in 1854.

Templeton, Mass. Orthodox Church April 11, 1832

Rev. Lemuel P. Bates of South-ampton graduated at Williams College in 1818, studied theology in Princeton Theological Seminary and was pastor of the church in Whateley from 1822 to 1832.

He was installed pastor of this church January 15, 1833 and was dismissed in 1837. He was a zealous temperance lecturer but, being charged with preaching what he did not practice, went to Michigan and joined the Presbyterians, and continued in that connection till he died, at Edwardsville, Ill., March 7, 1860, in the 68th. year of his age.

He was brother of Rev. Chandler Bates and married a sister of Prof. B.B. Edwards, late of Andover Theological Seminary.

Tewksbury, Mass. November 23, 1737

Rev. Sampson Spaulding of Chelmsford

graduated at Harvard in 1732 and was ordained November 23, 1737. He continued in office till he died, December 15, 1796, aged 86 years. His ministry was as remarkable for its success as for its length.

Rev. Titus T. Barton of Granby graduated at Dartmouth in 1790 and was settled colleague with Mr. Spaulding October 11, 1792. He was dismissed May 19, 1803 and installed at Fitchburg March 11, 1804 and dismissed February 26, 1813. He removed to Tennessee and preached occasionally till 1827, when he removed with the intention of residing at Jacksonville, Ill., but was taken sick on the way, after crossing the Ohio, and died October 27 of that year, aged 62 years. He was buried on the banks of the Ohio.

Rev. Jacob Coggin of Woburn graduated at Harvard in 1803, studied theology with his pastor, Rev. Mr. Chickering, and was ordained October 22, 1806. He continued in office till he died, December 12, 1854, in the 74th. year of his age. He had a colleague in 1852. He represented the town several times in the Legislature, was an elector at the presidential election in 1852, and a member of the convention for revising the constitution in 1853. These facts show the confidence reposed in him by the people and the estimation in which he was held by the public. He educated two sons for the ministry, William S., settled at Boxford, and David, late of Westhampton.

Thetford, Vermont 1773

Rev. Clemens* Sumner preached here two or three years as stated supply. (See Keene)

Rev. Asa Burton of Stonington, Ct. graduated at Dartmouth in 1777 and was licensed to preach the Gospel in September of that year. He had read while in college Ridgley's "Body of Divinity" and Witsius' "Economy of the Covenants". Having preached at several places, he accepted a call from the people in Thetford and was ordained January 19, 1779. The people were in a low and degraded condition; he accepted the call on the ground that the worse the moral condition of the people the more room there was to do good. Perhaps there has been no place where the results of preaching have been more marked. In one year after his settlement the value of real estate was trebled.

* Given "Clement" in list of ministers.

He was a distinguished divine and received the degree of D.D. from Middlebury in 1804. He instructed many young men in theology. In 1824 he published a volume of essays on the Taste Scheme, in opposition to Emmons' Exercise Scheme. Besides this he published several sermons.

He married (1) Miss Mercy Burton, by whom he had two children; (2) Miss Polly Clifford of Thetford, by whom he had one daughter; and (3) Mrs. White of Randolph, Mass., a sister of Rev. Mr. Braman of Georgetown, Mass. He died May 1, 1836, aged nearly 84 years. A memoir of this venerable man was published in Vol. 10 of the American Quarterly Register.

Rev. Charles White was born in Randolph, Mass. His mother married for her second husband Rev. Dr. Burton and hence he spent the youthful portion of his life in Vermont. He graduated at Dartmouth in 1821. He studied at Andover Theological Seminary two years and was a colleague with Dr. Burton from 1826 to 1832. After this he was pastor at Cazenovia and Owego, N.Y. In 1841 he was appointed President of Wabash College at Crawfordsville, Indiana, and died there of apoplexy, October 29, 1861,

He married Martha Carter of Peacham, Vt. and had ten children. He received the degree of D.D. from Union College. He was an able and useful man.

Rev. Elisha G. Babcock of Milton, Mass. graduated at Amherst in 1825, at Andover in 1828, and was ordained pastor of the 2nd. Church in Wiscasset, Me. April 16, 1829. He was dismissed in 1830 and settled colleague with Mr. Burton in 1832. He continued in office till he died, September 21, 1848, aged 48 years.

Thomaston, Maine May, 1809

Rev. John Lord of Lyme, Ct. graduated at Dartmouth in 1799 and was pastor of the church in Washington, N.H. from 1803 to 1806, and of this church from July, 1809 to April, 1811. He removed to the state of New York and died at Buffalo, August 23, 1839, aged 66 years.

Thompson, Ct. January 28, 1730

This was a parish of Killing-ly till 1785.

Rev. Marston Cabot of Salem, Mass. graduated at Harvard in 1724 and was ordained February 25, 1730. He continued in office till he died of an apoplectic fit, with which he was seized in the pulpit, April 8, 1756, aged 52 years. He was sound in faith and a good preacher. Two of his sermons were printed.

He was a descendant of the celebrated Sebastian Cabot. He married Mary, daughter of Rev. Josiah Dwight of Woodstock, by whom he had thirteen children.

Rev. Noadiah Russell, son of Rev.
William Russell of Middletown, graduated at Yale in 1750 and was ordained November 9, 1757. He continued in office till he died, October 27, 1795, at Mendon, Mass., in an apoplectic fit, aged 66 years.

"He was a man of respectable talents, very strict in his attention to the order of society and a man of great punctuality". He had six children; his son Joseph was pastor of the church in Princeton, Mass.

Rev. Daniel Dow of Ashford graduated at Yale in 1793, studied theology with Dr. Goodrich of Durham and Rev. E. Pond of Ashford, and was ordained April 20, 1796. He continued in office till he died, July 19, 1849, aged 78 years. He preached a funeral sermon on the day of his death; complained on his return home of feeling unwell, threw himself upon the bed and expired in twenty minutes. He preached his semi-centennial in 1846, which was published. He published an essay on the Covenant and one against Taylor's views in theology. Few clergymen have been more esteemed in the state. He received the degree of D.D. from Williams College in 1840.

He married Miss Hannah Bolles of Woodstock.

Thorndike, Maine August 28, 1834

Thornton, N.H. April 11, 1780

Rev. Experience Estabrook of Rehoboth, Mass. graduated at Dartmouth in 1776 and was ordained August 23, 1780.
He was dismissed in 1787 and on June 6 of that year was installed first pastor of the Second Church in Plainfield. He was again dismissed May 9, 1792 and died in Thornton in 1810, aged 55 years.

Rev. Noah Worcester, son of Noah
Worcester of Hollis and brother of Rev.
Thomas Worcester of Salisbury, was not a graduate of any college. He received the degree of A.M. from Dartmouth and of D.D. from Harvard. He was ordained October 18, 1787 and dismissed in 1810.
He became a Unitarian, removed to Brighton, Mass. and devoted his time to the cause of Peace. He was a literary man. He published "Bible News" and "Letters to Trinitarians". He published "The Friend of Peace" and commenced "The Christian Disciple", since called "The Christian Examiner".

In 1820 the church dissolved its connection with the town and an ecclesiastical society was formed.

Rev. Andrew Rankin* was born in Littleton, N.H. and at the age of 21 traveled on foot from his father's house in that town to Andover, where he prosecuted his academic studies. He studied at Dartmouth and though he did not graduate, received the honorary degree of A.M. from that institution. He studied theology with Rev. Brown Emerson, D.D. of Salem, Mass. and was licensed to preach by the Andover Association September 22, 1821.

He labored in the service of the New Hampshire Missionary Society about a year and a half at Colebrook and Columbia,

He was dismissed February 4, 1829; labored at Stanstead, Canada East, six or seven months; acted as an agent for the American Temperance Society a short time; was installed pastor of the church in Salisbury July 11, 1830, where he remained a little more than two years; then engaged for three years and a half with great success in a joint agency for the New Hampshire Missionary Society and the American Home Missionary Society; then engaged in a similar agency in Vermont about six months; then for a year became agent for the New Hampshire Temperance Society and editor of a state temperance paper; was settled at South Berwick, Me. March 6, 1837; June 1, 1840 became agent of the American Tract Society for Maine and New Hampshire; June 11, 1844 was installed at Chester, Vt., but his health failing, was dismissed March 24, 1846 and for four or five years was obliged to forego all active labors. He afterwards preached in Canada East, sold in one year 8000 copies of Simmons' Scripture Manual, supplied the church in North Essex, Vt., engaged in circulating the Sabbath Hymn Book, and labored in the ministry at Danbury from September, 1860 to March, 1862. He married Miss Lois Eames of Stewartstown in 1824.

Mr. Rankin never allowed himself to rest. "Recreation" and "vacation" were words not found in his vocabulary - it was all work, work, incessant toil, by day and often by night. He died at Danbury, October 22, 1862, aged 66 years.

Rev. John Mayhew, son of Rev. Thomas Mayhew of Edgartown, did not receive a college education. He had superior natural endowments and was a man of great industry and devotedness to God. He commenced preaching when he was 21 years old and was much admired by strangers who visited the island. He had great skill in refuting errors and was accustomed to allow any one to express his doubts or difficulties or objections to any doctrine at the close of his weekly lecture. In this way he succeeded in driving all error from his parish. His salary was only ten pounds until the last two years, when it was thirty pounds. He died February 3, 1689, aged 36 years.

Rev. Josiah Torrey graduated at Harvard in 1698. The place of his nativity is not known. He was settled in 1701 and died in 1723, aged 43 years.

Rev. Nathaniel Hancock of Cambridge graduated at Harvard in 1721 and was settled in 1727. He was probably dismissed prior to 1760, but continued to reside there till he died in 1774, aged 74 years.

Rev. George Damon of Dedham graduated at Harvard in 1756 and was settled in 1760. He was dismissed in 1779, went to Vermont and was installed first pastor of the church in Woodstock in 1782, where he died in 1796, aged about 63 years.

Rev. Azarelah Morse of Falmouth graduated at Harvard in 1767. He was in Nova Scotia during the Revolution; whether he went there at that time on account of entertaining anti-revolutionary principles is not known. He was installed in 1784 and dismissed April 5, 1799. He died in Wayland in April, 1803, aged 58 years.

TO THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO
FROM THE DEAN OF THE FACULTY SUBJECT: A PROPOSAL FOR THE ESTABLISHMENT OF A
PHYSICS

The Faculty of the University of Chicago has the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of January 5, 1950, regarding the proposal for the establishment of a new Department of Physics. The Faculty has discussed this proposal at its meeting of January 10, 1950, and has decided to recommend that the proposal be accepted.

The Faculty believes that the establishment of a new Department of Physics is essential for the advancement of the University's research in this field.

Rev. Nymphas Hatch of Falmouth graduated at Harvard in 1797 and was ordained October 7, 1801. He was dismissed June 26, 1819. He removed to Leominster and cultivated a farm, preaching occasionally. He died there in 1850, aged 79 years.

Tiverton, Rhode Island August 20, 1746

Rev. Othniel Campbell of Norton, Mass. graduated at Harvard in 1728 and was ordained pastor of the church in Carver* May 13, 1733. He was dismissed September 16, 1746 and installed pastor of this church October 1 of the same year. The people of Carver were dissatisfied because "he gave way to itinerants", or was a friend of the great revival. It was thought they dealt hardly by him, for he was regarded as a conscientious and honest man.

He continued here till he died,

Rev. Nathaniel Roberts graduated at Yale College in 1732 and was probably ordained the day the church was organized. There then but 14 families in the parish. Mr. Roberts was an eccentric man, characterized by honesty and sincerity and a humor of his own. He believed fully in a personal devil, who made him and other people no little trouble. He preached about him and against him often in his own and neighboring pulpits, so often that his views were talked about and in one parish some complained. When he next preached in that parish he said at the close of his sermon he hoped no one would be offended, October 25, 1776 and dismissed November 26, 1783. He was installed at Washington in 1785, where he died in 1795, aged about 42 years.

Rev. Alexander Gillet of Granby graduated at Yale in 1770, was ordained first pastor of the church in Wolcott in 1775 and dismissed in 1790. He was installed at Torrington May 23, 1792 and continued there till his death, January 19, 1826, aged 77 years.

He was a man of a strong mind, a good classical scholar and a profound theologian. He published a small volume of six sermons on Regeneration. His sermons were written with care and his manner in the pulpit was earnest and affectionate. He had a slight impediment in his speech. Few men spent more time in their studies than he. He was a man of prayer. He bound his own books, wrote music and played on the bass viol.

He made himself master of the Hebrew language after he was 40 years old.

He married Adah Rogers; one of his sons, Timothy P. Gillet, was a minister of Branford.

Torrington, Ct. 1759

Rev. Samuel J. Mills of Kent graduated at Yale in 1764 and was ordained first pastor of this church June 29, 1769. He continued in office till he died, May 11, 1833, aged 90 years. He was the father of Rev. Samuel J. Mills, the missionary.

Mr. Mills was tall, large and well proportioned. He wore a white wig and white topped boots and made a fine appearance, especially on horseback. His mind was peculiar. He had a strong intellect, great comic powers and deep sensibility. He was a very godly man, always grave in the pulpit, and yet people often laughed at the quaint expressions he used or the apt illustrations he gave of the idea he wished to impress on their minds. He had a peculiar tact in making use of passing events, both to illustrate and adorn his subject. He was a godly man and a useful minister.

Rev. Epaphras Goodman of Hartford graduated at Dartmouth in 1816, studied theology with Prof. Fitch of New Haven and Dr. Perkins of West Hartford, and was ordained at Charleston, S.C. January 3, 1821. He was installed pastor of this church March 6, 1822 and dismissed January 10, 1836. He was installed pastor of a church in Dracut, Mass. in June, 1836 and continued about three years. He soon after removed to Chicago, Ill., where he died June 5, 1862, aged 72 years.

died in Dorchester in 1699. He graduated at Harvard in 1730 and, as he was one of the original members of the church, it is presumed he was ordained the day the church was organized. He died May 20, 1760, aged 55 years, the first native born of Framingham, Mass. who received a collegiate education.

Rev. Samuel Dix of Reading graduated at Harvard in 1758 and was ordained March 4, 1761. He had the character of "a sincere Christian, was an upright and faithful man, and shone particularly in the virtues of meekness, patience, humility and self denial." The subjects of his preaching were: the helpless condition of man in himself, the complete remedy provided for him in Christ, the necessity of regeneration and of union to Christ by faith. He brought up a large family and died November 12, 1797, in the 62nd. year of his age. His wife died a year previous. His funeral sermon, by Rev. Stephen Farrar, was published.

Rev. David Palmer of Windham, Ct. graduated at Dartmouth, studied theology with Rev. Andrew Lee, D.D. of Lisbon, Ct., and was ordained January 1, 1800. In process of time the majority of the society became opposed to the doctrines he preached. In February, 1830 an Orthodox Congregational Society was formed and the whole church, with their pastor, withdrew from the old society and attached itself to the new one. Mr. Palmer asked a dismission, which was granted February 16, 1831. He continued to reside among them and represented the town in the General Court (in) 1832. He died February 15, 1849, aged 80 years.

Rev. William M. Rogers of the Island of Alderney in the English Channel was born September 10, 1806. His father was an officer in the English navy and distinguished himself in the battle of the Nile, for which he received a medal.

William came to this country in 1816 and graduated at Harvard in 1827, studied theology at Andover, and was ordained February 16, 1831. He was dismissed July 2, 1835 and installed pastor of Franklin St. Church in Boston August 6 of the same year. He was its first pastor; it is now the Winter Street Church.

Mr. Rogers was an earnest and devoted man and directed all his energies to the work in which he was engaged. He held a high rank among the clergy of Massachusetts. He died of paralysis August 11, 1851, in the 45th. year of his age. He married Adelia, daughter of Hon. Solomon Strong of Leominster.

Townshend, Vt. 1792.

It is said that a church was organized here about the commencement of the American Revolution; that a Mr. Dudley was ordained pastor of it, June 26, 1777 and was dismissed in 1780.

There was a Nicholas Dudley that graduated at Harvard in 1767 and was ordained somewhere. There is reason to believe he is the man that was settled here, but what became of him I have not been able to ascertain.

Rev. Luke Whitcomb of Newfane, Vt. graduated at Middlebury in 1813 and was ordained August 30, 1815. In the autumn of 1820, on account of the diseased state of his lungs, he went South to spend the winter and died suddenly at Savannah, Ga., January 2, 1821, aged 32 years.

Rev. Philetus Clark 1821-24

Rev. James Kimball 1825-30(See Oakham)

Rev. Horatio N. Graves of Sunderland, Mass. graduated at Yale in 1826, studied theology at New Haven, spent a year or two as a Sabbath School agent at the West, and was installed pastor of this church February 3, 1833. He resigned on account of ill health in 1848 and resided at Hampstead, L.I. two years, when he removed to Orange, N.J., where he died October 21, 1852, aged 46 years.

He married Miss Martha Arms of Conway, (Mass.) and had five children. He was a useful and successful minister.

Tremont, Maine (See Mt. Desert)

Troy, N.H. September 14, 1815.

Rev. Ezekiel Rich graduated at Brown in 1808 and preached as an evangelist some years. He was installed pastor of this church December 20, 1815 and dismissed July 18, 1818. He resided in Troy till 1845, when he removed to Deep River, Ct., where he died of paralysis, November 22, 1854, aged 70 years. In 1843-4 he presented a Memorial to Congress, calling attention to a project for reforming the English Alphabet and Orthography, which was published (House Doc. 126) and laid upon the table.

Rev. Stephen Morse 1829-33(See Merrimac)

Rev. Jeremiah Pomeroy 1836-44

Rev. Luther Townsend graduated at Dartmouth in 1839 and at Andover in 1842, was ordained March 5, 1845, and continued in office till he died, March 2, 1862.

As a minister he was greatly beloved and admired by his people, being a good and useful preacher and a man of exemplary life and conversation. He studied medicine and like many clergymen of that day ministered to the diseases of the body as well as of the soul. He manifested great sympathy for the sick. His death was a very afflictive event to the people. John Avery, who was for many years Secretary of the Commonwealth, was his grandson.

Rev. Caleb Upham was a native of Falmouth and graduated at Harvard in 1744. He was ordained October 29, 1755. He continued in the ministry here till his death, which occurred April 9, 1786, in the 65th. year of his age.

He was a good scholar, an animated preacher, a warm friend to his country and an honest man. He had a poetical taste and left a manuscript poem, the subject of which was taken from the book of Job. He was ever aterable celebrity, he was advised by the pastors of Rutland Association to study theology and accordingly put himself under their guidance and spent some time with several of them, was licensed in September, 1823 and ordained here in March, 1824. He was installed at Fairfax in 1827, in Milton in 1832, and at Morristown July 1, 1835, where he continued till he died, September 27, 1860, aged 70 years.

He married (1) Lucy Stoddard of Pawlet, by whom he had five children; and (2) Samantha Washburn of Montpelier, by whom he had three children.

Union, Ct. December 13, 1738

Rev. Ebenezer Wyman of Woburn, Mass., born May 5, 1707, graduated at Harvard in 1731 and was ordained pastor of this church the day it was organized. He married Mary Wright of Woburn and had three daughters, Mary, Ruth and Lucy.

He died January 29, 1747, aged 38 years.
His disease was pleurisy.

Rev. Caleb Hitchcock of Springfield, Mass. graduated at Harvard in 1743. He was cousin of Rev. Gad Hitchcock of Hanson, Mass. and of Rev. Enos Hitchcock of Providence, R.I. He was ordained June 21, 1749. He was dismissed in 1758 for intemperance. He resided here some time after he was dismissed. He is said to have engaged in mercantile business and to have failed. It is not known when nor where he died. His wife is said to have been a very bad woman.

Rev. Ezra Horton of Southold, L.I. graduated at Princeton in 1754. He was a good scholar and sermonizer but a poor speaker. He was ordained June 14, 1759, was dismissed August 6, 1783, and died here June 13, 1789, aged 56 years.

graduated at Harvard in 1723, began to preach here in 1735, but was not ordained till January 4, 1738. He was dismissed in December, 1743 and went to Middleborough soon after the death of Mr. Thacher in the spring of 1744. The majority of the church were in favor of Mr. Conant, but the society refused to give him a call and did not allow him to preach in the meeting house but one half day; they invited Mr. Weld to preach to them and were supported by 16 members of the church. He was installed October 2, 1745. In 1749 the people turned against him and he was dismissed. He sued them for salary and recovered. He died while a chaplain in the army, about 1756, aged about 56 years.

Rev. Elisha Fish of Groton, Ct.

graduated at Harvard in 1750 and was ordained June 5, 1751. He died August 6, 1795, aged 76 years. His funeral sermon was preached by Dr. Emmons, in which he says,- "Being understandingly and heartily attached to the doctrines of grace, he made them the common subjects of his public discourses. He made a point of explaining the Gospel and of giving his hearers a clear, connected and extensive view of the great scheme of redemption. He possessed the rare talents of a good casuist."

"He annually visited every family in his whole congregation in order to know the state of his flock. He carried his religion into all places and into all companies. His house appeared like a Bethel, especially on the Sabbath, for which he maintained and inculcated a most sacred reverence."

He published five discourses.

He married Hannah Fobes of Westborough and had nine children; two of his sons were ministers.

Rev. Benjamin Wood of Lebanon, N.H. graduated at Dartmouth College in 1793 and was ordained June 1, 1796. He studied theology in part with his brother at Boscawen, N.H., and in part with Dr. Emmons. He was a man of great excellence; his vivacity and kindness, associated with his piety, made religion in him appear with peculiar beauty. He was a sound and discriminating theologian, a faithful, efficient and popular preacher. He died April 24, 1849, aged 76. Two of his brothers entered the ministry.

He was twice married; his first wife was a descendant of Mrs. Dustin, who was captured by the Indians.

Uxbridge, Mass. January 6, 1731

Rev. Nathan Webb of Braintree graduated at Harvard in 1725 and was ordained February 3, 1731. He continued pastor till he died, March 14, 1772, in the 67th. year of his age. The inscription upon his tombstone represents him as a learned man and a laborious minister.

He married Elizabeth Pratt, who was twice married after his decease. Her last husband was Rev. Isaac Jones of Warren.

Rev. Hezekiah Chapman of Saybrook, Ct. graduated at Yale in 1766, was ordained January 27, 1774, and dismissed on account of some peculiarity in his religious sentiments April 5, 1781. He is said to have removed to the northern part of New York and, while surveying in the wilderness, to have perished in consequence of the cold.

Rev. Josiah Spalding 1783-87(See Buckland)

Rev. Samuel Judson of Woodbury, Ct. graduated at Yale in 1790 and was ordained October 17, 1792. He continued here till his death, November 11, 1832, aged 61 years.

"He possessed a kind disposition, a warm and benevolent heart, which was deeply imbued with piety. His sentiments were evangelical and he could not betray the cause of his Master by preaching smooth things, to soothe the consciences of those who denied the excellence and perfections which the Scriptures ascribe to the Messiah of the Bible." For this his church was exiled or turned out (of) their house of worship a few months before his death. He gave $1,000. to found a scholarship for the education of pious young men.

Rev. Samuel Street, son of Rev. Nicolas Street of New Haven, graduated at Harvard in 1664 and was ordained in 1665. He continued in office till he died, January 16, 1717, aged 82 years. If his age is correctly given he was 29 when he graduated.

He married Anna Miles, by whom he had five children. His son Nicolas was the minister of East Haven.

Rev. Samuel Whittlesey of Saybrook graduated at Yale in 1705. He was many years a trustee of the college. He was ordained colleague with Mr. Street in 1710 and continued in office till he died, August 15, 1752, in the 57th. year of his age.

He married Sarah, a daughter of Rev. Nathaniel Chauncey of Hatfield, Mass., by whom he had eight children, two of whom, Samuel and Chauncey, were ministers.

He was a man of genius, of piety and of influence.

Rev. James Dana of Cambridge, Mass. graduated at Harvard in 1753 and was ordained October 11, 1758. There was a strong opposition to his settlement by the Consociation, on the ground that he was not orthodox. The Consociation withdrew fellowship from him and the church, and from those ministers that ordained him. Many pamphlets were written. This was called the "Wallingford Controversy". Mr. Dana was Arminian in theology. He received the degree of D.D. from Edinburgh.

In 1789 he was called to the First Church in New Haven and was installed April 29 of that year. He was dismissed in December, 1805, to prepare the way for the settlement of Rev. Moses Stuart. He died August 18, 1812, aged 77 years. He published near 30 sermons, and pamphlets. He was a thin, spare man, very neat in his personal appearance, an acute metaphysician. He excelled in prayer.

Rev. James Noyes, son of Rev. John Noyes of New Haven, graduated at Yale in 1782 and was ordained colleague with Dr. Dana May 4, 1785. He continued in office till he died (in) February, 1844, in the 80th. year of his age. He ceased preaching and a successor was settled in 1832.

He was a man of peace and harmony; his deportment was discreet and conciliating, his piety consistent and his prayers fervent.

Rev. Jonathan Leavitt of Suffield, Ct. graduated at Yale in 1758 and was ordained May 27, 1761. He was dismissed in May, 1765. The council said,- "We esteem him a young gentleman endowed with many desirable ministerial accomplishments." He was installed at Charlemont, Mass. in 1767 and dismissed in 1785. When Heath was set off from Charlemont his residence fell within the bounds of the new town, where he resided till he died, September 9, 1802, aged 71 years.

He married Sarah Hooker of Farmington, Ct., by whom he had eleven sons and one daughter. His wife died was ordained August 6, 1845 and dismissed December 30, 1851. He returned to his former occupation of teaching and had a school in Auburndale, Mass. He was attacked with diabetes, of which he died at Haverhill, April 10, 1862. A short time before two of his children died of diphtheria on the same day.

Walpole, Mass. 1728

Rev. Phillips Payson was not the son of Rev. Edward Payson of Rowley, as some have said, but of Samuel and Mary Payson of Dorchester, where he was born February 29, 1704. He graduated at Harvard (in) 1724. He was father of Rev. Seth Payson, D.D. of Rindge, N.H. and grandfather of the late Rev. E. Payson, D.D. of Portland. He continued at Walpole till his death, January 22, 1778, in the 74th. year of his age.

He was ordained September 16, 1730, was a useful and much respected minister. He published two Fast sermons.

Rev. William Taylor was not the son of Rev. Edward Taylor of Raleigh, as some have said, but of Edward and Mary Taylor of Northampton, where he was born February 28, 1794. He graduated at Harvard (A.B. 1814). He was father of
Rev. John Taylor, D.D., of Andover, N.H.

Taylor, D.D., of Hartford. He married and at Asheville with his family, January 20, 1795, in the first year of his age.
He was married December 19, 1795, and a year and more resided at Asheville. He published two books.

Rev. George Morey of Norton graduated at Harvard in 1776 and was ordained November 19, 1783. He continued in office till he died, July 26, 1829, aged 80 years. His successor was a Unitarian.

Walpole, Mass. Second Church Nov. 13, 1826

Waltham, Mass. July 30, 1630

This town was originally a part of Watertown. In 1697 a difficulty arose in regard to the location of a new meeting house, which was built within the bounds of what is now Waltham and occupied by the majority of the church, while the minority, that remained with the pastor in the old house, was organized anew. For the pastors of this church from 1630 to 1697, see Watertown.

Rev. Samuel Angier of Cambridge graduated at Harvard in 1673 and was pastor of the church in Rehoboth from 1679 to 1692. In consequence of ill health he removed to Cambridge and ceased from preaching until 1696, when he went to Watertown and was installed pastor of the majority that seceded and occupied the new house May 25, 1697.

He married a daughter of President Oakes and was a descendant on his mother's side of the celebrated Dr. Ames of England and Holland. He continued in office till he died, January 21, 1719, aged 65 years.

Rev. Warham Williams, son of Rev. John Williams of Deerfield, graduated at Harvard in 1719 and was ordained January 11, 1723. He continued in office till he died, June 22, 1751, aged 52 years. He studied theology with Rev. Solomon Stoddard of Northampton.

He married Abigail Leonard of Newton. He died of paralysis of which he was attacked in the pulpit.

Rev. Jacob Cushing, son of Rev. Job Cushing of Shrewsbury, graduated at Harvard in 1748 and was ordained November 22, 1752. He continued in office till he died, January 18, 1809, aged 79 years. He received the degree of D.D. from Harvard in 1807, when he was 77 years old. He published six sermons and was invited to preach on public occasions.

He married Anna, a daughter of his predecessor, and had eight children.

Waltham, Mass. Trinitarian Ch. Sept. 28, 1820

Another church was organized August 9, 1853, but in 1858 was merged in the other.

Wardsboro, Vermont 1793

Rev. James Tufts of New Braintree, Mass. graduated at Brown in 1789 and was ordained November 4, 1795. He continued in office till he died, August

Ware, Mass. May 9, 1751

Rev. Grindall Rawson, son of Pelatiah Rawson of Milton, graduated at Harvard in 1741. He was ordained the day the church was organized. Tradition represents him to have been a man of little seriousness, comeliness or refinement. Disaffection began to be manifested towards him soon after his settlement. In 1752 the parish voted to reconsider the vote by which they gave him a call and fixed his salary. He was dismissed January 19, 1754 and was settled the next year at Yarmouth, where he continued five years. While there he was told that some of his parishioners were in the habit of making him the subject of mirth at a grog shop; the next Sabbath he preached from these words: "And I was the song of the drunkard." It was a very moving sermon, so much so that many of his hearers left the house. Soon after he preached from these words: "And they being convicted out of their own consciences went out one by one." On this occasion no one ventured to retire.

He married Miss Desire Thacher of Yarmouth, by whom he had four children. He died at the house of Ebenezer Rawson in Sutton in 1795, aged 74 years. (See Hyde's History of Ware and Genealogical Register, Vol. 3, p.308.)

Rev. Ezra Thayer of Mendon graduated at Harvard in 1736 and was ordained January 10, 1759. Soon after his settlement the church adopted the Half-Way Covenant. He was a plain man, kind in his manners and possessed in a high degree the confidence and affection of his people. He died February 11, 1775, aged 43 years. The church paid the expenses of his funeral and erected a monument to mark the spot where his remains repose.

He married Judith Williams of Newton. She died in Stockbridge in 1801, aged 72.

Rev. Benjamin Judd 1785-87(See Litchfield)

Rev. Reuben Moss of Cheshire, Ct. graduated at Yale in 1787, studied theology with Dr. Trumbull, and was ordained June 21, 1792. The church was then at a low ebb and public schools had no efficient organization or support. Like a wise master builder he directed his attention to the wants of the schools and did much to promote their interest. He aroused the church to revise its articles of faith and to abolish the Half-Way Covenant. He was a man of ardent piety, of to a high degree the confidence and reservation of his family. He died 1861

mittee. He was a man of ardent piety, of refined feelings, and somewhat distinguished as a Biblical scholar. He was not an eloquent man; his sermons were plain and practical.

His constitution was not vigorous; he was for a time somewhat deranged. He died February 17, 1809, aged 50 years. He was a good man; one whose memory is still revered.

Rev. Josiah Cotton, son of Rev. John Cotton of Halifax and brother of Rev. Ward Cotton of Boylston, graduated at Yale in 1771 and was ordained November 1, 1775.

He married Rachel, daughter of Rev. Dr. Barnes of Scituate, by whom he had three children. He died (in) April, 1819, aged 71 years. He continued in office but a short time less than seven years and is supposed not to have been re-settled.

Rev. Noble Everett of Woodbury, Ct. graduated at Yale in 1775 and was ordained October 15, 1782. He continued in office till he died, December 30, 1819, aged 73 years. He was a pious and devoted man; a faithful and affectionate pastor; and a good citizen.

Warner, N.H. February 5, 1772

When the council was called to organize this church, it was rumored that they would not proceed, because there was not a sufficient number of persons giving evidence of piety to form a church. A Dutchman who had been in the place a short time sent word to the council that he would become a member, if it were necessary, though he should prefer to be excused.

Rev. William Kelly of Newbury, Mass. graduated at Harvard in 1767 and was ordained February 5, 1772. He received $100. settlement and 40 pounds salary, which was to be increased to 60 pounds.

He married Lavinia, daughter of Rev. Abner Bayley of Salem, by whom he had fourteen children.

After he had preached twenty years, other denominations drew off so many that it was difficult for the society to support him. He relinquished his salary but retained his pastoral relation to the church. The selectmen finally taxed his land and he sued them. The Supreme Court of the state then decided for the first time that the property of a settled minister was not taxable. Mr. Kelly was dismissed March 11, 1801 and died suddenly May 18, 1813, aged 69 years.

Rev. John Woods 1814-23(See Newport)

Rev. Jubilee Wellman of Gill, Mass. was not a graduate of any college; He studied theology at Bangor and was pastor of the church in Frankfort, Me. from September, 1824 to January, 1826, and was installed pastor of this church September 26, 1827. He was dismissed February 14, 1837. He was pastor at West Westminster, Vt. from March, 1838 to January, 1842. He was again installed at Lowell, Vt. in October, 1849, where he died March 16, 1855, aged 62 years. He was a good man and a useful minister.

Warren, Maine . February 27, 1828

This is the date of the organization of the present church. A Presbyterian church was organized in 1775.

Rev. John Urquhart was its pastor. It is certain he preached there from 1775 to 1783. He was a native of England, was licensed by the Presbytery of Alton, North Britain, in 1774 and came to America the same year. He afterwards preached at Topsham and Ellsworth till 1790. His character was not without reproach and it is supposed he left the country.

The Presbyterian church became extinct and a Congregational church was organized August 19, 1795.

Rev. Jonathan Huse was ordained pastor the day the church was gathered. He graduated at Dartmouth in 1788 and continued to preach here till about 1822, when he was dismissed and the church became extinct. He continued to reside in the place till he died in 1853, aged 86 years.

Warren, Mass. 1743

Rev. Isaac Jones of Warren, Ct. graduated at Yale in 1742 and was ordained January 31, 1744. He continued in office until he died (in) July, 1784, aged 67 years.

Rev. Stephen Baxter of Princeton graduated at Harvard in 1788 and was ordained March 9, 1791. He was dismissed October 17, 1804, in consequence of impaired health, but continued a citizen of the town until his death in 1846.

ordained at Abington, Ct. April 30, 1828 and dismissed in 1832; and installed at this place June 6 of the same year. In June, 1834 he was dismissed and became pastor of the Free Church in Hartford, now called the Fourth. After this he was pastor of a church that worshipped at Marlboro' Chapel in Boston; became an advocate of perfectionism. He went to Newark, N.J., became a Second Adventist, and taught that the wicked would be annihilated. He was a man of ready talent, was an effective speaker, but (had) not sufficient mental discipline to discern readily the line that divides truth from error.

He is believed to have been a good man and it is understood that he at length became more stable and died in peace at Buffalo, N.Y. in 1843, aged 39 years.

The first of these is the fact that the
 -as has been shown in 1944; and in 1945 it was found that the
 -as was 100% in 1944 and 1945.
 The second of these is the fact that
 the -as was 100% in 1944 and 1945.
 The third of these is the fact that
 the -as was 100% in 1944 and 1945.
 The fourth of these is the fact that
 the -as was 100% in 1944 and 1945.
 The fifth of these is the fact that
 the -as was 100% in 1944 and 1945.
 The sixth of these is the fact that
 the -as was 100% in 1944 and 1945.
 The seventh of these is the fact that
 the -as was 100% in 1944 and 1945.
 The eighth of these is the fact that
 the -as was 100% in 1944 and 1945.
 The ninth of these is the fact that
 the -as was 100% in 1944 and 1945.
 The tenth of these is the fact that
 the -as was 100% in 1944 and 1945.

It is believed to have been a good one and it is considered that it will be very profitable and also it will be very interesting.

Yours truly,

Rev. Sylvanus Osborn graduated at Princeton in 1754 and was ordained June 29, 1757. He was dismissed in 1770 and died May 7, 1771, aged 45 years.

He married Abigail, daughter of Stephen Noble of New Milford. She afterwards married Rev. Jeremiah Day and was the mother of President Day of Yale College.

Rev. Peter Starr of Danbury graduated at Yale in 1764 and was ordained March 18, 1772. He continued in office till he died, July 17, 1829, aged 85 years.

He married a daughter of Rev.
Philemon Robbins of Branford. He was active, studious and intelligent. His sermons were short, methodical and instructive.
He was much beloved by his people. Two of his sons received a collegiate education.

Rev. Hart Talcott of Vernon graduated at Dartmouth in 1812 and at Andover in 1816. He was ordained May 11, 1825 colleague with Mr. Starr. He continued in office till he died, March 28, 1836, aged 49 years.

Warwick, Mass. December 3, 1760

Rev. Lemuel Hedge of Hardwick graduated at Harvard in 1759 and was ordained the day the church was organized. He continued in office till he died, October 17, 1777, aged 44 years. He had some trouble among his people on account of his Tory sentiments at the commencement of the Revolutionary War. The town voted in March, 1775 to disarm him and that he should not leave town without a permit from the committee of correspondence. He was seized once by a lawless company and carried to Northampton with a view to his imprisonment, but it being done without any warrant he was set at liberty. The excitement and fatigue of that persecution produced a fever of which he died.

His ministry seems to have been blessed. He was a solemn and instructive preacher, though his theology was somewhat liberal. His son Levi was professor at Harvard and the author of Hedge's Logic.

Rev. Solomon Reed, son of Rev. S. Reed of Middleboro', graduated at Yale in 1777 and was ordained September 23, 1779. He continued in office till he died, July 31, 1812, aged 57 years.

He had an original and well cultivated mind, was an Arminian in theology, and his preaching was practical rather than doctrinal. He was social and had uncommon conversational powers. His

He was a licensed preacher of the Methodist Episcopal Church before he was 18 years old and in 1845 joined the New England Conference. In 1854 he withdrew from the Conference and in February of the last named year joined the Hampshire Association of Congregational ministers. He commenced preaching here in April, 1854 and was installed in May, 1855. He resigned December 20, 1859 in consequence of ill health, went West and so far regained his health that he accepted a call from the church in Colebrook, N.H. and was installed August 7, 1860. He continued there till he died, December 23, 1861, of

This was a parish of Woodbury till 1779 and called Judea.

Rev. Reuben Judd of Southington graduated at Yale in 1741 and was ordained the day the church was organized. David Brainerd speaks in his diary of attending this ordination. He was dismissed May 6, 1747 for some defects of character. He resided in Fairfield, where he died March 6, 1753, aged 37 years. He married his wife from Derby.

Rev. Daniel Brinsmade of Trumbull graduated at Yale in 1745 and was ordained in 1748. He continued in office till he died, April 23, 1793, aged 74 years. He married Rhoda Sherman of New Haven and had two children. He had a clear and comprehensive mind and was a pious and instructive preacher.

Rev. Noah Merwin, 1785-85 (See Torrington)

Rev. Ebenezer Porter of Cornwall graduated at Dartmouth in 1792. His father was then a resident of Tinmouth, Vt. He studied theology with Dr. Smalley of New Britain and was ordained September 6, 1796.

He married Miss Lucy Pierce Merwin, a daughter of his predecessor. He was dismissed December 19, 1811 to accept a professorship in the theological seminary at Andover, upon the duties of which he entered in April, 1812. He continued there till he died, April 8, 1834, aged 61 years. His lungs were diseased for many years, in consequence of which his labors were frequently interrupted for months in succession. He was a man of talent and of devoted piety. He published many single sermons and several volumes. He received the degree of D.D. from

Rev. Noah Wadhams of Goshen graduated at New Jersey College in 1754, was ordained in 1757 and dismissed in 1768.

Rev. Jeremiah Day of Colchester graduated at Yale in 1756, studied theology with Dr. Bellamy, but abandoned the idea of preaching. He taught school and afterwards became a farmer in Sharon.

He married Sarah Mills of Kent, sister of Samuel J. (Mills) of Torrington. The death of his wife and children determined him to enter the ministry. He was ordained pastor of this church January 31, 1770. He continued in office till he died of dropsy, September 12, 1806, in the 70th. year of his age.

He married for his second wife Lucy Wood of Danbury, and for his third Abigail (Noble) Osborn, widow of Rev. Sylvanus Osborn of Warren, by whom he had five children, one of whom, Jeremiah, became President of Yale College.

He was a man of learning and was distinguished for his modesty and good sense. He published four or five sermons.

Rev. Samuel Whittlesey of Morris graduated at Yale in 1803 and was ordained December 30, 1807. He resigned his charge in 1817 and became a teacher in the Deaf and Dumb Asylum, Hartford. He was afterwards principal of a Female Seminary in Canandaigua (N.Y.) In 1833 he commenced the publication of the Mother's Magazine in New York, where he died April 15, 1842, in the 67th. year of his age.

He was a very good man.

1623. He emigrated from England to this country with his father in 1637 and went with him to New Haven in the spring of 1638. He is said by Cotton Mather to have been bred at Harvard College, but he did not graduate at that institution. Little is known of his early history except that he had a good education acquired in part in England and perfected in this country. He taught school in Guilford from 1656 to 1660 and there married Johannah, daughter of Robert Kitchell, November 12, 1656, and taught the Colony Grammar School at New Haven from 1660 to the fall of 1661. He was the minister at Saybrook, Conn. from 1661 to 1666, where he was probably ordained. He next resided at Newark, N.J. in 1667 to 1674, and from 1674 to 1678 at Elizabethtown, N.J., where he was largely interested in lands.

In 1670 and again in 1675 he declined a call to preach in Woodbridge, N.J. In 1676 and in September, 1678, he was invited to settle as a minister in Greenwich, Conn. In October, 1678, he accepted a last call to Greenwich, Ct. and late in the fall removed from Elizabethtown, N.J. to Greenwich, where he was the first settled minister, and preached until 1689, when, upon invitation, he removed to this place, where he was also the first settled minister, and continued his ministry here until death, June 7, 1699, in the 77th. year of his age.

His children were: 1. Samuel; 2. Ruth; 3. Caleb; 4. Anne; 5. Jeremiah; and 6. Joshua, all of whom survived him. His wife died at Waterbury in 1711.

Rev. John Southmayd of Middletown graduated at Harvard in 1697 and was ordained in May, 1705. He preached here some time previous, but his settlement was delayed on account of Indian difficulties. His salary was sixty pounds, payable in provisions and wood. It was equivalent to 240 bushels of wheat. He was dismissed in 1738 and died November 14, 1755, aged 79 years. He was a rich man; filled many civil offices. He was much respected and beloved by the people.

Rev. Mark Leavenworth of Stratford graduated at Yale in 1737 and was ordained in March, 1740. They gave him 500 pounds settlement and 150 pounds salary, old tenor.

He married (1) Ruth, a granddaughter of Rev. J. Peck; and (2) Sarah Hull of Derby, and had eight children. He continued in office till he died, August 20, 1797, aged 86 years. He was chaplain in the army in 1758. He published two sermons. He was an ardent man, a New Light preacher, and was for a time cut off from the privileges of the Association for his zeal

Rev. George Phillips of England graduated at Cambridge University in 1613 and was settled at Boxted. He came to this country with Gov. Winthrop in 1630. It was his practice to read the Bible through six times each year. He could readily turn to any text and had no need of a concordance. Every time he read the Bible through he discovered many things which, it seemed to him, he had never read before.

He was better acquainted with church government and discipline than any minister in the country and did much towards settling it upon a permanent basis. His knowledge of the Scriptures made him an able disputant, though he was so humble and modest that he would never engage in any debate except by necessity.

He once had a conference with one of his parishioners on baptism and church discipline. The man asked him to write out his argument and let him have it. He did so. It was sent to England and published in connection with a reply. This circumstance led him to publish a book entitled "A Vindication of Infant Baptism", the first treatise on that subject published in New England.

His ministry was a successful one; conversions were numerous and the church prosperous. He usually spent the intermission on the Sabbath in conversation with members of his church and sometimes with the unconverted. He died suddenly of the bilious cholera, to severe attacks of which he was subject, July 1, 1644.

Rev. John Knowles was "a godly man and a prime scholar". He was educated at Cambridge University and preached at Colchester. He came to this country in 1639 and was ordained colleague with Mr. Phillips in 1640. In 1641 a messenger came from Virginia to Boston to obtain some ministers to go and preach to the people there, who were not Episcopalians. The government of Virginia at that time hardly tolerated any church but the Episcopal. In compliance with this request, Mr. Knowles and two others went to Virginia in 1642 and preached with great success. Finally a decree went forth that all who would not conform to the Church of England must depart from the country by a given day. Mr. Knowles and his brethren, together with many Virginia Puritans, came to New England. Mr. Knowles assisted Mr. Sherman till 1650, when he went to England, preached in London and elsewhere. He died April 10, 1685, aged 85.

cated at Cambridge; did not receive his degree because he was too much of a Puritan to subscribe to what was required. He came to this country in 1634 and preached his first sermon at Watertown on a thanksgiving occasion under a tree. He went to New Haven soon after and preached at Milford and elsewhere for a time with great acceptance. Mr. Hooker of Hartford, having heard him preach, when several ministers were present said to his brethren,- "We must look to ourselves and our ministry or this young divine will outdo us all."

For some reason he declined preaching entirely for a time, was chosen magistrate in the New Haven Colony and continued in that office two or three years. After the death of Mr. Phillips he returned to Watertown, resumed preaching, and was ordained pastor of the church in 1645. He was eminent for his knowledge of mathematics and astronomy. He excelled so much in his pulpit performances that he was called by the people "The second Isaiah", "The honey dropping and golden mouthed preacher".

He was born in Dedham, England, and was twice married; by his first wife he had six children and by the second twenty. He continued bright and vigorous even to old age. He preached at Sudbury one Sabbath, was taken sick with a fever, which having abated somewhat, he was carried home, when it returned and he died August 8, 1685, aged 72.

Rev. John Bailey of Lancaster, England, came to America in 1683. He had preached in Limerick, Ireland, 15 years and was there imprisoned for his non-conformity. He said to the judges before whom he was tried, - "If I had been drinking and gaming, or carousing at a tavern, as do some ministers of the established church, I presume I should not be treated as an offender. Must praying to God and preaching Christ with a company of Christians, who are peaceable subjects of the King, be a crime?" He was at length liberated on condition he would leave the country.

He preached at Watertown from October, 1686 until 1692, after which he preached in the First Church in Boston, where his services were much valued. Mather says,—"He seemed to fish with a net rather than a hook." He died December 12, 1697, aged 54 years.

Rev. Thomas Bailey, a younger brother of Rev. John Bailey, came to this country with him and was his assistant from November, 1687 till his death, January 21, 1689. He was 35 years old. His brother said,—"He died well, so sweetly as I never saw the like before."

Rev. Henry Gibbs of Boston graduated at Harvard in 1685 and began to preach here in 1690. The people were divided in regard to the location of the new house and he refused to accept a call until tranquility was restored. After the majority left and went to the new church, he accepted a call from the minority and was ordained October 6, 1697. He continued in office till he died, October 21, 1723, aged 56 years. He married Mary Greenough.

He was a man of prudence and integrity and secured the respect and confidence of both parties in the town. He published two small volumes: "The Certain Blessedness of All Those Whose Sins Are Forgiven", and "Godly Children, their Parents' Joy."

Rev. Seth Storer of Saco, Me. graduated at Harvard in 1720 and was ordained July 22, 1724. He continued in office till he died, November 27, 1774, Harvard in 1691 and was ordained here October 29, 1701. It is probable he preached here some time previous to his settlement. He died in office in December, 1724, being probably 55 years old. He died suddenly, while at Biddeford on business. His salary was 45 pounds.

Rev. Samuel Jefferds of Salem, Mass. graduated at Harvard in 1722 and was ordained December 15, 1725. He died February 1, 1752, aged 48 years.

Rev. Gideon Richardson of Sudbury, Mass. graduated at Harvard in 1749 and was ordained February 27, 1754. He died March 17, 1758, in the 28th. year of his age.

Through the grace of God he proved himself a good minister of Jesus Christ and a faithful shepherd to his flock.

ordained August 8, 1759. His ministry was long. He died April 20, 1811, aged 75 years. He received the degree of D.D. from Harvard and Dartmouth.

He wrote in defense of Infant Baptism and on the proper qualification of church members. If he was a Calvinist he was a moderate one; he contended for a freedom of will that was very much like a self determining power. He was a venerable, kind-hearted man, candid and free from bitterness. He made no display in the pulpit; his sermons were well studied and listened to with interest.

Rev. Benjamin White of Thetford, Vt. graduated at Dartmouth in 1807 and was ordained in June, 1811. His health, being naturally feeble, soon failed and after repeated relaxations from labor he died at the house of his father in Thetford

Rev. Jonathan Greenleaf of Newburyport, Mass. was not a graduate of any college. He received an honorary A.M. from Bowdoin in 1824, studied theology with Dr. Payson of Portland, and was ordained pastor of this church May 8, 1815. He was dismissed in September, 1828. He was then agent of the Seaman's Friend Society and pastor of the Mariner's Church in Boston till 1833, when he became connected with the Seaman's Society in New York. In 1841 he was installed pastor of the Wallabout Presbyterian Church in Brooklyn and continued there till he died, April 24, 1865, aged 79 years. He received the degree of D.D. about ten years before he died.

He was a man of literary taste and habits. He published about 1823 sketches of the churches in Maine, and was not a graduate of any college, but obtained a thorough education. He was ordained January 1, 1817; and was dismissed August 21, 1822 and was never re-settled in the ministry.

He was deeply interested in the intellectual and religious culture of children. He resided during part of his life in Newburyport and died there January 5, 1852, aged 65 years. He left a widow and five children. His oldest son is superintendent of the Asylum for Idiots at Albany, N.Y.

He spent much of his time in lecturing upon astronomy and published a Reference Bible and books for Bible classes. He was of medium height and rather corpulent.

Rev. John H. Dodge of Wenham graduated at Amherst in 1856 and at Andover in 1859. In November he went out to Africa (as) a missionary of the American Missionary Association and returned in March, 1861, on account of the ill health of his wife. He commenced preaching here soon after his return and continued his labors till he died suddenly of lung fever, June 18, 1863, aged 35 years. He preached here as stated supply and is not properly entitled to a place here, but in consideration of his having been a missionary and his great excellence as a minister, this sketch is inserted.

He married Elvira M. Waite of Amherst.

Wenham, Mass. October 8, 1644

The majority of this church, together with the pastor, removed to Chelmsford in 1655 and regarded themselves as a church fully organized. Those that remained considered themselves a church and there is no evidence of any reorganization.

Rev. Antipas Newman, son of Rev. Samuel Newman of Weymouth and Rehoboth, began to preach here about two years after Mr. Fisk and the major part of the church removed to Chelmsford, but he was not ordained till December 10, 1663. He was not a graduate of any college; he probably studied with his father.

He married Elizabeth, a daughter of Gov. Winthrop. He died October 15, 1672.

Rev. Joseph Gerrish of Newbury graduated at Harvard in 1669 and was ordained January 13, 1675.

He married a Miss Waldron, by whom he had four sons, one of whom, Joseph, was a minister. He died of apoplexy January 6, 1720, in the 70th.

1. The first part of the paper is devoted to a review of the literature on the topic of the effect of the environment on the development of the individual. It is found that the environment has a significant influence on the development of the individual, and that the influence is both direct and indirect. The direct influence is through the physical environment, and the indirect influence is through the social environment. The physical environment includes factors such as climate, geography, and natural resources. The social environment includes factors such as culture, religion, and social structure. The indirect influence is through the social environment, which shapes the physical environment. The social environment also shapes the individual's development through the transmission of values, norms, and customs. The individual's development is also shaped by the physical environment, which provides the resources and conditions for growth and development. this parish there was an extensive and powerful revival of religion. His labors were more than he had strength to endure; he died September 13, 1836, aged 39 years. He was a man of sound judgment, fervent piety and unimpeachable integrity.

West Bridgewater, Mass. February 18, 1864

It was a parish of Bridgewater till 1822.

Rev. James Keith, a native of Scotland, was ordained February 18, 1864. He was only 21 years old at the time of his settlement. He was educated at Aberdeen and probably studied theology with Increase Mather, for he was in Boston nearly two years prior to his ordination. His first sermon was from Jeremiah, 1:6, - "Behold I cannot speak for I am a child." He was a worthy man and a faithful shepherd over this infant and feeble flock.

He had considerable influence with the civil authorities. When King Philip's wife and son were captured it became a serious question what should be done with the son. Mr. Keith recommended mercy; his advice prevailed and the wife and son were sent probably to the Bermudas.

He died July 23, 1719, aged 76 years. His posterity are still numerous.

Rev. Daniel Perkins of Topsfield, who graduated at Harvard in 1717, was ordained October 4, 1721. He was a useful and respectable man and continued in the ministry 61 years. He died September 28, 1782, aged 86 years. His ministry was peaceful and useful.

Rev. John Reed, son of Rev. Solomon Reed of Middleborough, graduated at Yale in 1772 and was settled

It is the business of the State to protect the rights of its citizens, and to maintain the peace and order of the community. The State has a duty to see that its laws are enforced, and that its courts are free to administer justice. The State has a duty to protect its citizens from the dangers of crime and violence, and to provide for the safety and security of its people. The State has a duty to maintain the integrity of its government, and to ensure that its officials are accountable to the people. The State has a duty to promote the welfare and well-being of its citizens, and to provide for the needs of the most vulnerable members of society. The State has a duty to protect the environment, and to preserve the natural resources of the community. The State has a duty to promote the arts and sciences, and to support the development of the human mind. The State has a duty to maintain the unity and cohesion of the community, and to foster a sense of shared purpose and common values. The State has a duty to protect the rights of all citizens, and to ensure that no one is treated unfairly or unjustly. Rev. Thomas Brown 1765-97 (See Marshfield)

Rev. Caleb Bradley of Dracut,
Mass. graduated at Harvard in 1795.
He first entered Dartmouth College and continued there one year. He studied theology with Dr. Cummings of Billerica, Mass. and was ordained pastor of this church October 9, 1799.
He resigned his office in 1829, but continued to reside among his people till he died, June 2, 1861, aged 90 years. He enjoyed through all his life remarkable health.

He married (1) Sarah, a daughter of Rev. Josiah Crocker of Taunton, (Mass.); (2) the widow of Nathaniel Partridge, who was Susan Smith of Wrentham (Mass.); and (3) the widow of Capt. James Codman of Gorham. He good man and a faithful pastor, and died December 11, 1747, aged 57 years. He left no children."

His wife was Mary, a daughter of Rev. John Cotton of Newton.

Rev. Elisha Harding, a native of Medfield, who graduated at Harvard in 1745, was ordained September 13, 1749. The population of the town had so much increased that for their accommodation a second parish was organized, now North Brookfield. When it became necessary to build a new meeting house for the First Parish, the people fell into an unhappy dispute in regard to the location of it, which resulted in a division and the organization of a third parish in the south part of the town. Mr. Harding was so much discouraged that he requested a dismissal, which was granted May 8, 1755. He died in 1784.

lence; a serious preacher and a good man.

Rev. Joseph Parsons, son of Rev. Joseph Parsons of Bradford, who graduated at Harvard in 1752, was ordained November 23, 1757. His health failed after a few years and for three years previous to his death he was unable to perform much pastoral labor. He died January 17, 1771 in the 38th. year of his age.

He was a man of sprightly powers, an accurate reasoner and a sensible preacher. He was a promoter of peace and order and an example of the Christian virtues. In his sickness he was a pattern of patience, in his death he was strong in faith and full of hope.

My dear Mr. Brewster:

I have just received your letter of the 28th, and am glad to hear that you are still interested in the subject of the "Birds of the Year." I have been thinking of writing you for some time, but have been so busy that I could not find time. I have been very busy with my work, and have not had time to do much of anything else. I have been very busy with my work, and have not had time to do much of anything else. I have been very busy with my work, and have not had time to do much of anything else.

Very truly yours,

Wm. Brewster

Rev. Ephraim Ward of Newton, graduated at Harvard in 1763 and was ordained October 23, 1771. He died March 9, 1818, aged 77 years.

As a preacher he was evangelical, plain and practical. He embraced what are termed the doctrines of grace, though his sermons were more commonly on topics pertaining to practical godliness and the duties of the Christian life. He was a minister out of the pulpit, as well as in it. He was kind and social in his feelings and by his affability and Christian deportment won the affections of the people and secured their confidence. He died of paralysis. He married (1) Mary, daughter of Rev. Samuel Dexter of Dedham, and had two children; (2) Mary Coleman of Boston and had eight children.

Rev. Eliakim Phelps 1816-26

Rev. Joseph I. Foote of Watertown,

[illegible]

Ct. graduated at Union in 1821 and was ordained October 25, 1826. He was dismissed in April, 1832 and settled afterwards at Salina, N.Y., and next at Cortlandville (N.Y.) He went to Tennessee, was appointed president of a college, the trustees of which conferred upon him the degree of D.D. Before the time arrived for entering upon his duties he was thrown from a horse and killed, April 21, 1840, in the 44th. year of his age.

While at Brookfield he published several sermons and after his death his widow published a volume of his works, consisting of sermons and articles printed in periodicals, to which a biographical sketch was prefixed.

graduated at Harvard in 1735 and was ordained September 12, 1739.

He was eminent among the ministers of his day and preached the Dudleian Lecture, Election and Convention sermons. He published seven or eight sermons. He was a man of science, of good sense, and a faithful servant of the Lord Jesus. He died June 4, 1783, in the 75th. year of his age.

He married Ann, a daughter of Rev. John Cotton of Newton, and had five children.

Rev. Thaddeus Fiske of Weston graduated at Harvard in 1785, studied theology with Prof. Wigglesworth, and was ordained April 23, 1788. At the close of forty years, April 23, 1828, he voluntarily resigned his pastoral charge. He received the degree of D.D. from Columbia College in 1821.

England, came to America in 1668 and graduated at Harvard in 1671. He commenced preaching here soon after his graduation, but was not ordained till the day the church was organized.

The town during Philip's War was in a state of agitation. Mr. Taylor was a physician as well as minister. He was Calvinistic in doctrine, a man of sincere piety and exemplary behavior. He was twice married; first to Elizabeth Fitch, daughter of Rev. James Fitch of Norwich, Ct., and second to Ruth Wyllis of Hartford, Ct.; by both marriages he had 13 children. Ruth married Rev. Benjamin Colton of West Hartford; Naomi, Rev. Ebenezer Devotion of Suffield; Anne, Rev. Benjamin Lord of Norwich, Ct.; Mehitabel, Rev. William Gager of Lebanon; and Keziah, Rev. Isaac Stiles of North Haven, Ct., and was the mother of graduates of college and one, William G., was pastor of the church in Washington. Two of his grandsons are clergymen; Rev. Henry B., missionary to India; and Rev. Elisha B., late of Washington City. Mr. Ballantine died February 12, 1776, aged 60 years. He was a good man.

Rev. Noah Atwater of New Haven (Ct.) graduated at Yale in 1774, was tutor three years, and was ordained November 21, 1781. He died January 26, 1802, aged 50 years. His death was occasioned by a disease in his leg, believed to have been occasioned by bathing daily in cold spring water.

He was a man of superior talent, pious, exemplary, devoted to his work. He was remarkably systematic and kept several sermons on hand that he had never preached.

He was twice married; first to Mrs. Rachel Mather of Northampton; and second to Mrs. Anna Rockwood of Milford, Ct. He had two children; his son William graduated at Yale and was an eminent physician.

Rev. Isaac Knapp of Norfolk, Ct. graduated (at) Williams College in 1800, studied theology with Rev. Dr. Backus of Somers, Ct., and was ordained November 16, 1803. He published two sermons, was a man of great prudence and a useful pastor.

He was thrice married: (1) to Jerusha Ellsworth of Ellington, Ct.; (2) to Clarissa Hale of Goshen, Ct.; and (3) to Mrs. Dolly Nichols (Blair) of Springfield. He had five children. He died July 6, 1847, aged 73 years.

Rev. Horace B. Chapin of Benson, Vt. was not a graduate of any college. He was educated at Bangor Theological Seminary. He was pastor of the South Church in Amherst from November, 1825 to April, 1829; and was installed at West Hampton July 8, 1829 and dismissed May 1, 1837. After this he preached in Canada East for a few years and then at Lewiston Falls, Me., where he died October 28, 1840, aged 48 years.

Rev. Amos Drury of Pittsford, Vt. did not receive a collegiate education; he studied theology at Auburn and was ordained at West Rutland, Vt. June 3, 1819, the successor of Rev. Lemuel Haynes. During his ministry there seventy persons were added to the church as the fruit of a single revival. He was dismissed in April, 1829 and installed the next month at Fairhaven, Vt. He was dismissed again April 26, 1837. June 29 of the same year he was installed at West Hampton, where he died July 22, 1841, aged 48 years.

Rev. Jacob Coggin, son of Rev. Jacob Coggin of Tewksbury, graduated at Dartmouth in 1836, studied theology at Andover, and was ordained May 11, 1842 (at West Hampton), where he died of pulmonary disease April 28, 1852, in the 36th. year of his age. Few pastors have shared more largely in the affections of their people. The promises of the Bible never seemed to him so true, he said, as they did when lying upon the bed of death.

ordained October 16, 1765. He continued there till his death, March 22, 1816, aged 83 years. He went with Dr. Fobes* as a missionary to the Indians on the Susquehannah River.

He had the confidence and affection of his people during the whole of his ministry.

Rev. Cyrus Mann of Orford, N.H. graduated at Dartmouth in 1806 and was tutor in the College from 1809 to 1814. He was ordained pastor of this church February 22, 1815 and dismissed in 1841. He preached as stated supply at the Robinson Church in Plymouth, at Loudon, N.H., at North Falmouth and at Stoughton, where he died February 9, 1853, aged 73 years.

He was a sound theologian, a devout and godly man and a useful minister. A great change was produced in the religious character of this town by his faithful labors.

* In the biographical sketch of Dr. F. under North Brookfield, his name is spelled "Forbes".

Rev. Allen Pratt of East Bridgewater, Mass. graduated at Harvard in 1785, and was ordained October 6, 1790. His salary was 100 pounds, one-fourth of which was paid in money.

In 1827 a new house of worship was built in the south village, one mile from the old one, but the church voted to remain in the old house. Mr. Pratt was in favor of occupying the new house and at the close of the dedication service invited three ministers present to his house and such members of the church as wished for consultation. Those ministers organized themselves into a council, dismissed Mr. Pratt from the old church, organized the eleven members present into a church and constituted Mr. Pratt its pastor. I believe, however, they all returned to the old church soon after and Mr. Pratt

Rev. David Tappan, son of Rev. Benjamin Tappan of Manchester, graduated at Harvard in 1771 and was ordained April 18, 1774. In 1792 he was dismissed and accepted the professorship of Divinity in Harvard College. The state of religion in the College was at that time very low; the tide of opinion began to run in the channel of infidelity. By his labors the progress of profanity and dissipation was soon checked.

He was a man of great modesty and caution and did not, it is said, preach the distinguishing doctrines of the Gospel with much pungency. He was sound in doctrine and believed in the proper divinity of Christ. He had much mental vigor and activity. He published more than twenty sermons and two volumes of his writings were published after his death, one of sermons and the other lectures on Jewish Antiquities. He died after a short sickness August 27, 1803, aged 51 years. He received the degree of D.D. in 1794.

He married Hannah Sawyer of Newbury and had ten children.

Rev. Leonard Woods of Princeton graduated at Harvard in 1796, studied theology with Dr. Backus of Somers,

He was a man of great energy and ambition and his death was a great loss to the community. He was a man of great energy and ambition and his death was a great loss to the community. He was a man of great energy and ambition and his death was a great loss to the community.

Ct., and was ordained December 5, 1798. He was dismissed May 26, 1808 to become Professor of Theology in the Andover Seminary. He received the degree of D.D. from Dartmouth in 1810 and soon after from Nassau Hall.

He was actively and efficiently engaged in the great benevolent enterprises of the day. His influence as a theological teacher was wide and salutary. He did good service in the Unitarian controversy in 1821. He continued to give lectures in the Seminary till 1846, when he resigned, published his lectures in five volumes and wrote a history of the Seminary. He died August 25, 1854 of a disease of the heart, in the 81st. year of his age. President Woods of Bowdoin College is his son.

heaven." He died in 1648. He left a wife, who married John Russel, the father of Rev. John Russel, his successor, and one son, whose name was Joseph.

Rev. John Russel was born in England and graduated at Harvard in 1645. He was settled at Wethersfield probably in 1650. He soon obtained a high standing in the colony. In 1657 he was appointed by the General Court, with several others, to meet in general ecclesiastical council at Boston, with elders from other colonies, to debate such questions as might come before them. Mr. Russel became embroiled in the Hartford church controversy, from which Mather says,—"issued thunderings and lightnings and earthquakes through the colony." The church became divided and contentious. Some of the members presented a complaint against him for mismanaging a case of discipline, which resulted in his dismissal in the spring of 1659. . . . He removed to Hadley, Mass. and was "followed by all the members of his church except six". . . . The General Court resolved that the brethren who remained were the true church of Wethersfield. . . . In the autumn of 1659 Mr. Russel was ordained pastor of the church in Hadley and continued there till his death, which occurred November 10, 1692, in the 66th. year of his age.

In October, 1664, two of the judges who sentenced to death Charles Stuart, King of England, took up their abode at the house of Mr. Russel, by whom they were concealed and protected the rest of their lives. . . . They lived there unknown to the inhabitants of the town. . . . It is not known that either of them were ever seen by the people of Hadley, except once. . . . That was on Fast Day, Goff, seeing their trepidation and danger, appeared among them, took the command of the citizens, put to flight the Indians and, while they went in pursuit of their enemies, he returned to the place of his concealment without their knowing from whence he came or whither he went. By the money Mr. Russel received from his boarders he was able to live comfortably and to give two sons a public education.

Rev. Gershom Bulkeley was son of Rev. Peter Bulkeley of Concord, Mass., where he was born (in) December, 1636. and settled at Wethersfield in the autumn of that year. I suppose he was dismissed from New London for the purpose of accepting a call from Wethersfield. He accepted the call on condition that a colleague pastor should be associated with him. It does not appear that anything occurred to interrupt the harmony of the church during his ministry. He resigned in 1677 and became an eminent physician.

He married Sarah, a daughter of President Chauncey. He died December 2, 1713, aged 77 years. His son John was minister of Colchester's; they had three other sons.

Rev. Samuel Stone, son of Rev. Samuel Stone of Hartford, was not a graduate of any college. He was ordained the same day that Mr. Bulkeley was. He had previously preached at Simsbury. He resigned June 9, 1669, Mess. The courtship was short. Mr. Stoddard introduced Mr. Mix to his six daughters and left them. He told them his errand and offered himself to Mary, who asked a little time for reflection. He left the room and in a few minutes sent for an answer. She requested a longer time, but he could not wait and asked her to answer by letter, which she did in a very laconic manner, simply saying "Yes".

Rev. James Lockwood of Norwalk graduated at Yale in 1735 and was ordained February 28, 1739. He continued in office till his death, July 20, 1772, aged 59 years. Rev. Samuel Lockwood of Andover was his brother.

Mr. Lockwood was an excellent scholar; he was offered the presidency of Yale and also of Princeton College, which he declined, loving most the pastoral office.

He married Mary, a daughter of Rev. Moses Dickinson of Norwalk. He published five sermons.

Rev. John Marsh of Haverhill, Mass. graduated at Harvard in 1761 and received the degree of D.D. in 1806. It is probable he devoted some years to teaching, for he was tutor at Harvard from 1771 to 1773 and was ordained January 12, 1774. He continued in office till he died, September 13, 1821, aged 79 years. His son, Ebenezer G. Marsh, was elected Professor of Languages and Ecclesiastical History in Yale College and died before his inauguration.

Dr. Marsh was an able and faithful minister. He married Ann Grant of Windsor and had seven children.

Rev. Caleb J. Tenney of Hollis, N.H. graduated at Dartmouth in 1801 and was the valedictorian of his class. Hon. Daniel Webster was his classmate. He was settled at Newport, R.I. from 1804 to 1815. He was installed pastor of this church March 27, 1816 and resigned in consequence of a loss of his voice about 1842. He removed to Northampton, Mass. and was an agent of the American Colonization Society till his death, September 26, 1847, aged 68 years.

He was a man of great purity and simplicity. He received the degree of D.D. from Yale in 1829.

Rev. Elisha Williams, son of Rev. William Williams of Hatfield, Mass., graduated at Harvard in 1711 and was ordained October 17, 1722. In 1726 he was chosen President of Yale College, which office he filled thirteen years. He was a thorough Calvinist and "a man to be praised for his science, urbanity and cultivation of mind." He resigned the presidency of the college on account of ill health.

He was appointed Colonel of a regiment to go to Cape Breton and was sent to England as an agent of the Colony. On his

Dr. Doddridge, with whom Mr. Williams became acquainted in England, said,—"I look upon Col. Williams to be one of the best men upon earth." He married Eunice Chester and had six children.

Rev. Simon Backus of Norwich graduated at Yale in 1724 and was ordained January 25, 1727. He married Eunice, a daughter of Rev. Timothy Edwards and a sister of President Edwards.

Mr. Backus was a substantial, orthodox, pious minister that gave good satisfaction to the people. He died in 1745 at Cape Breton, whither he had gone as Chaplain in the Colonial service, aged 45 years. One of his sons entered the ministry. He had eight children.

Rev. Joshua Belden of Wethersfield graduated at Yale in 1743 and was ordained November 11, 1747. He was twice married: (1) to Anne Belden, by whom he had ten children; and (2) to Honor Whiting, by whom he had one child. "He was sound in faith, dignified, circumspect in his conversation, a conscientious, holy, praying man." He died July 23, 1813, aged 89 years, having been unable to preach for ten years.

Rev. Joab Brace of West Hartford graduated at Yale in 1804 and was ordained pastor of this church in January, 1805. At the expiration of fifty years he retired from active service and a colleague was ordained. He relinquished his salary, but retained his pastoral relation. He went to reside with his son-in-law, Dr. Todd of Pittsfield, Mass., where he died of a short illness, April 20, 1861, aged 80 years.

He was "a man of good natural talents, of a well-cultivated and well-balanced mind, of a genial and pleasant temper, and especially as an exemplary and devoted follower of Christ, an able and earnest preacher of the Word, and a wise, affectionate and faithful pastor. He was a diligent reader and student of the Bible in its original languages, as well as in his native tongue; and thus he became distinguished as one 'mighty in the Scriptures.'"

In 1623 Capt. Robert Gorges with several families, accompanied by an Episcopal minister, William Morrell, located themselves at this place, but continued not more than a year. Morrell embodied the result of his observations into a Latin poem, which he published on his return to England, with a translation. The whole may be found in the Massachusetts Historical Collections, Vol. 1, p. 125.

In 1624 another company came "who", says Prince, "were another sort of people than the former." They had the Rev. Mr. Barnard for their minister, who is said to have died there. Not much is known of him. Between 1635 and 1639 Rev. Joseph Hull, Rev. Robert Lenthall and Rev. Thomas Jenner preached there, but very little is known respecting them. It is supposed that those who came over in 1624 were an organized church. It appears, however, that it was organized anew in 1638 and the first minister was

Rev. Samuel Newman, who came to this country in 1636 and stopped for a time at Dorchester. He was born at Banbury, England in the year 1600 and graduated at Oxford about 1620. He commenced his ministry in England, but, being a Puritan, was obliged to change his place seven times and finally took refuge in America. He was settled in Weymouth in 1639.

Lenthall opposed the reorganization of the church, was a disseminator of some new doctrines and produced some discord among the people. Mr. Newman united the people and continued there till 1644, four years and a half, when he removed to Rehoboth and became pastor of that church. He took with him a majority of the church at Weymouth. He continued there till his death, which occurred July 5, 1663, aged 63 years.

He was a hard student, an animated preacher and an excellent man. He was ardently beloved by his people and his death was long and deeply lamented. The manner of his death was peculiar. He had a sort of premonition of it and rejoiced in the thought of its being near. In the afternoon of the Lord's Day, he asked the deacon to pray with him, saying he had not long to live. As soon as he had finished his prayer he said the time had come when he must leave the world. His friends saw no signs of dissolution and supposed it was a delusion of the imagination. He said, "Angels do your office" and immediately expired.

He compiled a concordance, the third, and at that time the best, in the English language. The first edition was published in London in 1643; the second, considerably improved, in 1650; and the third in 1658. In the evening he studied by the light of pine knots instead of candles. It was called Newman's Concordance. After his death a revised edition was published in England called the "Cambridge Concordance". While living he is said to have been defrauded of all the pecuniary profits of his work, and when dead he was robbed even of the name. His posterity were numerous. Two of his sons were ministers.

Rev. Thomas Thacher arrived in this country June 4, 1635, being fifteen years and one month old. He became pious when quite young, he knew not the time. He refused to enter the universities of England on account of the anti-Puritan feeling that reigned in them. On arriving in America he put himself under the instruction of Rev. Charles Chauncey, afterwards President of Harvard College, and became an eminent scholar. Mather says he wrote a Hebrew Lexicon and, being an excellent penman, he wrote out all the principal words in the Hebrew language on one sheet of paper.

He studied most, if not all, the books studied at the English universities and reviewed the whole every three or four years during his life, so that his mind was always fresh and vigorous.

He married a daughter of Rev. Ralph Partridge in 1643 and was ordained at Weymouth January 2, 1644. He was a faithful and laborious pastor and the church increased very much during his ministry.

In 1664 his wife died and he married a second in Boston, which, with a concurrence of circumstances, led him to remove to that place. He was dismissed in 1664. In 1669 a third church was organized in Boston of which he was ordained pastor February 16, 1669.

He was particularly opposed to the Quakers and if he found any of their books among his people he took possession of them. He was a man of prayer and an exemplary ministerial character. He died of a fever, October 15, 1678, in the 59th. year of his age. (See Mather's Magnalia).

Rev. Samuel Torrey came to this country with his father in 1640, being then 8 years old. He was educated at Harvard, though he left college during his senior year and did not graduate. He preached about three years in Hull and in 1656 was ordained at Weymouth, being associated with Mr. Thacher. He continued there till his death, which occurred April 21, 1707, in the 76th. year of

Rev. General Tappan was in 1810 the wife of his father in 1810, which led to years old. He was educated at Harvard, though he left college during the winter year and did not graduate. He preached about three years in 1811 and in 1812 was married at 23 years, before returning with Dr. Tappan.

He continued there till the death, which was about April 12, 1817, in the year of his age.

He preached the Election sermon three times; was chosen president of Harvard College in 1684, but declined the honor. He is represented as having possessed commanding mental powers, richly ornamented with science, and as having been a great and good man. He married a daughter of Hon. Edward Rawson.

Rev. Peter Thacher, son of Rev. Thomas Thacher mentioned above, graduated at Harvard in 1696 and was ordained November 26, 1707. He taught school in Hatfield some years previous to his ordination. He was dismissed in 1718 and January 28, 1723 was installed pastor of the New North Church in Boston, where he continued till his death, February 26, 1739, aged 61 years. The private diary of a clergyman who lived in Boston at the time says he was 63 years old and that there was on that day a severe thunder shower. In Vol. 3, page 260, note, of Massachusetts Historical Collections, it is said that--50 members of the church in Boston were dissatisfied at the invitation given to Mr. Thacher and for his leaving his flock in Weymouth.. They separated from the society and built a new house which went by the name of "Revenge". The disturbance at the time of his installation was so great that the services could not be regularly performed. The moderator asked the church if they accepted Mr. Thacher and announced him to be their minister.

From this statement it seems that he was not regularly dismissed from Weymouth at the time he received a call to the church in Boston. He preached the Election sermon in 1726.

Rev. Thomas Paine of Barnstable graduated at Harvard in 1717 and was ordained August 19, 1719. In 1734 some difficulty occurred in regard to his salary which led him to ask a dismissal; it was finally granted and he removed his family to Boston, where he died in 1757, being, it is supposed, 62 years old.

The Bureau in London were dissatisfied at the attention given to Mr. Thacker and the his position in the London... They separated from the society and built a new house which was in the name of "Paragon".
The disappearance at the time of his funeral action was so great that the services could not be religiously performed. The minister

Rev. William Smith of Charlestown graduated at Harvard in 1725 and was ordained in December, 1734. He continued pastor till he died, September 17, 1783, aged 77. He married Elizabeth, daughter of Col. John Quincy of Quincy and had three daughters, one of whom, Abigail, was the wife of President John Adams.

Rev. Jacob Norton of Abington graduated at Harvard in 1786 and was ordained October 10, 1787. He was dismissed in 1824.

Rev. Josiah Bent of Milton graduated at Harvard in 1822 and was ordained October 13, 1824. He was dismissed in 1833 and settled at Falmouth in 1835, and at Amherst in 1836. His dismissal was not owing to any disaffection of the people or love of change, but to circumstances not under his control. He died at the latter place November 19, 1839, aged 42 years.

which they worshipped together. The pastor of the North Church preached to them every third Sabbath, his place being supplied by the President of the College. After a church was organized they were supplied with preaching very much as they had previously been.

Rev. James A. Hazen of Agawam graduated at Yale in 1834 and studied theology at East Windsor, Ct. He was ordained pastor at South Wilbraham January 30, 1839 and dismissed in 1848. In October of the same year he was installed the first and only pastor this church has had. He was dismissed in 1852 and installed at Hanover Parish in Lisbon, Ct. December 1, 1852; and continued in office till he died of typhoid fever October 29, 1862, aged 49 years.

He was twice married; (1) to Fanny Rockwell of East Windsor; and (2) to Fanny Grant of Stafford, Ct. He had two children.

He was a good man and just.

Rev. Jesse Olds

Rev. Nathan Waldo of Canterbury, Ct., not a graduate of any college, but received the honorary degree of A.B. from Dartmouth in 1803. He studied theology with Dr. Emmons and was ordained February 26, 1806 and dismissed September 8, 1812. He resided after this in Orange, N.H. and died there in 1832.

He was never married. He was tall, slender, singular in his appearance and habits, ate little meat but great quantities of fruit. He was diffident, retiring and speculative.

Rev. Mr. Buell of East Hampton, L.I., and was ordained October 26, 1768. He married Hannah Beale of New Preston and had nine children. He was chaplain in the army of the Revolution. In consequence of his refusing to baptize the children of unbelievers according to the Half-Way Covenant, he resigned and was dismissed in June, 1786. He was installed at Greenwich Second Church October 18, 1786 and under his ministry that town, which had been sadly impoverished by the war, became prosperous. The church was increased in numbers and the parish became very flourishing.

He received the degree of D.D. from Yale in 1792. In consequence of increasing infirmities and stiffness of the joints he retired from active (labors) and was dismissed at his own request December 1, 1818. He died August 27, 1840, aged 93 years. He was a trustee of Yale College and was a man of great worth. He published six sermons.

Rev. Aaron Woodward graduated at Yale in 1789 and was ordained January 8, 1794. He was dismissed in 1800, removed to Wilbraham, Mass. and engaged in secular business. He died there in February, 1840, aged 80 years. He married a daughter of Rev. Mr. Trumbull of North Haven, Conn.

Rev. John J. Carle graduated at Rutgers College in 1789 and was installed here June 3, 1801. He left in 1804 without being dismissed and returned to New Jersey.

Rev. Samuel Fisher of Sunderland, Mass. graduated at Williams in 1799 and was tutor from 1801 to 1803. He studied theology with Dr. Hyde of Lee and was ordained October 31, 1804. He was dismissed July 5, 1809. He was pastor of the church in Morristown, N.J. from 1809 to 1814, then at Paterson till 1834. He resided in West Bloomfield and Albany, N.Y., and finally removed to Orange, N.J., where he died in 1857, aged 80 years.

He had six children. He received the degree of D.D. from Nassau Hall in 1827.

Rev. Sylvanus Haight was not a graduate of any college. He commenced the study of law, but abandoned it and studied theology, and was pastor of the Presbyterian Church in Galway, N.Y. for a time. He was pastor of this church from October, 1810 to August, 1831. He then spent several years in Pennsylvania. He returned to Connecticut and was pastor of the church in Bethel from 1846 to 1848, and of the church in South Norwalk from 1848 to 1851. He continued to reside in the last named place till he died, April 6, 1864, aged 88 years. He preached as stated supply at Green's Farms several months after he was 84 years old. He was a pioneer in the temperance (reform) in 1828 and was an active and faithful minister.

Winchendon, Mass. December 15, 1762

Rev. Daniel Stimpson of Weston graduated at Harvard in 1759 and was ordained the day the church was organized. His ministry was short; he died July 20, 1768.

Rev. Joseph Brown of Lexington graduated at Harvard in 1763 and was ordained March 24, 1769. He was dismissed March 18, 1800. After his dismissal he removed to Vermont, where he died in 1810.

Rev. Levi Pilsbury of Dracut graduated at Dartmouth in 1798 and was ordained June 24, 1801. He continued in office till he died, April 5, 1819, aged 38 years.

He was much respected and beloved by the people of his charge and in good repute in the neighboring churches.

Rev. Eber L. Clarke 1820-1835 (See Berlin)

Rev. Daniel O. Morton of Winthrop, Maine, graduated at Middlebury in 1812, studied theology with Dr. W. Patten of Newport, R.I. and was pastor at Shoreham, Vt. from 1814 to 1831, at Springfield, Vt. from 1832 to 1835, at Winchendon from 1836 to 1840, and at Bristol, N.H. from 1842 till he died, March 25, 1852, aged 63 years.

He was the author of the Memoir of Rev. Levi Parsons, Missionary to Palestine, a man of sincere piety and of more than ordinary talent.

Rev. Malachi Bullard of Medway graduated at Dartmouth in 1841 and, after teaching for a time, studied theology and was ordained (in) 1846. He died May 10, 1849, aged 32 years, having been sick several months.

He was a man of few words and those were spoken with discretion. He died happy. In view of his situation he said:-

" 'Tis sweet to lie passive in his hands

graduated at Yale in 1770 and was ordained November 11, 1772. He was dismissed October 13, 1789 and preached in various congregations. After many wanderings and trials, he was brought in his old age to spend the remnant of his days with one of his children a few miles distant from this place, where he died March 23, 1816, aged 72 years. He was buried in the grave-yard in this place.

Rev. Publius V. Booge or Bogue, * son of Rev. Ebenezer Booge of Burlington, graduated at Yale College in 1787. He was ordained January 26, 1791 and dismissed March 20, 1800. He was next pastor of the church in Georgia, Vt. from

* According to Dr. Dexter's Yale Biographies, the family name was Booge, but was changed to Bogue and Rev. Publius seems to have been known as Bogue.

October, 1803 to October, 1813. Most of the remaining part of his life was spent in Paris, N.Y., where he died August 3, 1836, aged 72 years. He was regarded as an able and faithful minister.

Rev. Archibald Basset of Derby graduated at Yale in 1796 and was pastor of this church from May, 1801 to August, 1806. He afterwards removed to the state of New York and was pastor many years. He died at Walton, N.Y. in 1860, aged about 85 years.

Rev. James H. Dill was born in Plymouth, Mass. February 1, 1821, graduated at Yale in 1843 and at the theological seminary in 1846. He was ordained pastor of this church August 26, 1846 and resigned in 1851. He then preached 8 years at Spencerport, N.Y. and was next pastor of the South Congregational Church in Chicago. He served for a time as chaplain in the army and died of disease on board the steamer from Louisville to Nashville, January 14, 1863, aged 42 years.

He married Catherine D. Brooks of Cheshire, Ct.

Winchester, Ct., Winsted Parish, 1790

Rev. Ezra Woodworth of Columbia appears not to have been a graduate of any college. He was ordained January 2, 1792 and dismissed in 1799.

Rev. James Beach of Winchester graduated at Williams College in 1804, studied theology with Rev. Asahel Hooker of Goshen, and was ordained January 1, 1806. He was dismissed January 6, 1842 at his own request and continued to reside in the place till he died, June 11, 1850, aged 70 years.

His sermons were full of truth and good sense. He had a discriminating mind, was kind in his feelings, and a man of eminent piety.

Rev. Thomas Clapp of Scituate, Mass. graduated at Harvard in 1722 and was ordained August 3, 1726. He was an eminent scholar; he excelled in mathematics, astronomy and natural philosophy.

In 1739 he was elected President of Yale College; the people of Windham were much opposed to his leaving them; he tore himself away under a strong conviction that it was his duty to leave. The General Assembly gave the town 310 pounds in consideration of the loss they sustained. He prepared a code of college laws written in Latin which was published in 1743 and is said to have been the first book printed in New Haven.

While he was Rector of Yale Whitefield visited New Haven, and the Rector and Tutors opposed him and his measures strongly. There sprang up during his presidency a spirited opposition to the manner in which the affairs of college were conducted; the people insisted on the appointment of visitors by the State, who would use their influence to preserve the orthodoxy of the college. He resigned in 1766 and died January 7, 1767, aged 64 years.

He married (1) Mary, a daughter of his predecessor, and had five children; and (2) Mrs. Mary (Haynes) Saltonstall.

Rev. Stephen White of Cromwell graduated at Yale in 1736 and was ordained December 24, 1740. During the Great Awakening in 1741, 57 were added to his church. The number of the members of this church was very much diminished in the latter part of his ministry by the formation of other churches.

He was an able and judicious divine. He died January 9, 1794, aged 75 years. He married Mary Dyer of Windham and had thirteen

Rev. Elijah Waterman of Bozrah graduated at Yale in 1791 and became pious after leaving college, while teaching school at Wethersfield. He was awakened while hearing a recitation in the Greek Testament; the text that attracted his attention and became an arrow in the hand of the archer was John 21:24. He studied theology with Dr. Dwight and the younger Edwards. He was ordained here October 1, 1794 and dismissed February 12, 1805. While here he was blessed with an extensive revival. He was installed at Bridgeport January 1, 1806 and continued there till he died.

He was a man of firm constitution, but being somewhat unwell he left home to visit his friends; on arriving at Springfield, Mass. he was prostrated with fever and died, after an illness of 6 days, October 11, 1825, in the 56th. year of his age. He was a good minister and his end collected. He collected the material. He was a really sincere.

Rev. William Andrews of Ellington graduated at Middlebury in 1806, studied theology with Dr. Burton of Thetford, Vt. and was ordained August 8, 1808. In April, 1813 he was dismissed and in June the same year was installed at Danbury. From this place he was dismissed in 1826 and settled at South Cornwall July 25, 1827, where he died January 1, 1838, aged 55 years.

He was a good scholar; his mind was clear, logical and strong; he had great decision of character; he was an able, faithful and successful minister. He was social and warm hearted and highly esteemed. He married Miss Sarah Parkhill of Benson, Vt., by whom he had several children. Two of his sons are professors at Marietta College, Ohio, and three, I believe, have been ordained ministers.

Rev. Cornelius B. Everest 1815-27

Rev. Richard F. Cleaveland of Norwich graduated at Yale in 1824, studied theology in part with Dr. Nevins of Baltimore and in part at Princeton and was ordained at Windham October 25, 1829. He was dismissed in October, 1832. He preached in Portsmouth, Va. a year and in Caldwell, N.J. seven years. In 1841 he was settled over a Presbyterian church in Fayetteville, N.Y. and continued till 1847, when he was appointed Secretary of the Utica Agency of Home Missions. Here he continued till failing health obliged him to retire. He afterwards was so much better that he was able to preach a short time, but died suddenly October 1, 1853, in the 50th. year of his age, from ulceration of the stomach.

He was a successful and laborious minister. He married a Miss Ann Neal of Baltimore, by whom he had

Rev. John E. Tyler 1837-51

Rev. George I. Stearns of Killingly graduated at Amherst in 1849, studied theology at the East Windsor Seminary, and was ordained (in) December, 1852. He continued in office till he died of apoplexy, March 14, 1862, aged 36 years. He had been unable to preach for more than a year. He was greatly beloved; the people continued his salary and supplied the pulpit, except that the Association gave them, each, one or two Sabbath's preaching.

He married Amelia Jones, daughter of Dr. Bela Jones.

Rev. Thomas Kidder, born at New Ipswich (N.H.) April 15, 1801, was at Bowdoin College for a time, studied at Princeton, graduated at Andover in 1834 and was ordained pastor of this church January 10, 1838. He was dismissed in April, 1842. He was afterward chaplain of the State's prison at Windsor, removed to St. Johnsbury in 1850; enlisted as a private soldier in 1863, was detailed and put into the hospital to take charge of the sick, and died of chronic diarrhoea at Bermuda Hundred November 26, 1864, aged 63 years.

He married Ann Fisher of Franklin, Mass., sister of Prof. Fisher of Yale, who was lost on a voyage to England in 1822, by whom he had two children. He received the degree of A.M. from Middlebury College in 1837.

Plymouth, England, just before the embarkation of several vessels for America bringing 840 emigrants. The vessel in which this church and its two ministers came over arrived at Hull in May, 1630 and proceeded to Dorchester, where they settled and constituted the first church in that place. The majority of the church, with Mr. Warham, removed to Windsor in September, 1635.

Rev. John Maverick, who was ordained pastor of this church at the time of its organization, did not remove to Windsor; he was opposed to the decision of the church on that subject. He was intending, however, to go, but died at Boston, February 3, 1636, aged 60 years. He was an humble man and a faithful pastor.

Rev. John Warham was a pastor in England before coming to America. He was a man of eminent piety, though at times was subject to great depression of spirits. He sometimes refused to partake of the bread and wine when he administered the sacrament to his church, through an apprehension that he was not a proper subject. He was the first minister in New England that used written sermons. He was a vigorous preacher and one of the pillars of the Connecticut Colony. He died April 1, 1670.

His first wife died in 1645. His children were all daughters, one of whom, Eunice, married Rev. E. Mather of Northampton, Mass.

Rev. Ephraim Huet or Hewitt, who had been a minister at Wraxall, England, came to America in 1639 and to this place in August of the same year. He was colleague with Mr. Warham and died September 4, 1644. He left a wife and four children and a large estate, both real and personal.

THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO
CHICAGO, ILLINOIS
JANUARY 1944
TO THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES
FROM THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO SUBJECT: A LETTER OF RECOMMENDATION FOR THE HONORARY DEGREE OF DOCTOR OF LAWS IN REPLY TO A LETTER FROM THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES DATED OCTOBER 10, 1943

THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO

Mass., grandson of Rev. Richard Mather, graduated at Harvard in 1671 and was ordained in 1682. He was emphatically a peace-maker and united the people in bonds of Christian love and labored successfully among them till he died, March 18, 1728, in the 77th. year of his age.

He married Hannah, a daughter of Gov. Treat, by whom he had three children.

He is said to have preached at Branford a few years. His son Azariah was a minister. He published in 1697 a small volume entitled "A Dead Faith Anatomized". He was for many years a trustee of Yale College.

Rev. Jonathan Marsh of Hadley, Mass. graduated at Harvard in 1705 and was ordained colleague with Mr. Mather in 1709. He continued in office till he died, September 8, 1747, aged 63 years. He was a faithful and successful pastor. His son Jonathan was the first minister of New Hartford. Mr. Marsh was a trustee of Yale College.

[illegible]

He married Margaret, daughter of Joseph Whiting of Hartford.

Rev. William Russell, son of Rev. William Russell of Middletown, graduated at Yale in 1745 and was settled in 1751. He continued in office till he died in 1774, aged about 48 years. He was tutor at Yale two years.

Rev. David S. Rowland 1776-94 (See Plainfield)

Rev. Henry A. Rowland, son of the preceding, was born in Providence and graduated at Dartmouth in 1785. He was ordained May 5, 1790 and died November 28, 1835, aged 72 years.

He married Frances, daughter of Hon. Moses Bliss of Springfield.

Windsor, Ct. Second Church 1765

Rev. Theodore Hinsdale of Berlin graduated at Yale in 1762 and was ordained in 1767. He resigned in 1795 and the church united with the First. He had a family of boys, with whom he removed to Hinsdale, Mass., where he died suddenly December 28, 1818, aged 80 years. He was a useful man and preached as he had opportunity as long as he lived. While at Windsor he preached one year the concio ad clerum at Yale. The town of Hinsdale was named for him. He was a good scholar and kept up his knowledge of classical studies till he died.

This church grew out of a disagreement in regard to the location of a meeting house. It was reunited to the parent church.

A church was organized in 1669.

In 1658 Rev. Mr. Warham began to baptize the children of parents who were admitted to the church on the Half-Way Covenant, which produced considerable dissatisfaction. It was kept quiet till they proposed giving a call to Mr. Chauncey, when 52 out of 138 withdrew and organized a church. They had one minister,

1. (20 points) The following reaction is carried out in a closed system at 25°C. Calculate the equilibrium constant for the reaction.

$\text{H}_2 + \text{I}_2 \rightleftharpoons 2\text{HI}$

Initial concentrations: $[\text{H}_2] = 0.1 \text{ M}$, $[\text{I}_2] = 0.1 \text{ M}$, $[\text{HI}] = 0 \text{ M}$

Equilibrium concentrations: $[\text{H}_2] = 0.05 \text{ M}$, $[\text{I}_2] = 0.05 \text{ M}$, $[\text{HI}] = 0.1 \text{ M}$

2. (20 points) Calculate the standard free energy change for the reaction at 25°C.

$\text{C}_2\text{H}_5\text{OH} + 3\text{O}_2 \rightarrow 2\text{CO}_2 + 3\text{H}_2\text{O}$

Standard free energy of formation: $\Delta G_f^\circ(\text{C}_2\text{H}_5\text{OH}) = -174.18 \text{ kJ/mol}$, $\Delta G_f^\circ(\text{CO}_2) = -394.36 \text{ kJ/mol}$, $\Delta G_f^\circ(\text{H}_2\text{O}) = -237.13 \text{ kJ/mol}$

3. (20 points) Calculate the standard enthalpy change for the reaction at 25°C.

$\text{C}_2\text{H}_5\text{OH} + 3\text{O}_2 \rightarrow 2\text{CO}_2 + 3\text{H}_2\text{O}$

Standard enthalpy of formation: $\Delta H_f^\circ(\text{C}_2\text{H}_5\text{OH}) = -277.69 \text{ kJ/mol}$, $\Delta H_f^\circ(\text{CO}_2) = -393.51 \text{ kJ/mol}$, $\Delta H_f^\circ(\text{H}_2\text{O}) = -285.83 \text{ kJ/mol}$

4. (20 points) Calculate the standard entropy change for the reaction at 25°C.

$\text{C}_2\text{H}_5\text{OH} + 3\text{O}_2 \rightarrow 2\text{CO}_2 + 3\text{H}_2\text{O}$

Standard entropy: $S^\circ(\text{C}_2\text{H}_5\text{OH}) = 160.7 \text{ J/mol}\cdot\text{K}$, $S^\circ(\text{CO}_2) = 213.7 \text{ J/mol}\cdot\text{K}$, $S^\circ(\text{H}_2\text{O}) = 69.9 \text{ J/mol}\cdot\text{K}$

5. (20 points) Calculate the standard Gibbs free energy change for the reaction at 25°C.

$\text{C}_2\text{H}_5\text{OH} + 3\text{O}_2 \rightarrow 2\text{CO}_2 + 3\text{H}_2\text{O}$

Standard Gibbs free energy of formation: $\Delta G_f^\circ(\text{C}_2\text{H}_5\text{OH}) = -174.18 \text{ kJ/mol}$, $\Delta G_f^\circ(\text{CO}_2) = -394.36 \text{ kJ/mol}$, $\Delta G_f^\circ(\text{H}_2\text{O}) = -237.13 \text{ kJ/mol}$

6. (20 points) Calculate the standard enthalpy change for the reaction at 25°C.

$\text{C}_2\text{H}_5\text{OH} + 3\text{O}_2 \rightarrow 2\text{CO}_2 + 3\text{H}_2\text{O}$

Rev. Benjamin Woodbridge, son of John Woodbridge of Andover, who preached here till 1680, when the General Court directed that the two churches should be united. Mr. Woodbridge preached about four years in Bristol, R.I. and afterwards in Kittery, Me. He died at Medford, Mass., January 15, 1710, aged about 63 years. He married Mary, daughter of Rev. John Ward of Haverhill.

Woburn, Mass. August 14, 1642.

Rev. Thomas Carter came to this country in 1636 and finished his theological studies probably at Dedham and Watertown, for he resided in each of those places and when called to Woburn was a member of the church at the last of the above named places. He was ordained November 22, 1642. At the time of his ordination the church had no officers, nor any members who thought themselves capable of taking a part in the public services. They were advised by some to invite the elders of some other church to perform the services in their stead, but others objected lest it should favor the doctrine of the dependency of churches. It was finally performed by members of that church, though not to the satisfaction of the ministers and magistrates that were present. After this it became more common to send for the pastors and delegates of other churches to assist in the ordination service.

Mr. Carter continued there till he died, December 1, 1684, aged 74;- some say he died September 5.

Rev. Jabez Fox is supposed to have been the son of Thomas Fox of Cambridge. He graduated at Harvard (in) 1665 and was ordained November 5, 1679. He died of small pox at Boston on the Lord's day, February 28, 1703, aged 56 years. His remains were interred at Woburn. He was descended, according to family tradition, in the ordinary service.

Mr. Carter's business hours are 11:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. on weekdays and 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. on Saturdays. He is not available on Sundays and public holidays.

from John Fox, the martyrologist, and was succeeded by his son John.

Rev. John Fox, son of the preceding, graduated at Harvard in 1698 and was ordained November 17, 1703. He preached his own ordination sermon. While young he was frequently unable to preach by reason of sickness. The last fifteen years of his life he was entirely blind. During his blindness he preached occasionally and catechised the children, who assembled at his house for that purpose.

He published two sermons on the Great Earthquake from I Sam., 14:15. He married Mary, a daughter of Edward Tyng, by whom he had seven children. He died December 12, 1756, aged 77 years, or 79 according to Mass. Historical Collections.

Rev. Edward Jackson of Newton graduated at Harvard in 1719 and was ordained August 1, 1729. He was a worthy minister and much esteemed by his people, but his ministry was cut short by troubles growing out of the depreciation of the currency, an unhappy difference with the senior pastor, and contentions among the people. He died September 24, 1754, aged 55 years. He was never married.

Rev. Josiah Sherman, son of William Sherman of Newton, graduated at Nassau Hall in 1754, studied theology with Dr. Bellamy of Bethlehem, Ct., and was ordained January 28, 1756, nearly a year before the death of Mr. Fox. He was dismissed April 11, 1775. He was settled at Goshen, Ct. from 1778 to 1790, removed his family from there to Sheffield, Mass., was invited to settle in Woodbridge, Ct., but died soon after he removed there, November 24, 1790, aged 61 years.

He was an eloquent preacher and his resignation at Woburn was accepted with great reluctance. He published several sermons, one addressed to infidels, occasioned by the publication of

Dr. John A. Smith, who was at the time of his death, died at the age of 70, after a long illness, and was buried in the cemetery.
He was married to Mary A. Smith, who was born in 1810, and died in 1890, leaving three children, two sons and one daughter.

It was an official procedure and the procedure in London was accepted with great enthusiasm. It provided everybody with a good example, and added to increase, contributed to the realization of Ethan Allen's Theology. Mr. Sherman was brother of Hon. Roger Sherman of revolutionary memory and father of Hon. Roger Minott Sherman.

The Rev. Mr. Sherman married a daughter of Hon. James Minott of Concord.

Rev. Samuel Sargeant of Worcester graduated at Dartmouth in 1783 and was ordained March 14, 1785, the church having been destitute of a pastor ten years. He was dismissed May 27, 1799 and removed to Chester, Vt., but was never re-settled. He labored some time as a missionary in the state of New York, supplied the pulpit in Chester at different times and made himself useful. He died at Chester, June 2, 1818, aged 63 years.

Rev. Joseph Chickering, son of Rev. Jabez Chickering of Dedham, graduated at Harvard in 1799, studied theology with Prof. Tappan of Harvard College, and was ordained at Woburn March 28, 1804. He was dismissed April 11, 1821 and was pastor at Philipston from 1822 to July 16, 1835, when he was dismissed at his own request in consequence of ill health. He died January 27, 1844, aged 64 years.

Rev. Joseph Bennet of Framingham graduated at Harvard in 1818, studied theology at Andover and was ordained January 1, 1822. He suffered much from a diseased state of the digestive organs and at times was subject to extreme mental depression, accompanied by a painful sense of his sinfulness. They became at length paroxysms of insanity, in one of which, November 19, 1847, he cut his own throat.

He was a good man, a noble, generous, whole souled man, and a useful pastor. The style of his preaching was various and peculiar; his sermons were full of thought, his expressions sometimes quaint, but always impressive. Joseph Bennet of East Cambridge is his son. Mr. Bennet died in the 50th. year of his age.

The question was, which should stay and which should go. They were invited to preach, Walker in the morning and Mr. Reed in the afternoon. Mr. Walker's text was,- "What went ye out into the wilderness to see? a reed shaken with the wind?" Mr. Reed's text was,- "Your adversary the devil walketh about, etc.", and his instruction was that it was best to keep him walking.

Mr. Walker preached for a time alternately in Stratford and Woodbury. He was ordained May 5, 1670 and in June, 1678, removed to Woodbury. He continued in office till he died, January 20, 1700, aged 63 years. He was a man of solid attainments and a pungent and powerful preacher.

He was twice married; (1) to Miss Prudence Wells and (2) to Mary Sherman. He had eleven children. He was an able, earnest and experimental preacher. He studied law and medicine.

Rev. Noah Benedict of Danbury graduated at Nassau Hall in 1757 and was ordained October 22, 1760. He had a well balanced mind, was very discreet and exemplary. He once had a favorite horse which was much admired by his parishioners. To the surprise of every (one), he sold his horse. When asked the reason for so doing, he said "he was growing unruly, he had broke into his pulpit and he thought it was time to part with him". He was zealous to keep out of the way of temptation. He continued in office till

Mr. Lewis E. Wilson 1845-1915

He was born in New Haven, Conn., in 1845 and was admitted to the bar in 1871. He was distinguished by his services in the of troubles that had arisen. He attended public worship at Pomfret, but his old parishioners succeeded in prevailing upon the Pomfret church to refuse him a place at their communion table. The difficulty was settled and Mr. Dwight was installed pastor of the church in Dedham, Mass. June 4, 1735 and dismissed May 10, 1743. He returned to Connecticut and settled in Thompson, where he died in 1748, aged 78 years. He was a man of learning and sustained a good character. He used many quaint expressions and was not remarkable for wisdom.

He married Mary Partridge of Hartford, by whom he had ten children. Anna was the wife of Rev. James Wetmore of North Haven and Mary of Rev. Marston Cabot of Thompson.

"He was a worthy and amiable character." He married Frances _____ of Bristol and had six children.

Rev. Abel Stiles of Windsor, brother of Rev. Isaac of North Haven, graduated at Yale in 1733, was tutor one year, and was ordained pastor of this church July 27, 1737. The people accused him of devoting too much of his time to secular business and of being too much attached to the Saybrook Platform. In 1760 a part of the church withdrew and commenced the North Church, of which he was pastor and continued in office till he died, July 25, 1783, aged 74 years. He married Alethea Robinson of Lebanon and had four children.

highly esteemed. In 1778 it is said he was called home on account of sickness in his family and, having over-stayed his furlough, he found on his return that another had been appointed in his place, which so affected him that he committed suicide, August 14, 1778, and died at the age of 38. He received the degree of D.D. from New Jersey College in 1777. He published two sermons, was twice married and had five children.

Rev. Eliphalet Lyman of Lebanon graduated at Yale in 1776, studied theology with his brother, Dr. Lyman of Hatfield, Mass., and was ordained September 2, 1779; and was dismissed December 15, 1824, but continued to reside here till he died, February 2, 1836, aged 82 years. He was sound in faith, a man of peace and a good preacher. He married Hannah Huntington of Norwich and had ten children. He pub-

Rev. Andrew Gardner, who was ordained in the autumn of 1719, and dismissed October 31, 1722, was born in Brookline and graduated at Harvard in 1712. His ministry was neither pleasant nor prosperous. His salary was of course small and the amount voted was not paid, which led him to find fault with the people; and they, on the other hand, complained that he was culpably deficient in the performance of his ministerial duties. They said he was more eager in the pursuit of deer than in seeking to do them good. Some would not, so great was their disaffection, attend public worship. An ecclesiastical council was called in September, 1721, but effected nothing. The General Court in 1722 recommended that the Council meet again and he was dismissed. He then sued them for

He was re-settled at Lunenburg May 15, 1728 and dismissed February 7, 1732. The reasons assigned for his dismissal were,- that he was not a man of that grave and sober demeanor which the people thought essential to the sacredness of his office. He was apt to indulge in a levity of manner on the Sabbath that was not in keeping with the solemnity of the day. He had a fondness for hunting and it is said that wild turkeys and other game bore testimony, even on the Sabbath, to his skill as a marksman. During his whole ministry at Lunenburg he received from the people only $175., besides the use of land. He supported himself by farming and keeping school. He remained there a few years and removed to New Hampshire, near Connecticut River, where he died in 1793, which was 81 years after his graduation. He must have been about 100 years old.

Rev. Isaac Burr, a native of Hartford, Ct. who graduated at Yale College in 1717, was ordained second pastor of the church in Worcester February 10, 1725. The people were happily united in him, and his devotion to their interests won their affections and provoked their liberality. In 1732 they gave him 20 pounds to replenish his library, and as the value of money depreciated they increased his salary from 80 pounds to 140 pounds and in 1741 voted to make it equal to what it was worth in money at the time of his settlement.

Nothing occurred to interrupt the harmony that existed between them until Whitfield visited Worcester. After that the preaching of Mr. Burr was too quiet and conservative. Some of the neighboring ministers became very zealous and occasionally preached to his people. Some of them feared their brother Burr was a stranger to the power of true godliness. He resisted the current that set against him for a time, but was finally dismissed in March, 1745. He removed to Windsor, Ct., where he died in 1752, aged about 55 years.

He married Mary Elliot of Windsor and had eight children.

Rev. Thaddeus Maccarty, a native of Boston who graduated at Harvard in 1739, was installed pastor of the church June 10, 1747. He preached his own installation sermon. His salary was 80 pounds, though for many years 20 pounds was added as a gratuity. He had been settled in Kingston in 1742, and dismissed in 1745 in consequence of having invited Mr. Whitfield to preach to the people. He was a good man and a faithful minister.

During the War of the Revolution he was an advocate for the freedom of the colonies and during that period received but a slender support from his people. His health began to fail and he departed this life July 10, 1784, aged 63 years.

He was a tall, slender man, with a sharp black eye; the tones of his voice were rather powerful than melodious. He was a kind and amiable man and an exemplary Christian. He published eight occasional sermons. He married Mary Gatcomb of Boston and had fifteen children.

Rev. Samuel Austin of New Haven, Ct. graduated at Yale in 1784 and was ordained at Fair Haven November 9, 1786. The society being small, it was judged expedient to unite it again with Dr. Edwards' church from which it separated. Mr. Austin received a call immediately from the First Church in Worcester and was installed September 30, 1790. Here he labored with great energy and success until July, 1815, when he was called to

Worcester, Vermont February, 1824

Rev. John P. Foster of Holden, Mass. graduated at Amherst in 1834 and at Andover in 1838. He was ordained pastor of this church November 14, 1839 and dismissed in 1841. He went to Wisconsin as a home missionary, returned soon and was installed at Sweden, Me. in 1848. His (health) failed and he left in March, and died at Oxford, Mass. April 27, 1851, aged 44 years. He was a good man.

Worthington, Mass. April 1, 1771

Rev. Jonathan Huntington of Windham, Ct. was ordained June 26, 1771. He did not receive a college education; he was a medical practitioner for a time, but after his conversion thought it his duty to preach the Gospel. He was a mild and amiable man; his piety was deep-toned and his Christian character irreproachable. During the last year of his life there was an unusual attention to religion among the people. He died March 11, 1781, aged 48 years.

Mr. Huntington refused to be supported by money raised by a tax. He chose to live of the Gospel, or that the people should give him a voluntary support. He magnanimously relinquished what was due from those who would not pay unless compelled by the law to do so.

Rev. Josiah Spalding, 1788-94 (See Buckland.

Rev. Jonathan L. Pomeroy of Greenfield, Ct. was not a graduate of any college. He received his classical and theological education under the tuition of Rev. President Dwight, then pastor of the church in his native town. Mr. Pomeroy was a good scholar; he could read Latin and Greek with much fluency and was as familiar with French as with his mother tongue. He received from Yale College the degree of A.M.

He was ordained November 26, 1794. Some of the people protested against his settlement, but they became reconciled.

He was dismissed in 1832 at his own request and removed to Feeding Hills, a parish in West Springfield, lived mostly in retirement and died there June 4, 1836, aged 67 years. He published a volume of sermons, which are creditable to his head and heart. He had no children and possessed considerable property, which he bequeathed to benevolent objects. He was a man of quick perception, had a retentive memory, was social and hospitable.

Wrentham, Mass. April 13, 1692.

Rev. Samuel Mann was a native of Cambridge and graduated at Harvard in 1665. He was ordained the day the church was organized. In consequence of Indian hostilities, the settlement was abandoned from March, 1673 to August, 1680.* Mr. Mann was about to settle at Milton, but finally returned with his flock and continued their pastor till he died, May 22, 1719, aged 71 years. He married Esther Ware of Wrentham and had eleven children.

Mr. Mann preached to the few families in the settlement before the church was organized in 1692.

THE BUREAU OF THE
THE FOLLOWING REPORTS OF THE SPECIAL AGENTS OF THE BUREAU
FOR THE YEAR 1900:

Rev. Henry Messenger of Boston graduated at Harvard in 1717, was ordained December 5, 1719, and continued here till he died, March 30, 1750, aged 55 years. He gave his testimony in favor of the great revival in the days of Whitfield, which is proof that he was of the number of those who labored to promote evangelical piety. His church was blessed with a revival of religion. He(married) in 1720 Esther Cheevers*of Cambridge and had twelve children.

Rev. Joseph Bean of Cambridge, graduated at Harvard in 1748 and was ordained November 24, 1750. He continued pastor of the church till he died, December 12, 1784, in the 67th. year of his age.

He was established in business in Cambridge, was converted under the preaching of Whitfield and Tennant, left his business, entered college and graduated at the age of 30 years. He was a good man.

He married Elizabeth, a daughter of his predecessor, and had eight children.

Rev. David Avery, 1786-94 (See Bennington)

Rev. Elisha Fisk of Holliston

graduated at Brown in 1795. His parents removed to Upton while he was a child. He was ordained June 12, 1799, being the 49th. candidate. He died January 7, 1851, in the 82nd. year of his age. He was twice married and had seven children. Three of his daughters married ministers: Mary was the wife of Rev. George Fisher of Harvard, Charlotte B. the wife of Rev. A. A. Phelps, and Harriet J. of Rev. Erasmus D. Moore.

He published ten or twelve sermons. He was a man of great prudence and discretion, sound in doctrine and a very useful minister.

Wrentham, Mass. North Ch. June 6, 1798

Rev. John Cleaveland, son of Rev.

John Cleaveland of Essex, was not a graduate of any college. He fitted for college, but his father, not being able to defray the expense of his education, gave him as much instruction as he could. He was ordained at Stoneham October 19, 1785 and dismissed October 23, 1794. He was installed at North Wrentham June 6, 1798, where he died February 1, 1815, aged 65 years.

He was grave and sedate and possessed the happy talent of turning conversation to something useful. He was distinguished for his punctuality and method. His sermons were solid rather than brilliant. He was twice married but had no children.

Rev. John Field of Hardwick graduated at Williams College in 1807 and was ordained May 1, 1816. He was dismissed June 15, 1819. He preached as stated supply in many places, went South and died in Mississippi in 1828, aged 48 years.

came to New England September 21, 1638 and probably was settled at Yarmouth the next year. The early records of this church, if any were kept, are not known to exist and consequently little is known of its early history. It is supposed that Mr. Matthews left this place in 1642 and preached at Hull till 1649. At this latter date the General Court disapproved of his preaching any longer at Hull on account of some expressions he used in his sermons, which were deemed erroneous, and others that were considered "weak, inconvenient and unsafe".

In 1650 we find him preaching at Malden and receiving a call to become their pastor. Some of the neighboring churches refused to give their assent to his settlement. The church, however, proceeded to ordain him and the General Court imposed "a handsome fine" on all the leading members of the church, and Hutchinson says that Matthews was also fined 10 pounds. The members of the church afterwards acknowledged their fault and Matthews left. He finally returned to England, where he died in 1683.

Rev. John Miller came from England and for a time assisted Mr. Rogers of Rowley. In 1641 he was invited to preach at Woburn, but Mr. Rogers was not willing to release him. In 1642 he was selected to go on the mission to Virginia with Phillips and Thompson, but "declined on account of bodily weakness". During that year he went to Yarmouth and continued there a number of years. Johnson speaks of him as there in 1651 and called him a godly and able Gospel preacher. When he left Yarmouth it is not known. He died at Groton June 12, 1663.

Rev. Thomas Thornton of England fled from persecution and was settled here about 1662. He continued in office about thirty years and removed to Boston, where he spent the remainder of his life.

Rev. John Cotton, son of Rev. John

Cotton of Plymouth, graduated at Harvard in 1681 and was settled in 1693. . He resigned his office April 26, 1705 on account of weakness of body and mind, and died February 11, 1706, aged 45 years. . He is said to have preached at Exeter, N.H. prior to his settlement here.

He married Sarah Hubbard of Ipswich.

Rev. Daniel Greenleaf graduated at Harvard in 1699 and was settled in 1708. His situation being rendered unpleasant through the influence of a disaffected parishioner, he resigned and removed to Boston. His wife removed, with her thirteen children, two years before and opened an apothecary's shop. She was from Cambridge and had some knowledge of medicine, and often prescribed for the sick. . He removed to Boston and died I know not in what year, at the age of 82 years. . He was bedridden two years previous to his death in consequence of a fall; he suffered extremely but was a pattern of patience.

Rev. Thomas Smith of Barnstable graduated at Harvard in 1720, was settled in 1729, left his people in 1754 in consequence of inadequate support, and was settled at Pembroke from 1754 till he died, July 7, 1788, aged 83 years,- or, as another authority says, 93 years. The last is probably correct.

Rev. Grindall Rawson 1755-60 (See Ware)

Rev. Joseph Green 1762-68 (See Marshfield)

Rev. Timothy Alden of Bridgewater graduated at Harvard in 1762 and was ordained December 13, 1769. He continued in the pastoral office till he died, November 13, 1828, aged 92 years.

Yarmouth, Mass. West Church Sept. 30, 1840

Yarmouth, Maine November 17, 1730

Rev. Ammi R. Cutter of West Cambridge, Mass., graduated at Harvard in 1725 and was ordained the day the church was organized. He was dismissed in November, 1735, on account of his Arminianism. He devoted himself to the practice of medicine and died in the government service at Louisburg in 1746, aged about 42 years.

Rev. Nicholas Loring of Hull, Mass., graduated at Harvard in 1732, and was ordained November 17, 1736. He continued in office till he died, August, 1763, aged 53 years. His ministry was quite successful.

He married Mary Richmond of Tiverton, R.I.

Rev. Edward Brooks of Medford, Mass., graduated at Harvard in 1757 and was ordained July 4, 1764. He was dismissed in March, 1769 by reason of dissatisfaction on account of his laxity in doctrine. He returned to Medford, where he died in March, 1781, aged 48 years. He married Abigail, daughter of Rev. John Brown of Haverhill, and was father of the late Peter C. Brooks of Boston.

Rev. Tristram Gilman, son of Rev. Nicholas Gilman of Durham, N.H., graduated at Harvard in 1757, was ordained December 8, 1769, and died April 1, 1809, aged 74 years. He was an excellent man and a faithful pastor. He published one sermon.

Rev. Francis Brown of Chester, N.H. graduated at Dartmouth in 1805 and was ordained in January, 1810. He was dismissed in 1815 to become President of Dartmouth College, which office he filled till he died, July 27, 1820, aged 36 years.

He married a daughter of his predecessor, Rev. Mr. Gilman, and his son is now a professor in the same college. He received the degree of D.D. from Williams and Hamilton colleges in 1819. His talents and learning, his amiableness and piety, eminently qualified him for the station he filled and rendered him useful and popular.

THE IRISH TARIFF, 1845.

THE IRISH TARIFF, 1845, was a measure of great importance, and one which had a profound effect on the Irish people. It was a measure which was designed to protect the Irish people from the competition of foreign goods, and to give them a fair chance of competing with the goods of other countries. It was a measure which was designed to give the Irish people a fair chance of competing with the goods of other countries.

He published several sermons.

Rev. Joseph W. Curtis of Windsor, Vt. graduated at Dartmouth in 1811, at Andover in 1815, and was ordained July 5, 1816. He was subject to great nervous depression, which made it necessary for him to be dismissed in November, 1817. He was afterwards useful as a missionary and was pastor of a church in Ohio for a time. He finally returned to Hadley, Mass., the native place of his wife, and carried on a farm till he died, March 16, 1857, in the 67th. year of his age.

He married Mrs. Lois E. Coolidge. He was a good man and much beloved by all that knew him.

Rev. Samuel Woodbury of Acworth, N.H. graduated at Dartmouth in 1811 and was ordained November 5, 1817. His ministry was short; he died July 6, 1819 at Groton, Mass., while journeying for his health, aged about 29 years.

Rev. Asa Cummings of Andover, Mass. graduated at Harvard in 1817, at Andover in 1820, and was ordained February 14, 1821. He was dismissed in 1829 and became the editor of the Christian Mirror at Portland. He was a learned, excellent and venerable man.

He published the life of Dr. Payson. He died at sea, June 6, 1856, on his way from Aspinwall to New York, aged 60 years.

York, Maine 1673

Rev. Shubael Dummer of Newbury, (Mass.) graduated at Harvard in 1656 and was ordained in 1673. It is not known whether he spent the time that intervened between his graduation and ordination here or elsewhere. He married Miss Rishworth, who is supposed to have been a daughter of the celebrated Edward Rishworth.

Tradition says he was a serious and godly man. February 25, 1692 the settlement was attacked by the Indians and he was shot dead at his own door while in the act of mounting his horse. He was in the 56th. year of his age. His wife was carried into captivity and it is said never returned.

Rev. Samuel Moody of Rowley, Mass. graduated at Harvard in 1697 and was ordained in December, 1700. He married Hannah, daughter of John Sewall of Newbury, and had two children; a son, and a daughter who became the wife of Rev. Joseph Emerson of Malden.

He was somewhat eccentric; he refused to receive a stipulated salary and chose to live upon the voluntary offerings of the people. He was a man of ardent piety and continued in office till he died, November 13, 1747, aged 72 years. He ruled his people.

Rev. Isaac Lyman of Northampton, Mass. graduated at Yale in 1747; was ordained December 20, 1749. He died March 12, 1810, aged 85 years. His widow, Ruth, died in 1824, aged 93 years. He

York, Me. - Second Church 1732

Rev. Joseph Moody, son of Rev. Samuel Moody of First Church, graduated at Harvard in 1718 and was ordained the day the church was organized.

In the early part of his life he accidentally killed a young man for whom he had great affection, in consequence of which he was gloomy and desponding all his life. For many years after leaving college he was Town Clerk and Register of Deeds. He preached nine years and resigned. He died March 20, 1753, aged 53 years. During the last few years of his life he wore a handkerchief over his face in public and was
